

sonable correspondence or intrigues, live under suspicion and reproach. If he resists the power of the Crown, he must take his life in his hand, and be prepared, if he fails, for the ordinary penalties of treason, which men in all ages and in all countries encounter, whether the cause be good or bad. Imprisonment and banishment are the milder forms—the rope and the fusilade are the sterner alternatives. Your correspondent at Washington, who advises us to resist the law, and "cut away the apron-strings of the good old Mother Queen," will be secure in his study, whatever happens, even should we take his advice; but others who are to place their lives and properties at hazard, will perhaps ponder the matter soberly before they plunge their country into insurrection."

In discussing the "What then?" Mr. Howe remarks:

"There are three peaceful courses open to the people of Nova Scotia:

1. An appeal to the new Government and Parliament of England;
2. An attempt to revive the old Scheme of a Union of the Maritime Provinces; and
3. Negotiation with the Canadians for a readjustment of the terms upon which Nova Scotia was forced into Confederation.

While the public men of Nova Scotia, each acting in his appropriate sphere and according to his best judgement, are laboring to make things better by one or other of these modes, your correspondent, responsible to nobody, and far out of the reach of danger, advises us to make things worse—to throw off our allegiance, and brave the authority of our "good old Mother the Queen."—In fact, while Reverdy Johnston and Lord Stanley are fraternizing before the people of England, with professions of peace and amity, he would have us believe that we can set the two great nations they represent at war; and, before Nova Scotia has a gun mounted, a battalion on the field, or money, arms or ammunition provided, he would instigate us to defy the power of Great Britain, and write ourselves down the most egregious asses to be found upon this continent.

Let us suppose, for a moment, that we could set those two great nations at war, destroy a million of men and hundreds of millions of property, and double the taxation of both countries for a century to come. What Christian would do it if he could? I would not. But is it possible? No. If Nova Scotians were united to a man in such an enterprise, they would fail.

The present generation in the United States have had enough of war, which has devastated vast tracts of country, carried cripples into every street, mourning into every hamlet, and heavy taxation into every house. There is not a sane man on either side of the Atlantic who does not believe that if the government of the United States were to put out all its military strength, it could take these Provinces from England; but then every man of common sense knows also, that Great Britain, with a seaboard four or five times as extensive as that of France and the United States combined, with money, coal, iron, and labor cheaper than they are in the Republic, could cover the ocean with such a fleet of iron-clads and war vessels as the world has never seen, and make her great rival, if disposed to be aggressive, pay more for the Provinces than they would ever be worth.

Besides, the commercial and financial relations of these two great branches of the British family have grown to such a magnitude, and are so inseparably intertwined, that they cannot, if they would go to war. There was anger enough three years ago, but it has all subsided in presence of these great interests."

Mr. Howe names the above "three peaceful courses," but does not say which he chooses, or indeed, recommend either of them.

After speaking of the total ruin to our shipping and our country, which would follow such a course as that suggested by this United States correspondent, Mr. Howe closes by saying:

"Let us hear no more, then, of fanciful projects and impossible remedies, whether they come from imprudent people in our midst, or good natured friends beyond the borders. Nova Scotians have established some reputation for common sense; let us exert it, attempting only the possible. The future is in the hands of God, who has tried and may yet try us severely. Let us not forfeit his protection by follies, akin to madness; but resolutely set about—each in his own way and according to his gifts—the work that remains to be done, and that we can attempt without dishonor."

Mr. Howe informs "Acadia" that "treason and filibustering expeditions to tear the province to pieces are not included in his programme."

Mr. H. is taken to task for these utterances by some of his former friends, but by others he is warmly commended. We give the above for the information of our readers; but we do not feel called upon to express any opinion as to who are responsible for the dangerous utterances Mr. Howe here so deservedly reproves.

Subject:—The Progressive March of Human History.

WM. H. WARREN, Cor. Sec.

Acadia College, Oct. 24, 1868.

DEAR BROTHER,—Permit me to say to your readers that the "Theta" of "Missionary church Polity, &c." in your issue of Sept. 23rd, and the author of the Article "On Dress," in that of Oct. 7th, are not one and the same person.

Yours very truly,
ONE OF THEM.

THE APPETITE FOR TOBACCO DESTROYED!

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed, Tobacco!

One box of ORTON'S PREPARATION is warranted to destroy the taste for tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be. If it fails in any case the money will be refunded. It is almost impossible to break off from the use of tobacco by the mere exercise of the will. Something is needed to assist nature in overcoming a habit so firmly rooted; with the help of the Preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to be witness to the fact that ORTON'S PREPARATION completely destroys the appetite for tobacco and leaves the person as free from any desire for it as before he commenced its use. It is perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. The Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions affected by tobacco, and through these upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing the poison of tobacco from the system, and thus allaying the unnatural cravings for tobacco.

No more Hanking for Tobacco after using Orton's Preparation! Recollect it is Warranted! Beware of Counterfeits!

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the mult of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]
BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month,—I have made attempts to leave off at different times—I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure if the directions are followed.

W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5, 1867.
This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was completely cured. I have not had any hanking or desire for tobacco since using the Preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.

E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., March 34, 1868.
This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach; that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (Sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

ORGANS.

THE BEST.

THE CHEAPEST.

THE LOWEST IN PRICE.

THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN COMPANY manufacture not only the best and cheapest instruments in the greatest variety as to capacity and style, from plain to very elegant, but also the lowest priced organs of good quality which can be produced in America. They now manufacture three grades of organs, viz:

The Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organ.

The Standard of Excellence in their department, acknowledged the best instruments of their general class in the world. Every one bears on its name-board the trade mark, "MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGAN."

The Metropolitan Organ.

A new series of organs of great power, fine quality and much variety of tone. Elegantly and thoroughly made in every particular, and in general excellence second only to the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organ. Each one has the trade mark, "METROPOLITAN ORGAN."

The Mason & Hamlin Portable Organ.

Very compact in size; the interior always of the very best quality, but cases quite plain. Each one bears the trade mark, "MASON & HAMLIN PORTABLE ORGAN."

A Valuable Improvement

will be introduced in several styles of our Cabinet Organs a new and very beautiful invention combining several recent patents. From this date (October, 1868), it will be known as the Mason & Hamlin Improved Vox Humana or Fan Tremolo.

And excels every other attachment of this general class in the beauty of its effects, the perfect ease with which it is operated, its durability and freedom from liability to get out of order.

1. In connection with the Automatic Swell, (exclusively used in the M. & H. Cabinet Organs), it produces the nearest approach to the peculiarly sympathetic, rich and attractive quality of a fine human voice yet attained in any reed instrument.

2. It is operated by the ordinary action of the bellows of the instrument, and requires no separate pedal, being played by the same motion, and as easily as an instrument without it.

3. It has no clockwork or machinery, and is entirely free from liability to get out of order, and as durable as the instrument itself.
