

fully conceded by myself. Respecting your closing remarks: If they are intended to affect myself I would simply say—If you knew all the circumstances, you would not, with your usual candour, have expressed yourself so. There are generally as you are aware, two phases to every question or disputed point—and as you well say, “differences of opinion will exist amongst men of intelligent, independent minds, and we see no objection to their giving expression to them for the purpose of eliciting truth.” I may now say—that person does not live who can truthfully charge me with ever exercising an undue or unfair influence over the independent mind of a single individual of any denomination! We have been defamed we know—and you may have been mystified. Moreover, changes of mind according to the measure of light received will occur, necessarily so, in this imperfect state of the Church of Christ—but you will hardly allow I imagine, the appellation—“unstable souls” to be indiscriminately applied to all those who have thought it right in their individual judgement to leave “open communion” for “close communion” principles, or, on the other hand to go from the latter to the former?

Independent thought and waiting upon God's guidance should control the mind, heart, life and actions of every true christian, and I think you will agree with me that we may well pause ere we apply any thing “objectionable” to a really earnest soul seeking light and following Jesus accordingly. Surely if our souls become filled with the love of Christ, and love to Christ, we shall find enough in Him, and through Him, and by Him (by the teaching of the Holy Spirit,) to love all his redeemed ones, to labour together for the good of souls, and to rejoice with each other in any real progress of the Gospel of our ascended Lord and Saviour! and be ready with the Apostle Peter to say, “Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous.”

That you and I my brother may be thus found “till Jesus comes” or calls us “HOME!” is the prayer of yours—in the fellowship of Jesus,

S. F. KENDALL.

UPPER AYLESFORD.—Mr. Editor,—It affords me pleasure to communicate to your numerous readers, that in answer to united prayer in the 4th Cornwallis Church, God has visited his people there, in strengthening that which remained, reclaiming the stray sheep, and converting souls to himself. Eleven have already been baptized, and more are expected to go forward soon. Yours truly, J. L. READ.

HILLSBOROUGH, ANNAPOLIS CO.—Rev. A. Martell informs us he has accepted the pastorate of the 1st Hillsborough Church and wishes his correspondence to be addressed to him there.

Mr. M. adds.—“Since I last addressed you seven others have united with the church, and the work of grace still progresses. Our meetings are full and very interesting. A large number have been converted to God, and many have been restored.”

WEYMOUTH.—Rev. Charles Randall writes May 16, “I am happy to inform you that the Lord is reviving his work even amongst us; both in Weymouth, and in New Tusket Churches, old professors have been quickened, some back-sliders have returned to their long neglected privileges, and quite a number have professed faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, principally among the young. I have already baptized 56 persons, 22 at Weymouth, and 34 at New Tusket, 24 of whom were baptized last Sabbath, and we confidently trust that the work is still progressing. To God be all the praise “not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit saith the Lord of Hosts.” In this we rejoice. We have for the most part been alone, among ourselves in these services. Our esteemed Brother John C. Morse was with us three days, and did good service, the Lord reward him for his labors of love; and our good Brother Normandy coming along preached once for us. But we believe the Lord has been with us, who often uses the most feeble means to accomplish his designs.”

FREDERICTON, N. B.—The Revival in Fredericton has added seventeen members to the Baptist Church of that City, and others are expected soon to come forward for baptism. The Sabbath School, under the superintendence of Professor Hopper, is also much quickened, and is in a more healthy state than it has been for years. We are informed that Rev. Mr. Langridge, of Pictou, N. S., is expected to visit Fredericton in July, by invitation, with a view to the pastorate.—Visitor.

THE SEASON in all parts of the country is a backward one. We hear from east and west that the late rains have been of great benefit to the grass. With a few warm days, vegetation will now soon make rapid progress and probably be none the worse for the late cool weather. The fruit trees will perhaps be none the more backward, if no late frosts come to nip the buds after the blossoms are formed.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTH-DAY is to be celebrated to-morrow by a review on the Common. It is expected that the Halifax Volunteers will be on the ground with the Regulars.

The Halifax street Railway we are informed is also to be opened for traffic to-morrow. It is said the cars will take passengers free the first day.

LICENSES TO SELL LIQUOR.—It appears that a large proportion of the retailers of liquor are selling in defiance of the law and of the city ordinances. The condition decided upon last year as necessary to enable them to sell liquor in connection with other articles—taking out an extra license, has, we are informed, only in a very few instances, been complied with. The rum traffic is a bad business and works sad mischief in all parties having to do with it—corrupting the fountains of justice and good order. It would be well if our civic authorities were more vigilant in its suppression. Some means should be devised to make the business pay for the injury it does. The whole charge of the police force would be but a small item of the burdens it imposes on the citizens. Halifax is not alone in these respects but it might be still very much improved if those in authority were disposed to carry out the law faithfully.

We were sorry to learn that Dr. Cramp, who has so long and successfully occupied the Presidency of Acadia College, had signified his desire to withdraw from that position; but are glad to state that in reply to Resolutions passed a few days ago, at a large meeting of the Governors, Scholarship-holders and friends of the College, that gentleman has decided to discharge the duties for another collegiate year.—Amherst Gazette.

Fishing Extraordinary!

CAPTURE OF A WHALE.—Amidst the many sensation stories about Fenianism and Confederation, please allow me a corner in your paper to change the scene by relating a fish story.

Unlike the ordinary “fish stories” drawn mainly from the imagination, mine shall be an authentic relation of the capture and death of a veritable whale.

On the 7th inst., as the parties in attendance on a fish weir belonging to John W. Roscoe, Esq., and others, on the shore of the Bay of Fundy about two miles above Halls Harbour in Cornwallis, when waiting the ebbing of the tide, they discovered that they had enclosed some huge marine monster, and true to the spirit of the times, fearing a raid of some kind, immediately flew to arms, equipping themselves with rifles, long knives fixed on poles and axes, but strategically avoided any demonstration until he was about taking the ground, when the murderous onslaught commenced, “horse foot and artillery.”

The battle raged furiously on both sides. The besieged “in raising himself up,” made the mighty afraid,” making, “the sea to boil like a pot.” The besiegers fearing that their prey might outlive their short opportunity, and yet flee to parts unknown, the low tides not allowing the water to leave the weir, after expending ammunition, charged with pikes and broad-axes, and after many deeds of daring and bravery succeeded in severing an artery from which the blood flowed with great violence, and poor fishy succumbed to disciplined force and superior numbers. On the rise of the tide he was towed in shore and secured. Upon examination it proved to be a male Whale of the true Greenland species measuring forty two feet in length, thirty feet around the largest part of the body, six feet around the root of the tail, and thirteen feet across its flukes. As of other great victories, the news soon spread and many were the visitors, curious to see the “Elephant” and ask questions. The captors were highly complimented for their prowess, and congratulated on their good fortune in securing their summer's pork cheaply. His mouth contained a large quantity of the true “whalebone” three feet in length. His blubber was from three to ten inches in thickness, very much resembling coarse, heavy, fat pork and quite as greasy. His skin was black, soft and smooth as India rubber, much like it in appearance and quite as destitute of scales. His mouth was totally destitute of any appearance of teeth, armed only with the “whalebone” a series of vertical plates standing like the teeth of a comb terminating in fringes, instead of points, and intended only, seemingly, to retain by straining from the water the minute animals on which the enormous being subsisted. He was considered a very fat and valuable fish. About six hundred gallons of oil have already been taken from him, supposed to be only about half his supply. The capture made quite a sensation here, and as it is considered a new branch of business and well calculated to make things slip along smoothly, it seems only justice to the enterprising fellows that we notice their spirit and encourage them to proceed.

THE MORMONS.—Trouble is brewing in Utah. General Sherman has written Brigham Young, cautioning him against allowing the murder of “Gentiles” with impunity, and says he will soon have regular troops in Utah. The Anti-Confederate ticket is as follows:—For the City—Troop and Thomson. For the County—Anglin, Cudlip, Coran and Robert Robertson. The Confederate prospects are very cheering, and every prospect of success. Great interest is being manifested on both sides. United States.

Jefferson Davis is to be tried in Virginia charged with overt acts of treason and forcible resistance to law by openly inciting acts of hostility against the United States authorities. Some of the leading Republicans are dissatisfied that he is not to be tried by special commission and that he is not charged with encouraging the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

THE SOUTH appears but little subdued. The following opinion is expressed by the Chicago Tribune:—“The entire Southern press is as boldly defiant in its treasonable utterances to-day as it was on the birth-day of secession. It still vigorously defends the right of secession. Its pulpit preaches that right. Its law-makers recognize it. Its people crown the graves of the Confederate dead as martyrs to a patriotic cause, and while some have the cunning to conceal, others have the effrontery to openly assert that their cause only lacks opportunity to make it a success.”
