

TAXES ON OFFICIALS.—A handsome sum will be realized to the Government from the tax upon the salaries of members of the House of Representatives. Each member is taxed $6 a month, or $72 per year. The Speaker will be taxed $144. The next House will consist of 197 members and 7 delegates—in all 204. The aggregate amount of revenue derived from taxation of employers now in the House will be $7,433,86, which will be augmented during the session by taxation upon salaries of additional employers.

The amount of property subject to confiscation in Missouri is estimated at $50,000,000.

It is asserted that the Federal army drags after it six thousand army wagons. General McClellan has ordered a reduction of baggage.

DRAFTING has commenced in Boston. It took place at Faneuil Hall, on Wednesday last. The number required was 2109. It was done after this manner. A revolving box or wheel, which is described as having the appearance of a primitive washing machine, was stationed in the hall. The bits of paper on which the names were written, measuring two bushels, were put into the wheel, and Dr. N. B. Shurtleff, who had been appointed and sworn to draw them, was blindfolded and placed before it, with his back to the audience. The wheel was then turned, and when the contents had been sufficiently mixed the first slip was drawn, and the name, Thomas Shorty, was announced to the crowd by the Commissioner, Judge Russel. The second name was Charles A. Guffert, which a fellow in the crowd pretended to misunderstand as "Charles Sumner," at which there was much merriment. Good humor prevailed, and when 376 names had been drawn, it was announced that the drafting would be resumed at 9 o'clock next morning. The list of drafted embraces the names of rich and poor in fair proportions. It is stated that some threaten resistance to the operation of the draft.

HORRORS OF WAR.—The whole number of prisoners captured by Gen. Stahl in Warrenton and vicinity, recently, is 1,932. The official list has been sent to headquarters by Gen. Sigel. These men were wounded at the battle of Bull Run, and the greater portion of them had their arms and legs amputated.

THE WASHINGTON CHURCHES TURNED INTO HOSPITALS.—"A Sunday in Washington" is thus described by a correspondent of a New York paper:

"Although this city seems to be the general centre for military movements, yet Sunday is as quiet here as in the most peaceful village of the land. To-day not a regiment is to be seen, and but very few officers are on the street. Not a church bell rings out on the air, and people remain indoors for want of places of worship. It was hoped that some of the churches would be given up by the Surgeon General before winter set in, but it looks now as though the few remaining ones would also be taken up for hospitals."

ITALY.

The marriage of the Princess Maria Pia of Italy with the King of Portugal was celebrated by proxy in the Royal Chapel, at Turin on Saturday 27th ult. The royal bridegroom was represented by the Prince de Savoie Carignan, and the bride was accompanied to the altar by King Victor Emmanuel, the Prince of Savoy, Prince Napoleon, and the Princesses Clothilde and Mathilde. The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Genoa, assisted by four Italian bishops. The people of Turin seem to have behaved in the most loyal manner on the occasion—to have shouted themselves hoarse during the day, and to have consumed an immense number of candles in illuminating the city at night. Great feasting of course took place at court on the evening of the wedding day. On Monday the young Queen left Turin, commencing the journey to her new home. The King, the Princess, and the Ministers accompanied her as far as Genoa, where she was to embark for Lisbon.

A Turin letter in the Siecle states that the number of Garibaldians who still remain prisoners is 1,909. It adds that only 232 young men, under 18 years of age, have been sent home to their families.

GENOA, SEPT. 30.—The Genoese journals of to-day publish accounts of the fetes in this city, and of the enthusiastic reception which the city afforded to the Royal cortege.

The Queen of Portugal, accompanied by Prince Humbert, embarked in the Bartholomeo Diaz, which will convey her Majesty and the Prince direct to Lisbon.

Prince Napoleon and the princess Clothilde embarked in the Prince Jerome, for Marseilles.

GARIBALDI

TURIN, SEPT. 30.—Intelligence received here from Fort Varignano states that Professor Partridge's apparatus had been applied to Garibaldi's foot. The suppuration has diminished.

SPZZIA, SEPT. 26.—Garibaldi continues to amend—that is, the condition of the wound is favourable. The exfoliation of the bone goes on without increase of pain or fever, and there is no appearance of inflammation in the surrounding soft parts. There is, therefore, every prospect of his recovering, and also of his regaining the use of his limb, with, of course, diminished mobility. It would be difficult to imagine a state of more perfect rest and tranquillity than that he presents. He is not, I believe he never was, much given to reading, and he was always a thoughtful, silent man, so that his visitors are surprised to find no trace of weariness or ennui on one whose long hours are passed without occupation. But so it is; he receives those who are permitted to see him with a quiet, gentle courtesy and a pleasant smile, but he speaks very little, and as little does he invite conversation.

Books and newspapers abound in his room; but I have heard that he seldom asks a question as to what the world outside is saying or doing. To say that he "broods" would be to convey a false impression; but he lies in a state of thoughtfulness, like one who asked nothing but what he himself could command from his own resources.

His attendants watch him with a solicitude that cannot be surpassed. Not a word is spoken above a whisper—not a footfall is heard on the floor; and in the aspect of the wounded hero, as he lies propped up, so as to see the blue waters of the bay, and the far-off mountains of Carrara and in the unbroken stillness around, there is a something of solemn peacefulness, very touching and very impressive.

His eyes were lighted up with an unwonted brightness, and there was a slight tremor in his voice once. It was when speaking of England, and all the solace and sympathy he had met from Englishmen; and when one of our countrymen, in his eagerness to say something in Italian, forgot the exact word he wanted, Geribaldi said, "Speak it in English. The sound of it is always a pleasure to me."

GARIBALDI'S ADDRESS TO THE ENGLISH NATION.

Suffering from repeated blows, moral and physical, a man can more exquisitely feel both good and ill, hurl a malediction at the authors of evil, and consecrate to his benefactors unlimited gratitude and affection.

And I owe you gratitude, O English nation! and I feel it as much as my soul is capable of feeling it. You were my friend in my good fortune, and you will continue your precious friendship to me in my adversity. May God bless you! My gratitude is all the more intense, O kind nation! that it rises high above all individual feeling, and becomes sublime in the universal sentiment towards nations of which you represent the progress. Yes, you deserve the gratitude of the world, because you offer a safe shelter to the unfortunate from whatever side they may come, and you identify yourself with the misfortune of others you pity and help.

Follow your path undisturbed, O unconquered nation, and be not backward in calling sister nations on the road of human progress. Call the French nation to co-operate with you. You are both worthy to walk hand in hand in the front rank of human improvement. But call her. In all your meetings, let the words of concord of the two great sisters resound! Call her! Call her in every way with your own voice, and with that of her great exiles—with that of her Victor Hugo, the hierophant of sacred brotherhood. Tell her that conquests are to-day an aberration, the emanation of insane minds. And why should we conquer foreign lands when we must all be brothers! Call her, and do not care if she is for the moment under the dominion of the spirit of evil. She will answer in due time—if not to-day, to-morrow—and if not to-morrow, will later answer to the sound of thy generous and regenerating words.

And what allies! Call the great American Republic. She is, after all, thy daughter, risen from thy lap; and, however she may go to work, she is struggling to-day for the abolition of slavery so generously proclaimed by you. Aid her to come out from the terrible struggle in which she is involved by the traffickers in human flesh. Help her, and then make her sit by your side in the great assembly of nations, the final work of Human Reason. Call unto thee such nations as possess free will; and do not delay a day.

The initiative that to-day belongs to you might not be yours to-morrow. May God avert this! Who more bravely took the initiative than France in '89? She who in that solemn moment gave to the world the goddess Reason, levelled tyranny to the dust, and consecrated free brotherhood among nations. After almost a century she is reduced to combat the liberty of nations, to protect tyranny, and to direct her efforts to steady, on the ruins of the temple of reason, that hideous, immoral monstrosity—Papacy.—Rise, therefore, O Britannia, and lose no time. Rise with uplifted brow and point out to other nations the road to follow.—War would no longer be possible where a world's Congress would judge of the differences arisen between nations.

Besides Switzerland, Belgium, and others that will rise at your call, you will see other nations, urged on by the good sense of populations, rush to thy embrace, and unite in one. Let London be at the present time the seat of the Congress, in due course to be chosen by mutual understanding and general consent. I repeat to you, may God bless you, and may he amply repay you for the benefits you have showered upon me.

With gratitude and affection, thine G. GARIBALDI.

GERMANY.

WEIMAR, SEPT. 29.—The Assembly of Delegates from the German States has unanimously voted the following resolution in reference to the question of the Zollverein:—

"The transformation of Germany from a Confederation of States into one Federal State is, besides being a political necessity, the greatest want of Germany, as far as her commercial interests are concerned. Until this transformation is effected, the dissolution of the Zollverein which is indispensable to the unity of Germany, must be avoided. On the renewing of the Zollverein an improvement in its constitution is imperative." The session of the Assembly was then closed.

Gordon's Rheumatic Remedy.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24th, 1862.

James Cleaveland, of Sheet Harbor, was suffering with a severe pain in the leg, from the effects of a cold; the cords of his leg were drawn up into a lump, by which he was almost crippled. Half a bottle of Gordon's Rheumatic Remedy made a perfect cure. I certify the above to be correct.

The following are notices of the Work in letters to the author:—"I have read with great pleasure your well arranged answers to the Essays and Reviews, and consider it a complete refutation of them, if the word of God may be admitted as authority. It shows much ability and research, and is calculated to do good in this infidel and licentious age."—Rev. R. F. Unacke, M. A., Rector of Saint George's, Halifax.

"Your admirable reply to Essays and Reviews have read with great delight, and I have no hesitation in stating that of the various criticisms and replies to those pernicious productions, I have read none so thorough and satisfactory as yours.
