

MINERALS FROM NOVA SCOTIA FOR THE EXHIBITION IN MONTREAL.—The mineral resources of the Lower Provinces of B. A. will to some extent be represented in the approaching Exhibition of Canadian Art and Industry. Of the specimens received as yet, the most remarkable is a section of the entire thickness of the Main Coal Seam of the Alton Mines, Pictou, one of the greatest deposits of fossil fuel in the world and at present yielding about 100,000 tons annually. The specimen, when set up, will constitute a column of coal, two feet in diameter and 37½ feet in height, this being the entire thickness of the immense extent of and value of the coal deposits of British America, which, if not within the limits of Canada, may at least be made available for its use. The specimen is contributed by James Scott, Esq., Superintendent of the Mine, the credit due to whom can be estimated only by persons familiar with the practical difficulties attendant on the extraction of such a mass. Among other specimens from Nova Scotia is a block of "Oil Coal" from the Fraser Mine, and a beautifully finished grindstone, inscribed in gold letters to the Prince of Wales, from the celebrated quarries of Mr. Seaman, at the South Joggins.—Gazette.

LARGE CROPS.—The yield of wheat is so large in some localities of Minnesota that owners of thrashing machines are offering to thrash out the product of some fields for the excess over 30 bushels per acre. The usual rate is one-tenth. They are calculating on a yield of over 33 bushels per acre.

Illinois boasts that she could feed the South for a year, and the officers of the Land Department of the Illinois Central Railroad, who have excellent facilities for the collection of data, estimate that the corn crop of Illinois this year will exceed one hundred millions of bushels.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The Supreme Court of Maine has sentenced Dennis McCarthy to three months' imprisonment in jail for voting illegally at the late election in Portland.

ONE MAD DOG.—Up to Saturday morning last, twenty-one cows, bitten by a mad dog, exhibited symptoms of hydrophobia, in the vicinity of the Two Bridges, between Little Falls and Paterson, N. J. Of these nineteen have died. Ten other cattle were bitten by the same dog. The destruction caused by this one dog is estimated at fifteen hundred dollars.

RECEPTION OF THE PRINCE OF WALES IN NEW YORK.—A meeting was held last week to make arrangements for the reception of the Prince of Wales in this city in a manner becoming his high rank and character, and worthy of the city. Pelahia Perit, Esq., was called to the chair, and Mr. M. B. Field was appointed Secretary. The meeting was composed of our most respectable citizens, and we rejoice that the matter is in such hands. It gives the assurance that everything will be carried out with credit to all concerned. A Committee of about two hundred was appointed to take the matter in charge and to appoint Sub-Committees in carrying out the details. A Committee of seven was appointed to proceed to Canada to tender the invitation to the Prince. The following is the Committee: William B. Astor, John A. King, William F. Havemeyer, Hamilton Fish, Robert B. Minturn, Wilson G. Hunt, Robert Kennedy.

It is proposed to have a grand banquet at the Academy of Music, which will be floored over for the purpose, and to reserve the boxes exclusively for ladies. Plates will be laid for about five hundred persons, who will comprise the leading citizens of New York and high dignitaries from various parts of the country. The Academy will be most magnificently decorated for the occasion. What other arrangements may be made will be determined at a future meeting.

In addition to these courtesies it has been decided to invite the entire First Division to parade before him, and the Fire Department to get up a torchlight procession in his honor. All the British merchant vessels, within a reasonable distance will be requested to concentrate in this harbour, and the U. S. Government will be asked to order the entire Home Squadron, not on service, to do the same. The British North American fleet, consisting of eleven vessels, under command of Rear Admiral Milne, will, it is said, visit our waters as an escort of the Prince. Mayor Wood has tendered to the Prince and suit the use of his private residence. Mr. Richard K. Haight, Mr. Moses H. Grinnell, Rev. G. D. Abbot, of the Springler Institute, Mrs. Parish and others, have tendered their residence of the same purpose.—New York Observer.

Scrofula diseases are the parent stock from which arises a large proportion of the fatal maladies that afflict mankind.—They are as it were a species of potato rot in the human constitution, which undermines and corrupts all the sources of its vitality and hastens its decay. They are the germ from which springs, Consumption, Rheumatism, Heart Disease, Liver Complaints, and Eruptive Diseases which will be recognized as among those most fatal and destructive to the races of men.—So dreadful are its consequences to human life, that it is hardly possible to over estimate the importance of an actual, reliable remedy, that can sweep out this Scrofulous contamination. We know then we shall proclaim welcome news to our readers, of one from such a quarter as will leave little doubt of its efficacy—and still more welcome, when we tell them that it surely does accomplish the end desired. We mean Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it is certainly worthy the attention of those who are afflicted with Scrofula or Scrofulous complaints.—Register, Albany, N. Y.

GARIBALDI AND QUEEN VICTORIA.

The Special Correspondent of the London News writes from Messina under date August 4, 1860.

"I think that you are aware that the Sicilian Government has sent a distinguished nobleman, Prince Pandolfini to represent the interests of the island at the English court. I am now able to send you the translation of the letter which was written by Garibaldi to Queen Victoria on this occasion:

YOUR MAJESTY. Called by my duty to my Italian fatherland to defend its cause in Sicily, I nothing but to participate in the national life have assumed the dictatorship of a generous people who, after a long continued struggle, wish for and freedom under the sceptre of the magnanimous Prince in whom Italy trusts.

The envoy who presents himself to your Majesty in the name of the provisional Government which now rules this country, does not pretend to represent a special and distinct state, but he comes as the interpreter of the thoughts and sentiments of two millions and a half of Italians. By this title I beg your Majesty to deign to receive him, granting a kind audience and attention to what he may respectfully urge upon your Majesty in behalf of this most beautiful and noble part of Italy.

Palermo, Friday, June 22.

G. GARIBALDI.

To Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland.

GARIBALDI THE POPE'S VICEGERENT.

At the celebration of a grand mass at Palermo, Garibaldi the revolutionary hero officiated as representative of the Supreme Pontiff and received the full honors accorded to the Holy Father.

The King of Sicily is, by virtue of his office, a legate of the Pope, and the highest authority on the island is therefore de facto also Pope's legate and receives due homage from the clergy, as such, on all public ceremonies.

The Boston Courier gives the following account of this remarkable circumstance:—

Palermo July 14, 1859

The grand mass was to be officially celebrated as usual at the Cathedral at 11 o'clock. At about 10 the National Guard drew up in front and in the square of the church; and a little later the Dictatorial Guard, a body composed of young men who have distinguished themselves in the late war for liberty, entered the church and formed themselves into two lines in the middle nave of the church so as to clear it for the reception of the civil and military authorities, precisely as the King's body guard used to do.

At about half past ten the city authorities in their robes of grandees of Spain, with toga and rapiers, drove in the old carriages to the palace to take the Dictator, as it has always been the custom of the Kings. [The carriages here mentioned are two of enormous size, in the style of Louis XIV., drawn by six horses each, and with such open work of glass as to be perfectly exposed to view; in one sits the Mayor, called there Praetor, accompanied by one of the Aldermen, called there Senators; in the second the other five Senators. Their retinue is composed of fifty of the City Horse Guard, who are in the pay of the city and dependent entirely on the city authorities.] But Garibaldi had gone to the port, to look after the embarkation of several battalions that are going toward Melazzo.

At 11 the Archbishop, assisted by all the clergy of the Cathedral, (some seventy-five in all—canons, deacons, &c.) went up to the gate of the Church to receive the Dictator. Garibaldi having dispatched his business in the harbour, jumped into a carriage and drove to the Cathedral. He was dressed as usual, in his red shirt and felt hat. The cheering of the people announced his approach; and it was the first time that we have seen such a high functionary arrive at the Cathedral in a private carriage, without even an escort or aid. The National Guard presented arms—the city authorities, who were waiting for him at the Palace, rushed to the Cathedral, (the Church is close by the Palace) The Archbishop received him at the door with the holy water, and an assistant with crimson canopy, while the rest of the clergy were on their knees. It must have been very amusing for the General when he alighted from the carriage to see so many high dignitaries of the Church prostrated before him, and especially when the master of ceremonies told him to keep his hat on.

After the sprinkling of the holy water all the chapter of the Cathedral marched in procession toward the greater altar, and Garibaldi, escorted by the Archbishop on one side, and Archpriest on the other, with six young priests holding lighted torches before him, and a prelate the crimson umbrella over his head from behind, walking the lines of the Guards, ascended the throne of the King of Sicily—where, as it is their right, or of whomsoever holds authority in the island as such, he presided as legate of the Pope, receiving all obeisance and respect due the Pope himself; keeping his hat on, receiving the incense, having the Gospel read at the foot of the throne, etc. After the service he was accompanied to the gates with the same ceremonial by the clergy; and was taken back to the palace, passing through some of the principal streets of the city, in the Praetor's carriage, he sitting all alone on the back seat, the Praetor facing him.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.—After numerous fruitless efforts to recover the debris of the Atlantic cable, the attempt has finally been abandoned. Mr. Varley, the electrician to the company, reports:—"After repeated attempts to raise the cable by grappling, in order to test its electrical condition and with a view to land it at New Perlican, as instructed by the board, we regret having to report that, although we have on many occasions been able to raise the bight, and so get on board at different times pieces of cable, in all amounting to about seven miles, we have invariably found it broken again a few miles off." Varley proceeds with a detailed account of the different voyages that have been made, in the hope of recovering the cable. Writing afterwards of the bottom near Newfoundland he says:—"Although mud is shown on the charts, there are most unquestionably rocks also, as was too plainly indicated by the state of the cable, rock weed and sea animals adhering to and surrounding it in many places showing that it had been suspended clear of the bottom. The cable was invariably hauled in by hard to avoid unnecessary strain. The recovered cable varied in condition very much; and what is most important is, that even those portions which came out of the black mud where so perished in numerous patches that the outer covering parted on load during the process of hauling in, and but for the dexterity and courage of the men in seizing hold of it beyond the break, where iron wires stuck out like bunches of highly-sharpened needle points, we should not have known so much of its condition. Those portions of the recovered cable that were wrapped with tarred yarn were sound, the tar and hemp having preserved the iron wires bright and free from rust. This will be further reported on when the pieces of recovered cable have been more closely examined. It is with deep regret that we have to inform you that it has been necessary to abandon the cable."

A HUMP-BACK WILL.—The Italian journals state that a wealthy person of Florence, just deceased, has left a singular will. It declares that the greater part of his fortune shall go to the man with the largest lump on his back in all Tuscany, and that the persons entrusted with the duty of selecting him shall be themselves twelve hump-backs! To recompense the latter for their trouble, he directs that, in addition to travelling expenses, each shall be presented with a gold medal bearing the effigy of Esop, their prototype.

A letter from Rio Janeiro, says:—"Prince Alfred, second son of Queen Victoria, arrived here on the 28th June, in the Euryalus frigate, Captain Tarleton, on his way to the Cape of Good Hope. The Prince is a midshipman on board, and is treated entirely as such by his brother officers. Beyond visiting and being visited by the Emperor Don Pedro, he was the recipient of no ovations during his stay, which was a very limited one, on account of the fear of the prevailing epidemic which still exists, although in but very few cases."
