hand the King of Portugal has just demanded match by sixty-two points. in marriage, is sixteen years of age. She is described as very pretty and of agreeable manners; but the marriage is spoken of as quite a political affair. People at Turin think that the union is likely to be a happy one, but it is in its political aspect that they most eagerly discuss the affair, and from that point of view they regard it very favourably.

Italy, declares that the Government has impedpress on, without waiting for King or Parliament.

A letter from Rome, published in a Parisian journal, makes it appear that the Roman difficulty is more involved than ever. The Paris papers start the rather improbable rumour that Cardinal Wiseman and Dr. Cullen have promised to raise 4,000 recruits for the Pope and, moreover, hold out a hope to him that the British Catholics, will find funds to keep them in Rome.

PRUSSIA.

The Prossian Ministry having exhausted all the other arts by which unpopular governments try to bolster themselves up, have taken to bullying the press. A great many journals guilty of expressing opinions unfavourable to the capacity or honesty of M. von der Heydt and his colleagues, are now being prosecuted by the Government, and several managers of newspapers are now lying in prison for refusing to give the names of their contributors. One outspoken editor, who expressed the opinion that the Prime Minister was a man of no principle, has already been fined five pounds for the of-

The Prince and Princess Louis of Hesse took Russia, is now quite in the domain of fact; it is leave of her Majesty and embarked in the royal no more a matter of rumour. At Bologna, yacht Victoria and Albert, on the 8th, for signify her intention of conterring the rank of his Royal Highness on Prince Louis of Hesse. The royal pair intend to reside chiefly at Frogmore and Clarence-house, St. James's, which the Queen has placed at their disposal. They will thus be enabled to assist in filling up the blank in the royal circle which the nation has not ceased to deplore, and to co-operate J. M. Cramp, D. D., President of Acadia College, in assuaging the great grief which as yet "knows no retiring ebb." The young prince comes of an excellent stock-that of Hesse Darmstadt, not of Electoral Hesse-and has fence. GOLD .- A NEW MINE .- The Gold discoveries hitherto announced, though many of them have been very valuable, have been eclipsed, by the discovery of the healing properties of the Medicines prepared by Mr. A. GORDON of this city. Almost all the " ills the flesh is heir to," from incipient indigestion, to that most destructive of all complaints, Rheumatism, may be relieved or cured-as hundreds of certificates, which will be found in the published circulars or in the possession of the proprietor will abundantly testify-by The Princess Maria Pia of Savoy, whose cited considerable interest. journals, the Government is trying to starve them. Orders have been given to all industrial companies which have anything to expect from Government to discontinue advertising in the retractory journals It turns out, however, that in some provinces the people are in the benighted condition of having none but opposition journals. It seems as if every step taken by the Von der Heydt Cabinet with the view of repressing opposition only furnishes new proofs of its own impotence.

The fourth shot was of wrought iron, and the charge was 50lb., as before. At this round, however, the gun gave way, the breech being blown backwards to a distance of thirty or forty yards.

RUSSIA.

No abatement of incendiarism and its attendant miseries in Russia is yet reported. Great destitution is said to prevail at the capital, and business is almost entirely destroyed. The Emperor speaking through the Journal de St. Petersbourg, declares that nothing will make him swerve from the policy of reform upon which he has entered.

A letter from Warsaw, published in The Dresden Journal, contains the first detailed Bread, Navy, per cwt.,............ 4 00 a statement of the attempt of the 3rd inst. It was written on the day, towards midnight, and Butter, Am. per ib.,.... 0 12 a is as follows :---

"I hasten to inform you of an infamous attempt, made at half-past nine this evening, upon the person of the Grand Duke Constantine. Having arrived yesterday, at five in the even-ing in excellent health, the Grand Duke re-ing in excellent health, the Grand Duke retempt, made at half-past nine this evening, upon | Tea, Congo, ceived this morning, at the Palace Lazienki, the high civil and military authorities, and after- Pork, Prime, " 12 00 a wards visited the Russian and the Catholic cathedral, where the populace assembled in large numbers, saluting him respectfully. In the evening his Royal Highness repaired to the Grand Theatre, where Stradella was performed. At the end of the second act he entered his carriage to return to the chateau of the Belvedere. At that instant a young man approached the carriage and fired a pistol at the Grand Herring, No. 1, shore,scarce. Duke, who, on first seeing the assassin, thought No. 1, Georges' Bay,....none. A close carriage having been obtained, the prince, with a suitable escort Lumber,-1 inch Pinc, per 1000,...16 00 returned in it to the chateau of the Belvedere, the residence of the Grand Duchess, who fortunately had not gone to the theatre. The assassin was arrested on the spot, and was taken C by the police to the guard-house of the Saxonsquare, where he was seized with vomitings. It was supposed that, before making the attempt, he had taken poison. He was made to drink some milk. On being questioned immediately after as to the motives which had led him to this crime, he obstinately refused to reply. It is
