

THE INCUBATING PYTHON AT THE ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS.—The python still continues her attentive duties to her eggs; whether they will be hatched or not remains to be seen.

A HEAD OF HAIR.—Among the passengers by the steamer Enna, which arrived at Liverpool recently from New York, was an old lady—a black—a native of Hayti, more than sixty-five years of age, the hair on whose head is upwards of seventeen feet long, and looks like sheep's wool.

Sharp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds.

Dear Sir,—Having labored under a severe cold for some time, with a constant tickling in the throat and a violent cough which deprived me of rest both night and day, I heard of your Balsam of Hoarhound and Aniseed. I was advised to try a bottle of it and did so and I can truly say that I never rested better than I did the next night.

I remain your humble servant, GEORGE W. BAILEY, of the New Orleans Metropolitan Troop.

THE QUEEN—A Lady's Newspaper.—All the numbers from the beginning, with Portrait of Her Majesty, Fashion Plates, &c., may be had at the News Agency of G. E. MORTON & CO., where the following BRITISH PERIODICALS are supplied regularly to order, at the price stated.

At Weston, Cornwallis, Arthur Barton, only child of Mr. Jonathan Sandford, aged fifteen months.

Death of the pale faced messenger, Has entered your air; Seized on a twining tendril fair, And borne it back to God.

In healthful glee your loved one played, Joy sparkled in his eye, When lo! the mournful summons came, You saw that he must die.

The heavy stroke of fell disease, A speedy victory won; Blanched his fair cheeks, closed his bright eyes, And hushed his prattling tongue.

Parents and friends all wept around, His precious sleeping clay; Missed his sweet voice, his ringing laugh, His joyous pleasant play.

And now away from you he sleeps, Low in the silent grave; That sleep from which he'll wake no more, To stain life's troubled wave.

In silence now he sleeps with those, As soundly wrapped as he, In death's unbroken long repose, From care and suffering free.

Then raise your thoughts from earth's dull scenes, Of sorrow pain, and gloom; To realms your Saviour has prepared, For saints beyond the tomb. Mrs. J. N. W.
