40th and 63th regiments, and a party of seamen under Commodere Loring, proceeded to the wreck this morning, and have brought away her spars, cauvas, running rigging, and a large quantity of sawn timber. About noon to-day, six heavy guns were heard fired from Omata The natives are in great numbers on Mr. M'Kechney's and A. King's land, and in rear of the hospital, and appear to have made Mr. Shuttleworth's house their head quarters. 120 were counted about the latter house, and senbayonets in the road. There is now no doubt that several of the friendly natives are wavering. It is said that Waka and his people have left the bels have visited Mr. O. Carrington's house, and mile from the barracks.

Saurday, 18th, 11 am .- The body of Mr. Coad has been found in the Henui river about two hundred yards from the wreck. He received four bullets, and is supposed to have been shot on the beach, and his body washed up by the surf into the river. His body has just been brought into town.

6 p. m. - Several houses in the rear of the town, in the bush clearings, are in flames this bane, arrived at the Burnam Hotel, Duckeld,

Sunday, 19th,-There is no doubt that Waka and about twelve of his people have gone over to the enemy, and proceeded to Waitera. Waka has for some time been more than suspected of encouraging Wi Kingi in his rebellion, though for years the Government and the settlers bad no stancher ally.

Monday, 20th .- From an early hour this morning bouses have been in firmes at the Henui, and before noon the following were desstroved :- Dr. Wilson's, Mr. Smith's, Paynter's, Shuttleworth's, Ibbotson's, Hamblyn's, and

LATEST INTELLIGENCE -The Tranaki Herald of 30th August states that a proclamation was issued, and notices served upon a large number of families to be in readiness to embark :

" That under the absolute necessity that existed for all women and children without distinction being removed from New Plymouth. His Honor the acting Superintendent to warn all those drawing rations to be prepared to embark for Nelson about the 1st proximo. The remaining tamilies, without distinction of rank will also be warned in alphabetical order, and must be prepared to proceed to Nelson or jor about the same date.

The Auckland Southern Cross, of September 3rd, remarks on the above news:-" The news is bid. We had buoyed ourselves up with the hope of getting at the rebel natives, but have been bauked by their retreat."

" We scarcely can say whether the news be more disheartening than reliculous. The natives have a journed the deba e, to renew it at their own time, and to keep the troops waiting their own pleasure. But the protraction of the war becomes very serious in another point of view, What we have mainly to fear, is the utter demoralisation of the better portion of our insurgent natives-a certain con equence of prolonged hoscilines. How the illiated province is to be recovered, for years to come, passes our comprehension Terms might be come to with William King; but who would trust Ngatiruanui or Faranaki ?"

It seems At Pries as low as any in the Place! there is a precedent by which the imposition of hands by three bishops can be substituted for Furs, Matle Cloths, the consent of his Holiness, but the episcopal body does not furnish the requisite number of dorile prelates." The Weekly Register says :-

"We have heard, on good authority, that an attempt has been made to s und one of the French bishops most tavorable to Napoleon, not to the plan of an open schism, but on that of a French pa riarchate, with practically independant powers which would easily be so worked as to come to the same thing. The answer was that before attempting it the Emperor would do well to prepare his abdication."
