THE CHRISTIAN MESSENGER.

against liberty,-a rebellion whose "corner stone" is professedly and boastingly, the everlasting chattelship of man !

Truly, the Southern rebels themselves are better entitled to the respect of the civilized world ! For, if, as the Holy Writ declares, the height of wickedness is in taking pleasure in other men's A.M. sins,-in sins, be it remembered, that they have long professed to specially detest,-what words can paint the ineffable blackness of British infamy, in gloating over, and in sympathizing with and in aiding this unprovoked, this unsuccessful, this infernally conceived rebellion ? She has been to us what Edom and Ishmael were to Israel,-nearest of kin yet most hostile. No thanks to her that we are not, to-day, hewers of wood and drawers of water, cheap corn-growers, back pasture tenders, as imbruted as Irish potato-digers for her market, the objects of her aristocratic ridicule, while our degraded muscles ministered to her luxury and to her arrogance."

News Summary.

The most important intelligence received from the scene of war, up to Saturday Evening, was that of the Evacuation by the Army of the Potomac under General McLellan, of the Peninsu'ar position which he has occupied since the sanguinary battles in the Chickahominy. His retreat has been effected without molestation by the Southern armies, by transports to Williamsburg, near the mouth of James's River; thus finally abandoning all further attempts on Richmond. In fact great satisfaction is expressed in the Northern papers that he has escaped so well. The losses of this magnificent, well appointed, and well disciplined army, since its advance against the Southern Capital, may be reckoned by tens of thousands. It must be admitted to the fullest extent, that no troops could have fought with more determined courage, but they for the Western District-The Rev. R Philp, have had opposed to them men of equal mettle, at least as well disciplined, and commanded by Generals, undoubtedly superior in science and strategy to those of the North. But in addition to this, the Federal Army has had to contend with a deadly climate in an enemy's country, amid swamps and forests, where the difficulties of manœuvering large armies must be almost insuperable. The great mistake of the Federalists throughout the campaign, appears to have been their ignorance of those difficulties, and undervaluing the skill and advantages of their enemies. It is said that McLellan's army is to proceed up the Potomac to unite with Gen. Pope, in his operations against Jackson. It seems probable that scmething of importance will shortly occur in that direction. Accounts from other parts of for the protection of the Revenue-James Gates the frontiers of the vast battle field, extending the whole length of the middle States, are generally unfavorable to the Federal cause, with exception of a conflict near Baton Rouge on the Mississipi, which is reported to have terminated against the Confederates. A good deal of anxiety prevails in Europe in consequence of a proclamation of Gen. Garibaldi, calling on the young men of Italy to rally round him for the final emancipation of the country. His immediate object would seem to be to liberate Rome from the Papal Government. As the King of Italy, owing to his Alliance with France, cannot act otherwise than oppose any present attempt of the kind, how ever he may desire it, Garibaldi's movement is generally considered premature and rash.

JACK AT "THE HOME."-The Sailor's Home is visited daily by large numbers of the men of tles, and other games ;--some passing their time in reading. while others avail themselves of the conveniences at hand for writing to their friends at home. The utility of the institution can be seen by every one who visits the building, and any means that can be adopted to render it permanent and add to its usefulness, should meet with general support. Under the care of Mr. Graham and his wife, Jack's comforts are well looked after, and everything on their part is done to render the institution a " home" indeed to the sailor .- Col.

The C. B. News says. - " A poor o'd woman, upwards of 80 years of age, named Burke, who lived near Nancy Cann Point, in a miserable little hut, and by herself, was missed last week, and has not since been discovered. The mystery of her disappearance is increased by her ordinary clothing being found in the house.

We are informed that nineteen young men who were fleeing from the conscription about to take place in the Northern States were take out of the train journeying towards Canada on Saturday, and marched as prisoners to Fort Montgomery in the vicinity of Rouse's Point. Two companies of regular infantry are quartered in that place.-Montreal Gazette.

RIVERS OF BLOOD .- The circulation in the system is not unlike the flow of rivers to the sea, which move smoothly until they are clogged or obstructed. But when drift wood or alluvial, deposit dams them up, then comes the tearing devastation that follows the obstruction of a force which cannot be stayed. So the blood circucomes clogged by disease, then burst out the ulcers, sores and disorders which follow that condition. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and purify your blood to save yourself from the floods, fieshets and deluges that sweep unnumbered multitudes out upon that shoreless sea which swallows all mankind.-Lancaster (Pa.) Register.
