Crops of all kinds are very far advanced throughout England; hay making had commenced in various parts. In Ireland the harvest promises good.

Business generally in England was improving, and there appears to be a steady though quiet demand visible in the manufacturing districts, and in the produce markets, and the supply of money continues ample.

Parliament has expelled a bankrupt member, and it is well known that there are many ofhave not appeared in the London Gazette.

Mr. W. Russell, the London Times Indian correspondent, is suffering from sun-stroke, received on the road to Bareilly.

The denials in Parliament of the hostile intentions of France towards this country have reassured the public mind on a topic about which it had been most sensitive.

It can achieve victories in the contest in which it will have to engage, only by proving that physical knowledge and mechanical skill applied to the arts of production are more than a match for the most persevering efforts of unscientific industry. These are some of his lordship's lessons, and they compel us to remember the opium traffic, and the moralities of over-trading to every new market.

The Mormons have submitted without a battle; human life has been spared, and the authority of the President is again established over the wretched fanatics who had been deluded into this stupid rebellion. All this is certainly a matter of congratulation and rejoicing. Bigham Young and his followers are said to be preparing for an exodus from their Great Salt Lake City, to some place beyond the jurisdiction of the United States, and in this also we heartily rejoice. The farther off these people go, the better will it be for the good order of the American people.
