For the Christian Messenger. Prayer for Colleges.

DEAR BROTHER,

Thursday the 23rd inst., will be the Day of Prayer for Colleges. I hope it will be generally observed by our Churches, and that earnest, believing supplication will be offered on our behalf. There are some tokens for good among us. Let God's people pray that there may be a prosperous issue; and especially that there may be large accessions to the minisferial band, both for home and foreign ser-

Yours truly, J. M. CRAMP Acadia College Jan. 6th, 1865. ortal mod 180

HALIFAX, FEBRUARY 8, 1865.

ar arratage and arraid delen deles weedl

THE question of Confederation is not only a political one but also one that will be considered by many in the religious aspects it presents. They will be thinking of the connection between it and the progress of religious truth, and as it appears to them likely glory, and our country's peace and prosperity. to affect the cause of religion for good or and fidelity to Him as King of the nations. evil, so will they decide for or against any action being taken in the consummation of the Union. Although the scheme does not contemplate any change in the ecclesiastical position of the different denominations, yet if from the circumstance that there had been no applying the School Law to the metropolis indoctrinated in the matter at issue as they commerce, manufactures and politicians, but result. we do not concur in them. We do not imagine that those heretofore altogether unknown to each other, will be prepared to surrender their essentially local operations for any more general and distant agencies. Some churches existing under episcopal or synodical control may have some more distinct recognition of their fraternal relationship in the different provinces, and so make a shew of combination, but we see no probability of any other union, generally, amongst religious bodies, than fraternal interchanges of delegations at their annual gatherings.

A greater degree of activity will be likely to follow in every department of life from Confederation, and, as Christian people become quickened in their business operations, they will doubtless carry their general habits into their church life, and so an enlarged field will be given for their benevolent sympathies. Coming in contact with those from distant parts of the Confederation, as facilities of travel are increased, will lead to the adoption of improved plans of procedure, and so christians will have opportunities of making their influence felt, and thus a broader type of Christianity will eventually prevail, but we do not conceive how any very rapid change can be effected on the individual churches. Whatever of influence is exerted on christian churches we believe will be for good and for an extension of truth and religion generally.

ONE of the members of the Canadian Legislature who visited Halifax last summer -a christian gentleman of an excellent spirit, and one who looks at legislation as involving the highest interests of mankind, --- wrote last week from Quebec, where the Provincial Parliament is now in session, to a friend in Halifax, with whom he then formed acquaintance, at this moment suit the sentiments of the great believe; to represent Nova Scotia at the Dub-We were also much gratified with the brief Evangelical Party of the Church of England, lin International Exhibition. This is well. interviews with the same gentleman which a passage from Halitax to St. John, N. B., aftorded. In the course of his letter he briefly refers to the question of Federation of the the Book of Common Prayer' as used for ex-British Provinces, and the anxiety felt as to ample in the Cathedral on Morris Street, Hallthe results of the proposal. We have been permitted to make an extract from the said letter, which, we believe, will afford pleasure to our readers.

We sometimes hear of the disreputable practices of some of the Canadian representatives, but are glad to be able to notice something of a different character amongst merely from a political point of view, yet. This is doubtless a part of the Broad Dear Mr. Editor,there are others of sterling piety, who regard Church movement. Whether it will have the the action as subordinate to far higher con- effect of producing a greater amount of forsiderations than merely combining politicians malism, or, of promoting genuine piety, is in government for its own sake. 1865. He says:

"My visit to the sea seems to have been very beneficial to my health. I have felt stronger been accepted, many a sad dark year would and am heavier in weight than ever. My wife and children enjoy good health also. The autumn and early winter in the west were unhealthy seasone, but when severe frost set in, and the snow fell (in unusual quantity for our part of the country) the atmosphere seemed to resume its normal state of salubrity."

The following is the closing paragraph to which we have referred:

"You will, I am sure, be gratified to be informed that 12 or more of our members, who are followers of Jesus, and who recognize his authority and believe his word, feeling the importance of our words and votes at this most critical period of our country's history, -and the great need of beavenly guidance for ourselves and colleagues,—have agreed to meet weekly for special united prayer, to ask Him who is fai htul to fulfil our desires, to give wisdom and grace, to guide, to overrule, to make all plans and schemes to work together for his have faith to believe we shall not ask " in vain." He is faithful who promised."

A correspondent of the Witness a week or two since made an objection to Confederation

PRAYER-BOOKS AND PRESRY

THERE has been much said of late on the propriety of a Book of Common Prayer for use in Presbyterian congregations. At length such a book has been published in Philadelphia, and now arguments are brought forth, not in the famous Jeannie Geddes'* style,but for the purpose of shewing that there is nothing inconsistent with Presbyterianism in their adopting a Liturgy, and vestments, and ceremonials, in singing, praying, and preach ing:-the latter may be either extempore committed to memory, or "with his manuscript before his eyes." In former day the Scots rose in rebellion when episcopacy was attempted to be thrust upon them, and they combined under the celebrated Solemn League and Covenant, in defence of which thousands of lives were sacrificed. Things are greatly changed since then. The Presbyterian Witness of Saturday last in dis cussing this question now decides that "They may follow a ! Precentor," or a Choir" or the "booming organ." National and personal tastes and traditions are allowed all the scope that is consistent with the teach ing of the Word of God. Baptism may be ad ministered with " much water" or very little. The Lord's Supper may be administered once a walls of a church, or under the broad canopy

tures to affirm that

"The Prayer Book as revised by them would sciences of the great bulk of orthodox dissent-

" It is a very remarkable fact" he says " that General Confession, the Declaration of Absuluin, while only one prayer is distinctively Epis-copalian in its origin. Anglican Prelacy only imported a few had and corrupt features from the Church of Rome the attook avove to fine the important duties devolving upon them.

The "cutty-stove" which this old lady threw at Boss's account of his "Mission in Cape the Dean of Edinburgh, on his attempting to read the English prayers in St. Giles' church, is till pre-the leading men may look at the question served in the Museum of Antiquaries in Edinburgh. eace with heaven is the best friendship. Higson or your dible.

question on which we believe there will be His letter is dated Quebec, January 25th, great diversity of opinion, even among Presbyterians. Its intention is doubtless to pro-"Present appearances indicate a probability vide what has heretofore been defective, and of the early completion of the Railway from to absorb, or, at least, to embrace Episcopamy home to yours, bringing us within 48 hours lians in the Presbyterian fold. It is, howtravel of each other." ever, idle to say that if " the suggestions and emendations of the Westminster Divines had have been saved to the Church of England, and at this day instead of ministering to a minority of the English people she would still that writing for publication is not exactly my be, in truth, as well as in name, the Church "forte," but if you will be so indulgent as to and at this day instead of ministering to a of the nation." With liberty to adopt or reject this Liturgy, we may as safely affirm that the nation would have become a nation of Congregationalists and Baptists, for there were a number of the latter amongst those ejected under the Act of Uniformity. The liberty to adopt or reject this new Book of Common Prayer by Presbyterian congregations is a concession which many of the body would not so freely accord as our accommodating contemporary. The idea of a Presbyterian Common Prayer Book will be quite the Province will be present. a new sensation for the adherents of that the bearing the and Mrs.

SCHOOLS IN HALI

and all the other social arrangements of the but hollow objection, was well merited. We first step, or action, under the Law-that of perhaps a long time to come, uncertain, probquite sure to whom the blame belongs, but on its own intrinsic merits. certainly it should fall on some party, either the framers of the Act, or its administrators, that so large a part of the population of the country should be deprived of the benefits it was intended to secure to the rising generation. During the present session the Legis lature, we presume, will make some other enactments for placing our schools on a better basis than hitherto. What have proved so beneficial in the country—Free Schools would of course be far more so in the cuy. Now that the machinery of the law is set in motion here, we hope it will obtain a momentum sufficient to keep it moving, until it brings out some of the better features—animproved system of education for the young—aswell as that which is somewhat less acceptable, assessment. the amount granted to the city is sufficient to make whatever supplementary taxation is required a very insignificant affair, scarcely more we believe than what is now paid as fees,

A PROVINCIAL MUSEUM.—It is to be feared that in the consideration of the great political and educational changes which will engage the attention of our Legislators, some of our smaller but not less important concerns may be overlooked. One of these is that of a Provincial Museum. Why should Nova Scoweek, once a month, or once a year, within the tia be without its own Museum? We who engaged the services of Rev. Jos. H. Saunders, so boast of our geological and mineral resources | collect funds in aid of the Mission. He has already have no depository where specimens may be entered upon the agency, and anticipates laboring In his admiration of this Book of Common preserved, and from whence they may be ex. in the counties of Annapolis, Kings, Hants and Prayer - which is said to be "as amended by changed with foreign museums. Much might Halifax He may also visit Stewiacke, Truro and the Westminster Divines in 1661,"—he ven-tures to affirm that the attention of our public men. We have Professor Honeyman partially engaged, we and would contain nothing offensive to the con- We hear that Mr. John R. Willis is about retiring from the Industrial School, where he has done good service to his native city. He is well suited for more scientific research, bulf the Government could secure him at once to fax, is more Presbyterian than Episcopalian in act in conjunction with Professor Honeyman, its sources: A large portion of the service is for taking charge of a Museum in some suitfrom ancient sources. The Exhortation, the able building—perhaps a portion of the new General Confession, the Declaration of Absulu- Provincial Building,—it would, we doubt not, be an advantage to the Province gene rally ... We hope a word to the wise will be

> OMISSION. -The signature to Rev. Malon Lorer and specific that I paint it to a action without bear warmed

It was No. 3 of "The New Brunswick Minstrel" that you kindly allowed me to have, " just to try," and not No 2.

Permit me to add " another word or two." have tried the pieces and am perfectly enchanted. I venture to assert that No. 3, of this musical publication is a decided improvement on the previous issue.

The Sea Shell Polka is really exquisite, and greatly enhances the value of this number. The songs are excellent; among the prettiest may be named " Near the banks of that lone river," and "Just after the battle." I sincerely wish the publisher all possible sucoverlook all defects, I will promise not to trouble you in this way again.

I am yours etc., " A Young Lady,"

NEWS SUMMARY.

To-morrow our Provincial Parliament will open its Session for the despatch of business. It is probable, from all we hear, that most of the Representatives from all parts of

The one great topic which is likely to east all others into the shade will doubtless be the Federative Union of the Provinces. A tew days mutual intercourse of the members will probably disclose how the question is likely to be received, whether favorably or other-By public notice over the signature of the wise. It has been so largely discussed and Inspector of Schools for Halitax County, we considered in the Press and otherwise that we preceive that another step is to be taken in should imagine the public must be as well carried into effect, it will doubtless exercise public prayer in reference to it. The reproof the Teachers are to be examined during this well can be. All that can be reckoned on more or less of influence on religious bodies, he received from the editor for his specious, (Wednesday) and three following days. The as certain, and all that is, and, for a time, Provinces. We have no idea, however, that should greatly deprecate the pulpits of our the Inspector being appointed to supercede lematical, or experimental has been so freely any immediate change will take place in the land being turned into political platforms, the clerks of the School Boards was taken and so fully handled before the whole comrelative position they will occupy in each and christian ministers into party advocates; last summer. Since then the city has re- munity, that we are much inclined to think province. We placed before our readers but for christian people and especially legis- mained in statu quo, probably from the cir- that the people and their representatives must some weeks since a table shewing the statis- laters to unite in seeking Divine guidance in cumstance of the law being altogether unsuit be as well prepared to cope with the difficult tics of the different denominations in each of the matter, we think is a most favorable ed to the City Schools. We have had en- ties of the question now, as they could be the Provinces proposing to be united. We symptom. Christian ministers, too, in Canada quiries from several triends in the country, within any reason ble period to come. We do not imagine that any great change in the and Nova Scotia, we are informed, have fre- desirous of knowing why the law was not trust that all whose duty it may be to deal proportions there indicated would soon appear. quently referred to the subject in the public carried out in Halifax. To these we could with this great and vital measure, will come We have seen some extravagant statements, as prayers of the sanctuary. In this case, then, give no satisfactory reply. It was unquest to the discussion of it, with the utmost calmto what an enlargement would be given by there has been prayer, and we think just tionably a serious detect in the Act; that noss and deliberation. Happily all party Confederation, forthwith, to the field of opera- where it should be, and we may at least be Halifax was not specially provided for, or, views and feelings are so fully excluded from tions for the christian church, as well as to relieved of any fearful torebodings as to the that it was not exempted from the operation its consideration, by the very nature of the of the law; or else that that law was not case that we have every reason to hope that carried out fully and fairly. We are not it will come before the Legislature solely up-

> The English mail arrived on Friday last with dates to the 22nd ult. It is rumored that the Prince of Wales would be the Commissioner to open Parliament by reading the Speech from the Throne for Her Majesty. It is also said that His Royal Highness will open the International Exhibition at Dublin in the summer. The inhabitants of the Irish capital are making great preparations for the

> A monument is to be erected to the memory of Capt. Speke, the discover of the source of the Nile.

> A sad and fatal catastrophe occurred at Edinburg on the 9th ult. The Theatre Royal was burnt to the ground. Adjoining was a large Roman Catholic church on which the walls fell and destroyed six lives, of persons who were either in it, or engaged in rescuing others from danger.

The members of the French Mission Board are hereby notified, that a meeting of the Board will take place (D. V.), at Hebron, on Tuesday, the 14th of Feb., at 2 o'clock.

Notice is also hereby given that the Board has

Bro. Saunders and his mission are commanded to the favorable regard of all who are interested in the cause of Christ among the French in those places. The French Mission has a history and shall have a future, and present indications are calculated to stimulate faith and hope in the hearts of its friends.

R. D. Porter, Secretary.

Hebron, Jan. 27th, 1865.

Associated Alumni of deadin College:

陸時間線	Thomas	allegins	4.00
44	D. M. W	Velton, transporter and transporter	8.00
94	I. E. Bi	Company of the second second second second second	4 00
1092	Dr. Cra	mp7.	2.00
42.86		int.	6.00
44.	David F	reeman	9.00
44	Theudo	reeman	200
拉機切	Dr. Pan	OFJ	4/00
44	C Rane		4.00
T. V	V. Nastin	P Pool Service Common and the Common	7 O
SB	rows Ma	A CONTRACTOR DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY OF TH	2.00
Jam	es Morso	Too.	0.00
Prof	CORPORTE STO	rains	4.00
2.45	100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100		1000 of 1 1