242

THE CHRISTIAN MESSENGER.

gree availeth not, thy parentage shall not and, if it had not been that a Baptist minister are the principal congregations in which these A GEM .- The Hon. Rufus Choate who stand thee in the last great day, nor even was one of the School Commissioners it would manifestations have occurred, but all classes died in this city a short time since was highly now, for the wrath of God abideth on thee have been carried into effect.

because thou believest not on Jesus, whom your hearts, my dear brethren and sisters, myself, but my father and mother did," to do with it-if thou believest." Religion talking about your parents' being in the to qualify his denunciations, and apply them ferred to. covenant ; the question is, Art thou there ? only to " that fragment " which he says " has Dost thou believe? for if thou dost not, then we cannot admit thee to this privilege for the last three years." of the Church-baptism into the death of Christ.

[Conclusion next week.]

Presbyterian Ascendency.

THE Witness takes exception to an article in our columns a week or two ago, under the gave it last week," he disclaims any desire to persecute.

The Editor ventures to assert that "Presbyterians were never very clever at persecu- represented to the ignorant and those who had publisher by another, the following letter was ting," and that "if Presbyterians have been no means of obtaining correct information, as written and sent on Saturday last with an guilty of persecution in past times" he is not being, equally with the Catholics, the enemies accompanying note to the following effect : responsible for their conduct. We would ad- of the Bible. Is not this, we would ask, the vise him to save himself any trouble with re- very essence of persecution,-first prefer a false gard to proving that he is any better than his charge against the parties whose destruction ancestors. He is not the first who has said, is sought, and then call upon those in power "If we had been in the days of our fathers, to prosecute them for blasphemy. It is well we would not have been partakers with them known that Baptists adhere to the Bible as in the blood of the prophets." It is quite their text-book on Church ordinances, governus that he is perfectly lamb-like in disposition; and liberties to his keeping, and that it is at all. election in this province that he-the editor of the paper which he would fain have the representative of the whole Presbyterian body in the Province-" took an active part in the late contest and" he adds "people are pleased to say that our labours were not in vain." In reference to the charges against some of their ministers becoming political partizans, he says "Allusion is made to the conduct of some Presbyterian ministers during the late contest. We are now pretty well acquainted with the manner in which all of them conducted themselves on that critical and trying occasion, and we do not hesitate to say that most of them did their duty and no more !" If therefore he repudiates the political conduct of his forefathers when their zeal led them to acts that he cannot defend, he is quite willing to endorse and justify those, who, in the same spirit, have, as he calls it, done " their duty." He winds up his article by saying that "No intelligent 'clearheaded' man can believe for a moment that Presbyterians have a design to seize the Province and make the Baptists "feel their iron hell" (as the compositor has made it read) he meant to have said "heel." "The Editor of the Messenger must have been in a strange state of mind when he could commit so wild a dream to paper"! If we had time to look over the Witness of the past twelve months we might call his attention to numerous illustrations of the fact that a spirit but little in advance of his repudiated fathers has been apparent. Such language as "Baptist dupes," "ignorant block-headed bigots," "anarchical ana-bapcharge against us of aiding Popery, because we have refused to lend ourselves to ery " wolf" at his dictation, and to repeat after him the "Romo-Johnston" and "No Popery"

been in close political alliance with Popery

other denomination of Protestants in efforts Baptist body. to obtain a Revision of the English Scriptures, Feeling confident that the public would not unnecessary surely for our friend to separate ment and doctrine, more than any other body himself from his predecessors, and persuade in Christendom, and that they have less reve- "A Bunyan Baptist," in the Morning Chronicle rence for Tradition, and can therefore more of Thursday, has made use of my name in a very that we may, without danger, entrust our lives successfully oppose Romanism. The Editor unmanly and improper manner, and has preof the Witness, too, knows that Baptists have ferred false and malicious charges against me, only the naughty Catholics we need suspect connived at the errors, and imitated the conduct of Catholics far less than he and his as-He acknowledges with regard to the late sociates have always done, up to the present hour, and that whilst he has been preaching up a political crusade against them, Baptists have successfully sought to induce them to read the Bible and bring them from the errors of Popery to embrace the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. For the past 1800 years the cry of persecutors has been "This is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people." it was in those of the Apostles. If we may judge of what might be expected under other circumstances by these specimens of what has already appeared from our neighbour, we may conclude that the interests of the people generally, and the Baptists in particular, would be just as safe in their own hands as in those of our contemporary and his proteges PRESBYTERIAN UNION.—The Presbyterian Witness is no better pleased with our "Presbyterian Union" than he is with our "Presbyterian Ascendency." He has the bad taste to call our remarks on the former subject, "a very ill-natured article," and thinks we are union of the Presbyterian bodies in this provof either one or the other of his assertions, and we now tell him and our readers generally that we have not the slightest objection to a union, but we do object to the bitter, per-Kirk, the smallest of those bodies he proposes to unite, for the purpose of compelling them to submit to such union. We only quoted tists," &c. &c., together with the ridiculous his own words, and if there was any "illnature" in our article, it was in our quotations from his writings. Amid "wars and rumours of wars" the cries, are a pretty good index of what he work of human passions, stimulated by the would do if he had the power. Ecclesiastical lust of worldly power, it is refreshing to turn tion he really sustains to the body he professes zeal may assume different forms to suit the to a far different scene presented by the state altered spirit of the times, and may take dif- of religious feeling in several of the northern ferent measures at one time than at another to towns in Ireland. A powerful and extensive accomplish the same results. It matters but excitement has for several weeks past been in little whether a man is deprived of his means progress there, which from its fruits may with of living, or his life is taken from him, if it confidence be pronounced a work of Divine of society and all denominations are parta- esteemed in Boston and throughout the Union. We have no intention of charging all who kers of the blessings, and ministers of every The following paragraph from his funeral orahe hath sent. Put your hands then to hold the Presbyterian name with a desire to Protestant profession are deeply interested tion pronounced by his pastor Dr. Nehemiah use such coercion, but our contemporary has in helping forward and guiding the good Adams, is worth preservation not less for its and se rch yourselves whether you believe shown pretty clearly that he must not claim work. May the like work of heavenly grace, chaste and beautiful style than as the portrait for yourselves personally. Suppose this exemption from such a disposition whilst he which has been so largely experienced of late of a fine specimen of cultivation :--cunuch had said : "Well, I do not believe and those he refers to as having "done their on this continent, be repeated and multiplied, duty" use such means as, they do to injure not only in Ireland but throughout the nations Philip would have said, "That has nothing Baptists and misrepresent their sentiments. of the older world, and may the churches and Our " clear-headed " cotemporary has, how- people of God in every community be instant is a personal matter; the ordinances of ever, lately discovered that there are some in prayer for still more copious effusions of Christ must be received by man on his own Baptists who sustain the political party he the Divine Spirit. We have given some inpersonal standing. It is of no use your serves, and has therefore been more careful teresting extracts connected with the facts re-

Our article on Presbyterian Ascendency We will, however, as we are not party prolific writer in the Morning Chronicle. politicians, and have no party objects to serve, Instead of allowing the editor of that paper except the party comprising the whole Bap- to offer any strictures which appeared necestist denomination, on both sides of politics, sary, and discuss the matter in a manly manjust remind him of one species of misrepre- ner, free from personality, this writer has assentation which has perhaps aroused more sumed the anonymous, "A Bunyan Baptist," prejudice in the minds of Presbyterians against and has come out with a tirade of abuse of Mr. Baptists than almost any other. The charge SELDEN, repeating his name no less than four against the Catholics of reprobating the Bible times, for fear of there being any mistake. has also been asserted publicly of the Bap- In this letter he mixes up the most bitter in jurisprudence. He made you feel that you tists, and, because many in that body patron-political feeling, which we do not care to ize the American Bible Union, Baptists have touch. By distorting the facts we stated, he moment how much wiser your information been accused of uniting with the Catholics to manufactures the most malicious charges aabove caption, and whilst the Editor thinks deprive Protestants of their Bible. Because gainst us, and tries hard to weaken the influ-"it deserves more than the passing notice he Baptists have been more prominent than any ence of the Messenger as the exponent of the

they, to serve a political purpose, have been endorse such a course of treatment of one

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle.

Sin,-Have the goodness to inform me thi morning if you can oblige me by inserting the enclosed in your next.

Yours respectfully, July 29, '59. S. SELDEN.

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle, SIR.-The writer of a communication sign personally. Have the goodness, therefore, to insert these brief remarks in your next number. If the writer of that letter were a true-hearted Baptist he would not try to stab a man in the dark, nor would he endeavour to shirk the respansibility of what he favours the public with, in the shape of letters, essays, &c., &c. If he were, indeed, a Baptist of either the "Bunyan" or "Roger Williams" stamp he would not use such means as he has done in that letter to exalt himself at my expense, but would discuss the question there raised, on its own merits, free from personalities, without attempting, Nerolike, to charge upon me what he has himself It has been no less effectual in our day than done,-" institute an internecine warfare among Protestants,"-and, further, if he is a good Baptist, and not a wolf in sheep's clothing, of Austria, seems to have confounded all preafter discovering that he has done me an injury and disgraced himself, he will be willing, per-

"How gentle he was in his intercourse with you. He gave you a chair as no one else would do it. He persuaded you at his table to receive something from him in a way that nothing so gross as language can describe. He treated every man as though he was a gentleman, and he treated every gentleman as he would a lady. His playfulness was so wise that you would as much admire as smile. One word would often drop from him of such comprehensive, picturesque meaning and beauty, that the whole seems to have provoked the ire of at least one company would sit in smiles and think about as before a picture, till he skilfully turned the conversation. Then again, how inquiring, how docile, he seemed as he sat and listened to you. His intense desire to know everything about a subject led him to ask simple questions, to express a childlike wonder, to press you further, all which was the musing mood of his own mind, though it seemed like simplicity. I have seen him as earnest in having one tell him how the tenor, alto and soprano stood, relatively, on the score, and why, as though it were a point were teaching him ; and you forgot for the made him than it had ever made you."

> The following brief but pithy view of Louis Napoleon is from the editorial postscript of the London Baptist Magazine (July).

"The Austrian occupation of Italy appears to have received its death-blow. What will succeed it? Humanly speaking, everything depends on that unsolved riddle-Louis Napoleon. He is a man whose designs no one has yet succeeded in penetrating, and whose character no one has read. His mother summed up his most prominent features in three words when she said, "Depend upon it my son, Louis, will restore our dynasty. He has the three qualities, AUDACITY, TENACITY, and TACITURNITY." These he has conspicuously displayed-an audacity which shrinks from nothing, a tenacity which relinquishes nothing, a taciturnity which sonally, to make reparation. I desire, Sir, that a spirit of honor and fair ness, instead of " ruffianism," should characterize the press of Halifax, so that the editorial fraternity may be respected and depended upon. at home and abroad. This cannot be, while the First Napoleon, when he won great bat-of common courtesy. When such improvement takes place an instructor of the public need not be ashamed to acknowledge his own property or his writings.

AUGUST 3,

1 am willing. Sir, to take the responsibility of my actions and writings, and am desirous of apprehensions for the permanence of a peace "not well pleased with the prospect of a doing what is right and just, before God and concluded under such circumstances as the man, and, if I have accusers, to meet them face ince." He fails, however, to prove the truth to face on fair ground ; but when one is personally attacked by an assassin, or his property is taken possession of by an overwhelming force, he is powerless, and must seek redress in some other manner than by engaging in such an unequal contest. John Bunyan was a Baptist, of reckless carnage, which, for a score of years, secuting spirit he has manifested towards the but no coward ; he had a host of enemies, but deluged the so-called civilized world in blood. this man to establish his claim to the name he has assumed. The name of Bunyan's persecutors would more befit him.

And now, Sir, before I waste any of my request which I think you cannot, honorably, refuse. My friends will then know what relato know so much about, and which he appears so anxious to make use of for the purpose of furthering his own designs.

I am, Sir, yours very respectfully, Halifax, July 29th, 1859. S. SELDEN.

Instead of the above appearing in the has the same effect. This latter was done in grace, such as has never yet been experienced Chronicle yesterday, or any notice being taken Little has yet been done in the British former times, but the former is now inflicted to so large an extent, on that side of the Aton both Baptists and members of Presby- lantic. It is no doubt, by all accounts, ac- letter of about two columns, which contains all been re-elected with little opposition. 001 01 HORI terian families, in consequence of their exer- companied, in many cases, by a very consider- evidence that the writer had seen the above, Mr. Cobden declines the seat offered him different man Frist cising their own judgment on the subject of able amount of excited bodily impulse, which the burden of which is that Mr. Selden, four in the Cabinet, on the ground that he cannot .novertheless. christian Baptism. As a sample, we may our calmer judgment might wish were absent, times again repeated, had dared to say that support the grants of money required for sus-9 T 11 * 360 mention that only a few days ago a respectable but, as already observed, the results appear 25 Presbyterians had. been sent to Parlia- taining the present warlike preparations. The phone, griteriana teacher of a public school, in a county adjoin- to be the fruits of the Spirit-repentence to- ment instead of 15. Some other things in navy is being largely increased, and upwards Edd upon liewi ing to Halifax. received from a Free Church wards God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. this letter, require attention which we are of twelve millions sterling granted by Parlia-minister, a letter threatening expalsion form The Presbyterian Churches, which are by far unable to give to-day. We must reserve them ment to enlarge and strengthen the national ) were trail tion a al suc the school for attending Baptist preaching, the most numerous in that part of Ireland, for another occasion. defences, especially on the coasts. titu di estquiod "He that believeth and is septimed shall be laxed in one solitary point. What has split, but to say, " Scatic back path they seeion. If they believed and in one solitary point. They believe got is say in the believed and in the believed and in the believe got.

reveals nothing. Herein lies the secret of the success he has attained, and of the terror he has inspired. We are not without fear that the military ardour of the French nation, roused by their successes in Italy, will seek a quarrel with us, in the hope of "avenging Waterloo." Send peace in our time ; because there is none other that fighteth for us but only Thou, O Lord.""

We understand that a Series of Sermons to Young Men will be preached at the request of the Halifax Young Men's Christian Association, on Sabbath evenings. The first of the course will be delivered in Grafton Street Chapel, by the Rev. Wm. Sprague, on Sabbath, the seventh inst., at the usual hour.

The sudden conclusion of peace between the Emperor of the French and the Emperor vious speculations on the chances or consequences of the war. and leaves us in the utmost doubt as to what may be the next move in the great political drama, that is now performing in Europe.

It reminds one so much of similar feats of one member permits anonymous writers to treat tles and made sudden and solemn treaties and another so ungentlemanly and with such want then almost before they were published to the world, set them at naught, and marched on to other conquests, and other treaties, that those who remember the career of that remarkable man, cannot but entertain serious present. We firmly trust that these apprehensions may be unfounded, but Louis Napoleon would seem to be developing traits of character which may shortly set all Europe in a blaze, and lead to a repetition of the scenes was never afraid to meet them. I challenge By the treaty, the Kingdom of Sardinia is to be increased by the addition of Lombardy, but unfortunately, reduced as Sardinia now is to become a mere vassal of France, this is but adding valuable time in replying to the low personali- power to the French Dictator. The confedeties of this pseudo "Bunyan Baptist," I must ration of the States of Italy, of which the ask you to let me know his proper name-a Pope is to be Honorary President, appears to be as yet but a mere name, for nothing has transpired beyond the fact itself, to shew that it will at all add to the liberties of Italy. The probability is the reverse. All these suppositions may, and we sincerely hope they will, turn out groundless, but contrasting past and present times, they will most naturally obtrude themselves upon our thoughts.