DIGGING FOR MONEY.

"What are you digging for?" "I am digging for money." The news fled-idlers collected.

" Have you any luck ?"

"First-rate luck-pays very well-you had better take bold."

All doffed their coats and laid hold vigorously for a time. After throwing out some cart-loads, the question arose:

"When did you get any money?" "Last Saturday night." "Why how much did you get? "Four dollars and a half."

"Why, that's rather small." "It's pretty well-six shillings a day is the price for digging cellars, all over the

SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME.

A ready way of manufacturing this important manure is to break up the bones as fine as possible, and then place them in a wooden box or barrel. Water, equal to about one-sixth the weight of the bones, may next be added, well stirred in, and left for a day or two, to heat and ferment. Boiling water would be best for this purpose. Then add sulphuric acid, mixing well with a wooden spade (no metal should come in contact with the mixture) in the proportion of about forty pounds of acid to one hundred pounds of bones. Let it stand for about two weeks, stirring daily. If the mass is not then dry, add some absorbent, such as sawdust, dry earth or peat; but on no account use for this purpose lime or

Thus made, the compound will be a valuable manure, which may be kept for a long time without losing its strength; but it should be protected from exposure to SELECTING SEED CORN. - In those sections where corn can be profitably grown, it is well to be particular in selecting ears from the growing crop for next season's seed. The time to do it is just when the corn is ready to be cut. Choose the finest and largest ears from the strongest stalks, and particularly from stalks bearing two ears; the uppermost car is usually the best. See that the corn completely covers the cob from bottom to top, and is solidly laid together. Open out the husks, but do not detach them, and hang up the corn by them in a dry place, there to remain all winter. By thus selecting the very best ears, the corn crop on a farm may be greatly improved from year to year in productiveness and value.

A HOT SOUP SPRING .- The Boston Christian Era is responsible for the follow-

There is a hot spring in Elko on the line of Pacific Railroad, the water of which, when seasoned with pepper and salt, cannot be distinguished from the best chicken soup. Three pounds of beef boiled in the water of the spring yields as much soup as could be obtained from twelve pounds of the same meat cooked in common water. What next! we have the bread tree, the cow tree, the oyster plant, the beef steak plant, and now the bill of fare is extended by the discovery of actual chicken soup. Another advantage of this spring is that invalids too weak to retain food on their stomachs could be fed by a chicken broth bath. Absorption of chicken while lying in a hot bath would be a very pleasant way of dining.

CORNED BEEF .- The Scientific American informs the ladies that if they would have corned beef juicy after it is cold, and as dry as a chip, they should put it into boiling water when they put it on to cook, and they should not take it out of the pot, when done, until cold.

CEMENT FOR SEALING UP FRUIT .- Take of rosin and brick dust a sufficient quantity; after melting the one, stir in the other. Be careful and not put in too much rosin, or the cement will not hold, and see that . the brick dust is finely powdered.

A QUEER FACT .- In the next voyage of the Mayflower after she carried the libertyseeking Pilgrims to Plymouth, she was employed in transporting a cargo of slaves from Africa to the West Indies.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it. Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses. For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course. For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencles that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.
