THE CHRISTIAN MESSENGER.

learn that the Academy has been engaged, at an expense of $150 a night, until June and say " You shall translate thus or so whether next. It is a noble building and can be put to no more noble use. We hope measures will also be taken to continue the own judgment, not yours." But to others services in Chatham street. If the moun- would pertain the work of publishing. I always tain will not come to Mahomet let Mahomet go to the mountain, and if, through pride or prejudice or ignorance, men will not attend church, take the services of the church and the influence of the church, where it can scarcely fail to reach them.

10

filled last Sabbath evening by a much more orderly audience than the one which greeted Dr. Hiscox, on the first night of his appearance. His sermon was from the text, Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift.' The boxes contained a well dressed and respectable company of ladies and gentlemen. The second and third tiers were occupied by young men who paid strict attention to the discourse, and the pit was crowded with dirty boys, from six to twelve years ago, who required the aid of policemen with rattans to keep them in order, though there was a marked improvement in their behaviour. A daily paper says:

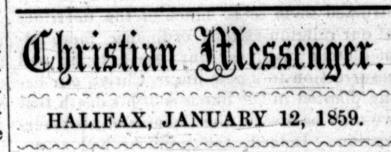

'The meeting was, on the whole, very correct, excepting the pit, where the constant effort to preserve order, and the occasional taking of a boy by the ear, did not promote devotional feelings, at least among the youthful portion of the congregation. The concluding hymn was well sung, most of the audience joining. When the benediction had been pronounced the boys rushed for the door, as they had been accustomed to do when the curtain falls on the last act.'

For the Christian Messenger.

Bible Translation by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

and say, " You shall translate thus or so, whether you deem it correct or not." I always said, "] will do my best, but I must do it according to my agreed to work for the M. Mission in translating, my work in any respect, they were welcome to do it, provided always that they did so upon their own responsibility. The translators employed by the Bible Union enter into just such an agreement. The work as it comes from the Translators' hands, The theatre in Chatham street was well is to be "altered and amended" by his employers, and published under their supervision, and upon their responsibility, not upon his. The translator is, of course, at libe ty to translate the word baptizo, by " immersion or dip," if he deems this correct. The "Committee of Final Revision may, if they think proper, put in the good old word "baptize." I, for one, hope they will That, however, is their business, not mine. believe that to be the best word in English, and lations, but as no other is recognized, and as the price of Bibles. baptisa-wahdega-corresponding to it, to be the a resolution, adopted by the Committee on best word in Micmac. Providentially, I am not the Pope of Rome, otherwise I would be bound to be infallibly right, and not mistake myself, and to make every body else so. As the case is, I am at liberty to be mistaken, and to confess that I may be; and can allow others to be in error, without molestation. Happy is the man that condemneth not himself in the thing which he alloweth.

Yours truly, S. T. RAND.

Halifax, Jan. 8, 1959.

that exist among the great families of civil- 1839, page 121,-"Errors are to be found ized man, although peace to a great extent in it which the humblest scholar could not prevails in almost every part of the earth, yet only point out, but correct. Errors, too, it is seldom that many months transpire with- there are, which obscure the sense in some out the prevalence of threatening rumours of important instances." The terms to which wars and commotions. So it is at the present allusion is here made, the translators or reconjuncture in Continental Europe. France, visors of the Authorized Version had been Austria, and Sardinia are apparently in pur- compelled, by the Royal Mandate of a semisuit of individual interests which cannot be popish Sovereign, to transfer from the Greek Translation adopted by the British and Foreign obtained without serious collisions, in which and not translate into English. The small French army quartered in Rome, common now-a-days of saying, "all the dif-

to the glad tidings. We are gratified to protested against any interference of that kind. by those conversant with that controversy to without any Greek words transferred, and he from those who had till then been its friends, published by them. we are not desirous of again reviving. A all that we have said on the subject.

July 1, 1833, requires translators to render certain Greek terms, "either according to the principle adopted by the translators of the Authorized Version by a word derived from the original, or by such terms as may be considered unobjectional by other denominations," we think it is fair to conclude that that is held generally by them as the rule by which knows that translations which they had previously pronounced "the very best versions they could obtain," the Committee have refused to continue publishing, because the translators would not alter certain terms and substitute for them words having the ambiguity of a foreign tongue, and by that means make them conform, in that respect, to the Authorized Version-a version of which the Committee Amid the vast and complicated relations themselves said, in their Annual Report for

[JANUARY 12,

We have no desire, however, to call up any full review would, however, fully substantiate other feelings towards the British and Foreign Bible Society, than those of active co-opera-Mr. Rand endeavours to give the B. and F. tion. We gladly act with that body in the with the understanding that if they chose to alter B. Society a character to which, we believe, matter of Home operations, in common with they have never laid claim-"publishing the our brethren in Great Britain and other parts very best versions they can obtain in other of the world, as we find that facilities are languages." He is quite aware, we suppose, afforded by that society for extending the that if they have not used the very words he circulation of God's Word in the English quotes from our editorial of last week in their language which cannot be obtained in con-Constitution, the very first article of that nection with any other body, but in doing so Constitution states that-"the only copies (of we do not endorse their foreign policy, any the Scriptures) in the languages of the United more than we do the efforts they employed to Kingdom to be circulated by the Society, shall keep up the monopoly in Bible Printing, be the Authorized Version." This, of course, against the successful labours of Dr. Campdoes not, in so many words, commit the Society bell and others, to whom belong the credit of to that version as a standard for other trans- destroying it, and thereby greatly reducing

To the Editor of the Christian Messenger.

Mr. Editor,-The Presbyterian Witness is striving hard to make political capital out of the Protestant Alliance (so called.) If the Baptists and Roman Catholics should enter upon a controversy about baptism, and the Catholics should maintain that infants are fit and proper subjects for baptism and church membership, held generally by them as the rule by which and sprinkling the only mode of baptism ; to judge other translations. Mr. R. probably Which side do you think the Witness would take? Just ask him. Baptists would like to know whose ally he and his party would be. Yours truly,

JONAS GRUFF.

In reference to the above we can only say, that we cannot imagine that there would be any difference of opinion between our amiable contemporary and Roman Catholics, except that the latter would at once own that no authority could be obtained for the practice of infant baptism from the Bible, but that they derived their authority wholly from the decrees of the church, whilst our neighbour. not quite prepared to admit, like his Roman Catholic Pedobaptist brethren, that baptism washes away the stains of sin, or that putting of salt in the mouth, or making the sign of the cross on the forehead, breast, &c., of the child, or touching the nostrils and ears with spittle, are necessary for its due performance, would, nevertheless, try in vain to make it appear that the unconscious one was by baptism put into some sort of connection with the church. What that connection is, however, has not yet been satisfactorily determined, there being on that subject so many different opinions. In the case of the Jewish boy Mortara, who was taken from his parents recently by the Roman Catholic authorities, which circumstance has caused so much disturbance in Europe, we see the legitimate fruits of infant sprinkling and membership. In one case the religious liberty of the child is interfered with by his being, often unwillingly, made a member of the church, and in the other by both parent and child being deprived of that liberty, notwithstanding that emperors and kings remonstrate against it. This we look upon as one of the bitter fruits of leaving the plain dictates of God's Word. All who sanction this in religious matters must not be surprised when they see such consequences follow from their own practices. The bitterness of the Protestant Alliance and the wish openly professed by many of its members to deprive Catholics of civil rights, we look upon as simply the result of a spirit of partizanship and rivalry amongst different sects of Pedobaptists. It is intimated by some of our contemporaries that an Alliance of Catholics is shortly to be formed, to oppose the operations of the Protestant Alliance, whether for a religious or political object we are not informed,probably both, like its opponent. Strife will doubtless, be the result of such combinations. Our Protestantism we conceive worth but little, if it consists merely in uniting with certain turbulent spirits in a crusade against Romanists. If a war of extermination is initiated on one side, we must not be surprised if the challenge is taken up and pursued by the other. Our Protestantism, we hope, has a higher object and a broader basis. We desire the conversion, and not the destruction, of both Catholics and Protestants, and demand for them an open Bible, and an We agree with Mr. Rand that the word appeal to it for authority in Christian doctrines our Ge with t proved stance rived a from 1 not ha would with seriou to ove - Th Presh had

185

that o

E. M

remai

have

burde

churc

a con

able

with

have

must

its produced and the cals

N

Chu

duri

pear

num

catio

(Bis

pape mitt

reco

the

no

per

scri

to t

E

the

Ch

bis

Go

Le

Ex

lat

tio

pla

44 V

DEAR BROTHER,

I beg permission to point out what appears to me to be a slight inaccuracy in your remarks upon the "Report of the Micmae Mission" in your last number. It has reference to the principle of Bible Society. You say : "After all the scrupe- all Europe would probably be involved. lous adherence of the British and Foreign Bible Society to the English Version, as their standard, is becoming a source of serious trouble, not ferent denominations," whereas he should they shew by their adopting this translation, that although the bodies they represent, object to a revision for the English reader, yet they, nevertheless, by sanctioning this version of the Psalms for the Indians, renounce that principle, or at concessions and sacrifices he is compelled to As regards the opinion Mr. R. expresses least make an exception to it in this instance.,'

What do you mean by "the bodies they represent"? The B. and F. B. S. is, I always supposed, one body, but composed of individuals belonging to a number of " bodies," one of which is the "Baptist body." There are plenty of Baptists in England and these Provinces who patronize it.

But let that pass. Your remarks are calculated to make the impression that the " English version ' is adopted by that Society as the standard of all their translations into Foreign Tongues, to such an extent that the new versions must in all things conform to it. This is certainly a mistake. 1 have not the documents at hand, but they can easily be obtained. The " principle " was from the first,-that is, from the time the Society withdrew its aid from the Baptist versions, modified by a qualifying clause, to this effect,-" at least so far as that all the different denominations united in this Society can make use of them." The Greek word Baptizo covered, I apprehend, about all the ground. At all events, I have always taken this view of the case. I have been engaged for the last seven years in preparing translations for the B. and F. B. S., and I never heard of any such sweeping principle as that which you appear to me to lay down for them. In preparing my translations I have used a great many different versions, in several languages, the most of which were published by the B. and F. B. S., and not one of them conforms in all things to the English try. version. I cannot perceive how the "principle" of objecting to a Revision of the English Scriptures " is either renounced " or an " exception" made to it, by publishing the very best versions they can obtain in other languages. Pray what relation is there between the two ideas! The money paid into the Funds of the B. and F. B. S., is paid, not for the purpose of revising the English Scriptures, nor for revising any Scriptures, nor for making translations at all. Their "Principle" is, to publish, not to prepare. Not one penny from them could we obtain towards preparing our manuscripts. That, they told us, is " Missionary" work. When the manuscript is all ready for the press, and passed over to them, they examine it. If they approve of the work, they publish it. Of course there was no means of examining the Micmae translation except that only to the Papal Government, with whom have said what the Committee themselves they are on the worst of terms, but to the said, "the other denominations," (viz., besides French Emperor himself, on account of the Baptists.)

make to the Ultramontane party of the that "the word baptizo covers about all the Romish Priesthood. There can be no doubt ground," we may reply that the smallest inthat the withdrawal of the French troops from terference with a translator's independence Rome, unless immediately replaced by an is the same in principle as if he were bound equal Austrian force, would be the signal for in the most abject slavery-the ancient Chrisa revolt against the Papal authority.

most intense discontent reigns as regards the altars. Many of the noble army of Christian present state of things. This we believe to martyrs in Roman Catholic fires might have be true both as to religious and political mat- saved their lives by merely kissing the cruci-Indeed it is confidently asserted that a fix. Would Mr. Rand like to hear it said of ters. large and increasing party among the lower them that a little salt or kissing the crucifix classes of the population throughout Italy, "covered about all the ground ?" are forming small religious societies, in which The versions mentioned by Mr. R., as in his the Scriptures are freely read and commented possession, published by the B. and F. B. Soon, and the legitimate consequences are be- ciety, and yet differing from the Authorized ginning, it is said, to be developed in the Version, were probably published before the coversion of many to a sound Scriptural faith. obnoxious rule was laid down, and at a time tion in the Established Church in England, is were received as readily as those by Pedobeginning to take place, in the efforts to bring baptists; or if not, we do not conceive that the Gospel home to the working classes, as that circumstance is any evidence against the well as to the poorer and more destitute orders English Version being a standard, just because of society. The Bishop of London has placed they do not coincide with it in every partihimself at the head of this movement, and cular. his example is being followed by many of the We are glad to find that Mr. Rand has most pious and gifted of the Episcopal minis- had so much freedom accorded to him in pre-are being made by almost every evangelical turned the Mic-mac translation, and declined body in England, to attempt a supply, as far publishing it because he had refused to modipossible, of the vast field now opened in In- fy any of the "nearly a hundred passages," in dia, China, and Japan to the preaching of the which "his version varied" "from the Author-Gospel. The demand for such labour is far ized English Version," notwithstanding they beyond what any one can hope speedily to had previously accepted similar translations supply. It is, however, a sign of the times by him, they would then have treated him as which calls for devout gratitude to God, and they did the Baptists in India, and would

The Rev. Mr. Rand's Letter.

We are not disposed to enter fully into the

Mr. Rand has fallen into the mistake so tians might have saved themselves from mar-Throughout Italy it is evident that the tyrdom by casting a little salt upon the pagan

An extensive movement in the right direc- when the translations by Baptist missionaries paring the Word of Life for our aboriginal It is gratifying to find that vigorous efforts neighbours. If, however, the Society had rewill doubtless call forth a large measure of have sought to interfere with his independence the zeal of his people to meet the emergency. as effectually as they would have done by "standing over him with a club" and saying-"you shall translate thus or so, whether you deem it correct or not."

uestion which the letter from Rev. Mr. Rand, baptize is perhaps the best word to use in the ordinances and practices. Anything short of in another column, opens up. Our own time English Version for baptizo. It is now suffiof cross- xamining the translator. The question, and space, and our readers' patience alike ciently Anglicised for that purpose, seeing but a poor apology for Protestantism. " does it agree with the English Authorized Version ?" was not put. But I having stated that it forbid more than a glance at the difficulties that we have lexicons and means of learning varied from the English Version in some instances, which have been experienced in the matter of the true meaning of that word, in addition to they then said, " Tell us where and why ?" The obtaining pure translations of the Word of the opinions of learned Christian men in manuscript when put into their hands, is theirs, various different denominations, who all agree and published on their own responsibility. Hence God. The painful position in which the Baptist as to its true interpretation ; without one of a the call for care and caution.

I beg to state in this connexiou that no reconnection with the British and Foreign tation entitles him to respect. But let Mr. straint has ever been laid upon me as a translator, either by the B. and F. B. S. or by the Committee of the Miemac Mission. I could never submit to be trammelled in a matter of so much importance they maintained the principle of the transla- Mic-mac version of the whole new Testament, making one serious mistake, and that was in and responsibility. From the commencement I tor's independence, is too well remembered or a translation in any other foreign language transferring the proprietorship of this paper to Later of any langer the sources for this, by whatever name it is called, we think

The Editor and Proprietor of the St. John Religious Intelligencer. in an article on the position of that paper, says :---

The history of the "Intelligencer" during denomination in England were placed in their contrary nature, by any scholar whose repu- the six years of its existence. if written out, of use to persons hereafter engaging in similar Bible Society, from 1833 to 1840, because Rand attempt to give the Mic-maes a pure enterprises. For ourselves we are conscious of