CARD.

GEORGE JOHNSON, (Late Langley & Johnson.)

TAKES this public method to thank his patrons for the support continued to him since the retirement of his late partner. He is also desirous in the same public way to assure his present customers, and as many new ones as may be pleased to bestow their monetary tavors upon him, that he purposes to spare no pains to make himself increasingly useful to the community. Dealing in most of the wares peculiar to the

DRUG BUSINESS,

he will be most anxious to retain the name for articles of best quality so long enjoyed by his predecessor. As he received his pharmaceutical education in the business he now cocducts, he trusts he knows well the wants of the public, and is thus better qualified to supply them; and although the late hit in the "Sun" paper might be taken as indicative of the sufficiency of the " profits" made, he is only speaking the truth when he asserts that he would like to augment them greatly, not by increase in prices, but by increase of sales. In the Perfumery, in the Patent Medicine, in the Prescription, in the Genuine Drug Department, and also in Toilet and Fancy Articles, he is now ready to wait upon all, trusting to give satisfaction to all. LONDON DRUG STORE,

Hollis Street, Halifax. Jan. 31.
