

goeson and we know more of each other, although we may differ very much in opinion, for that I look upon as unavoidable, considering how God has constituted our understandings—but however much we differ in opinion, we shall at least know each other as servants of Christ, who care more for his service than for anything personal to ourselves; and that we shall endeavour, knowing each other's hearts; to work with each other as far as we conscientiously can with this confidence. Believe me, Mr. Dean, I feel certain that even those who have been opposed to me will before long, in many instances, be reckoned as my heartiest friends, because they will, at least, feel that if our understandings are apart, our hearts are together, and we shall be united by that which in the last resort is the one real tie that unites Christians—the love of our common Master."

This is a very happy termination, on Dr. Temple's part, of an unfortunate controversy. Those who have heretofore opposed him will now, it may be hoped, acknowledge his soundness in the faith, and give him the right hand of fellowship.

DONATION VISIT.

Mr. Editor,— Please permit me through the Messenger, to make grateful mention of the kindness of our people during the past year, evinced by their continued offerings for our temporal comfort from its commencement to its close. Money and other useful articles have come to us, very timely and in sufficient quantity to carry us comfortably through the old year and afford us a good commencement for the new. And "last but not least" allow me to make special mention of a barrel of excellent flour kindly placed at our door on New Year's eve by some unknown friend. Should this meet his eye we beg to assure him that his generous gift is highly appreciated, and that he has our best wishes and prayers. May God reward all the Donors with rich abundance of temporal and spiritual blessings.

Yours very truly, I. J. SKINNER. Chester, Jan. 29th 1870.

THE MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS ARE THE BEST.

As proved by the almost universal preference of musicians; the uniform award to them of highest premiums at Industrial Exhibitions, including the Paris Exposition, and a demand for them far exceeding that for any other instruments of the class. PRICES REDUCED.

The great demand for these celebrated instruments has enabled their manufacturers to so greatly increase their facilities for manufacture that they now offer them at prices of inferior work. Five Octave Organs, and Five Stops, Tremulant and Knee Swell, and the Mason & Hamlin Improvements, found in no other Organs, $125. Other styles in proportion.

A Testimony Circular, with the testimony in full to the superiority of these Organs, from a majority of the most eminent musicians in this country and many in Europe; also an Illustrated and Descriptive Circular, with correct drawings, descriptions and prices, will be sent free of all expense to every applicant. Any one having any idea of buying an instrument of any kind, should at least send for these circulars which will cost him nothing and contain much useful information. Addresses THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont St., Boston, or 596 Broadway, New York. Jan. 5.
