

shall do my part. Let every minister do the same, and Acadia shall not want for means to subsist upon at least."

Our brethren on P. E. Island have frequently shown their appreciation of Acadia College, and have in many cases availed themselves of its advantages.

We beg to offer our sincere condolence and sympathy to our respected neighbor MR. JAMES BARNES, proprietor of the Presbyterian Witness, on the loss of his excellent wife, who died on Monday last week. The editor of the Witness remarks:

"She had been for months prostrated by the illness which at last proved fatal; and she bore it from first to last with unshaken firmness, good courage, faith, patience, and perfect resignation to the Divine Will. Her Saviour whom she had served for many years, she trusted without fear and without reserve. Her last words, uttered a few minutes before the close of life, were words of faithful counsel to her children, commending to them the Lord Jesus whom she had found so precious in her hours of trial. Mrs. Barnes will long be mourned and missed by many who appreciated her meek womanly virtues elevated by a consistent christian life.—R. M.

Some over zealous pedobaptist writers in the United States, and afterwards some in other places have tried to make mischief among Baptists from the circumstance of Rev. Mr. Pentecost, acting irregularly in administering baptism to Miss Smiley, and then the Lord's Supper to her and others. They have sought to give the impression that he, Mr. P., represented the sentiment which was beginning to prevail more generally than it formerly did. We find however that the Hanson Place Baptist Church, of which he was then pastor, are unwilling to have an incorrect impression given of the views they hold respecting this matter, and have passed the following resolutions by way of protection:

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, We, as Baptists, regard infant baptism and baptism in any other form than by immersion as the great errors in Pedobaptist churches; and

Whereas, The ordinances of baptism and the Lord's supper, as observed by Baptists, furnish the strongest protest against the prevalent errors on these important questions,

Resolved, That this church adheres to the expression of its faith as heretofore adopted:

"That Christian baptism is the immersion of a believer in water, in the name of the Father, Son, and Spirit, to show forth in a solemn and beautiful emblem, our faith in a crucified, buried, and risen Saviour, with its purifying power; that it is prerequisite to the privileges of a church relation, and to the Lord's Supper, in which the members of the Church, by the use of bread and wine, are to commemorate together the dying love of Christ, preceded always by solemn self-examination; and that no unbaptized person is entitled to the privilege of coming to the Lord's table.

Send on early the names of New Subscribers for 1873, so that they may have the benefit of the remainder of 1872 for nothing.

NEW BRUNSWICK ITEMS—THE BRUSSELS STREET CHURCH have made their new pastor Rev. W. Everett, a donation visit in the shape of a purse containing some $110, in addition to provisions, coal, and numerous articles of household furniture. Brethren Bjll, Carey, and Boggs were present and offered congratulations to the pastor and his people. We indulge hopes of great good from the settlement of Brother Everett amongst his own people.

We learn from the Visitor that the St. John City Mission Union held their regular monthly meeting in German St. Vestry, on Tuesday evening, the 12th inst. It was a delightful time. Their Missionary, Miss Jenks, presented a report of the month's labours, that gladdened all hearts."

AN EDUCATIONAL MEETING, called by circular, is to be held in the German Street Church, St. John, on the 5th of December to take into consideration, the educational interests of the denomination with special reference to the Endowment of Acadia College. The Editor of the Visitor remarks in reference to the meeting:

"It is of the utmost importance that there should be, at this meeting, a large representation of our churches: as this question of Education, both as it relates to our Seminary at Fredericton, and to other Educational enterprises, must be taken up in earnest and some definite policy adopted."

The Duke of Belfast has intimated his intention to present to the town of Belfast, a marble statue of the immortal John Bunyan.

The opinion was pretty prevalent a week or two ago, that Halifax was to escape a severe visitation of the Horse Disease, but last week that illusion was dispelled, and all the owners of horses became quite concerned to find their horses, one after another, beginning to cough and droop, till on Friday and Saturday a horse was sought in vain, except for the most urgent demands, and in some cases at most exorbitant rates. Cabmen, truckmen and private owners were very much alike, and in many cases it became painful to witness the poor animals laboring under loads they were unable to draw. Those who had any proper consideration for their horses, kept them shut up in their stables under treatment, and refused to work them. On Saturday parties wishing to get to the Railway Depot had to walk, or defer their travelling till Monday. Yesterday being a fine clear day more were found on the street. The City Railway Company suspended operations, except to bring parties from the Railway Depot, having about 50 or 60 horses all sick. Several valuable horses, as well as a number of poor half-starved ones have died.

For the benefit of our friends in the country who may have a visit of the disease to their horses we insert a couple of paragraphs from our exchanges have reference to the proper treatment:

The disease is not in itself of a fatal nature. It is simply a catarrh or influenza, accompanied with more or less fever. To effect a cure in most cases it is only necessary to order absolute rest, give warm mucilaginous drinks, and bathe the feet and legs with warm water, at the same time covering the body with blankets. A horse suffering from this complaint is not likely to eat much food, but such as is offered him should be thoroughly cooked, and ought to be pure meal. In connection with this treatment there should be used substances to purify the atmosphere and neutralize malarious elements. The best articles to accomplish this end are sulphurous acid and carbolic acid—the former is the cheapest and most readily accessible, and is produced from common coppers scattered upon the stable floors, emitting sulphurous acid, and acting as an effectual disinfectant. As a preventive these chemicals are also of much value, not only at the present time of danger, but at all times, for there are few stables wherein gases deleterious to health are not generated by the want of proper cleansing.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writes from Quebec:

"During my stay at Quebec it has so happened that I have employed one man's carriages several times. In going between the upper and lower towns and about the suburbs it is a constant custom to ride; well, while the disease is noticed upon the larger proportion of horses in the caleches, wagons and drays, I noticed that this man's horses were not affected, and there were eight in his stable. I several times asked him how it was that he escaped; at length to-day he told me as follows: He says when the disease broke out at Montreal he stopped giving any of his horses cold water; that he boiled it all, and making a thin gruel of whatever grain or shorts he used he gave it to the animals with not only the chill off but partially warmed. It is not pretended that the disease was cured by this treatment for none of these eight horses have been attacked; but the fact is here, they are in one stable in Quebec, and while horses are suffering all around them, these are not; at least they have not yet been."
