

Travelling in Nova Scotia.

One of the principal elements of progress in any civilized country is the facility it affords of travelling from one part of it to another.

The daily coach to Kentville is generally what may be endured, but beyond Kentville and thence to Digby and Yarmouth, there is what professes to be a tri-weekly coach, but it is of such a character that travelling therein is a kind of purgatory, which should not be inflicted on the public except from dire necessity.

What then, we ask, is the effectual remedy? The only satisfactory reply is, the extension of the Railway from Windsor to Annapolis.

Amende.—In a recent issue of the Messenger we gave what we designed to be a resume of the proposal in Virginia for a union between the "Disciples" and the Baptists.

A friend kindly informs us that we were mistaken on this point; and supplies us with the means of correction in The British Harbinger.

NEWS SUMMARY.

By the arrival of the R. M. Steamer China, we have London dates to the 9th inst. The news is important. The Paris Conference was finally broken off.

The Reform Bill is still engrossing the House of Commons, but although the ministry have succeeded thus far, in sustaining their measure, with considerable modifications, it is quite uncertain whether they will be able to carry it through to maturity; at least during the present session.

Miss Soley, 5 years a Cripple, made to Walk and Rejoice by ROGERS & Co.'s WONDERFUL MEDICINE.

North River, Onslow, May 1st, 1866.

Messrs. Rogers & Co. :- About five years ago, my left knee began to swell and feel weak, and, at the same time, my health began to fail.

At last an ulcer broke out on my cheek, and my father took me to another Doctor and he doctored me for some time. He cured the ulcer, but he did not help my knee. Soon after that, I began to use your medicine. I had not taken them long until I began to get better, and I have been getting better ever since, and am now well.

This Lady writes us that she has not walked on her leg for five years. Rogers & Co.

The Bag thus fitted out and locked, should be hung up in such a position, that on the slightest alarm it may be at hand.
