CHRISTIAN MESSENGER. THE

Giver of all good, that your life is spared, and that your health is improving. Oh Nellie ! I hope and pray that our gracious God may lead you to realize how great is His goodness to you ; and that the remainder of your life may be devoted to His service.

Bro. Bleakney having commenced his labors in Woodstock before his wife went thither, wrote to her July 11, 1871 :--

My dear loved and loving wife, I can not express my feelings on paper while I ad. dress a few lines to one so dear to me. Suffice it to say, you are in my daily thoughts. I sincerely hope I live only first to serve my God ; and next to make you happy, or to make your life as happy as I can. This only makes me happy. May our heavenly Father grant that the remainder of our lives may be both loving and lovely; and in death may we not be divided !

The people here were delighted with the Address of the Dorchester Church. I shall reply in Christian Visitor soon, thanking them for their expressions of affection for me and mine. There is much work to be done here. May the Lord aid us in doing it, so that He may be glorified ! I preached four times last Sabbath-hope good was done. Give my love to all the friends [in Dorchester.] If you have an opportunity to tell them publicly, say to them, that they are on my heart : I pray for them daily, and for the Lord to give them a Pastor after His own heart, and greatly to revive them. Your loving husband, T. BLEAKNEY.

It may be remembered, in conclusion, that our departed Brother was undoubtedly

Over a thousand operatives have mark, in the black sand of the sea shore ; but the shortness of the time allowed the miners between the ebb and flow of the tides, and the great distance over which the Spanish Government in his clemency the auriferous sand has to be conveyed, have hitherto deferred speculators from entering into any scheme for obtaining the precious metal from this source. It is estimated that under the new plan a hundred tons an hour can be raised.

ENGLAND.

The Treaty and the Conference upon it, are still causing considerable uneasiness to the governments concerned and in commercial circles. Each d y's telegrams make some mention of enquiries in the British Parliament, shewing that the public are much concerned in its provisions and ultimate adoption. It was reported that England had abandoned the Treaty, but on Friday it was under discussion in the House of Lords and Earl Granville refused to give a satisfactory reply to a question asked in reference thereto. He said the British Government had not abandoned the consideration of the Treaty, and negotiations were still in progress.

News of the Week.

THE SEASON .- June has at length put i an appearance, yet there are but few of the indications in vegetable life of the season being so far advanced. The wet weather has delayed agricultural operations, and gardening is some weeks later than usual. There is a fine field for patience and hope We sympathize with the farmers in thei difficulties. Whilst there may be much to cause anxiety there will doubtless be some compensations which will be afterwards discovered, giving confidence that an overruling Providence is wisely ordering all our affairs, and will still make all things work together for good.

The Strait of Canso is at length declared clear of ice. The oldest inhabitant can hardly remember its remaining so long. before taking its departure to southern latitudes to cool off the waters of the Gulf stream. The southerly winds of the past week have still indicated that either ice, or water nearly as cold, lingers around our coasts, and render the atmosphere out of doors chilly and uncomfortable, and fires. still a necessity in-doors.

On Thursday last two young women. Mary Spencer and Pauline Saunders, were arrested upon a charge of stealing money from a man at Horton, they were handed over to a constable from Kentville, to be taken there for trial a man of genuine piety, of sound doctrinal and practical views, and endowed with preaching talents above mediocrity. His faithful and plain enunciation of truth, and his affectionate and impressive mode of address, were well adapted, by the Divine blessing, to inform the understanding, and to move the affections. His ministerial course was indeed short; but it was obviously attended with highly beneficial results.

KENTVILLE seems to have a bad preeminence in Drankenness, and of course other nuisances must follow. Surely it does not hold " the most disreputable postion of any place in the Dominion of Canada" as to Drunkenness.

May all his survivors who enjoyed the privilege of listening to his discourses, profit lastingly thereby !

JAMES BEZANSON, SENR.,

died at Hammond's Plains, May 16th, in his 59th year. It is due to his memory and his many friends that a brief notice be given of his useful life and happy death. Our departed brother in early life experienced a "good hope through grace" and publicly avowed his attachment to the Saviour, but on account of a variety of circumstances did not unite with the church. In every respect however he filled the place, so far as possible, of a member. His voice was frequently heard in the social meetings and at the family altar. His house was a home for ministers and his contributions towards the support of the gospel liberal. During the past winter his health declined, and for a few weeks previous to his death he was confined to his room. It was worth much to hear him expr. ss his firm reliance in the precious Saviour, and his perfect resignation to His will. He had experienced the comforting influences of the gospel in form. er trials, for he had followed to the grave several members of his family, and felt that the same strong arm would sustain him to the end. He was not disappointed. for of him it can be truly said-His end was peace. The community has lost a useful member-the family a kind father but he has fought the battle and gained the victory.-Com.

UNITED STATES.

There seems but little expectation in the United States that the Treaty will be accepted by Great Britain. A Washington special states that despatches have been received from Mr. Schenck that the British Government ask an explanation of Senate amendments to the supplemental treaty. They disapprove of the proposed modifications, and say it is impossible to accept the Senate substitution.

Secretary Fish replied that the recommendations of the Senate were conclusive, and the President would not consent to the slightest change, and that further delay of the British Government to accept the Senate | rica. proposition will defeat the treaty.

The London special correspondent of the "World" says the British Government consider that negotiations with the American Government in regard to the Treaty of Washington have failed; and will inform Parliament that they will withdraw from the Geneva Arbitration.

The telegram of Friday last that gentlemen in high official position being unable to otherwise account for England's reluctance to accept it, express the opinion that her conduct is marked by insincerity, and that she has reverted to position she occupied on the 25th of April. when General Schenck informed Secy. Fish that it was probable that Government would take such a course as would put an end to arbitration at Geneva, and to the Treaty.

Although all hope of an arrangement is not, abandoned, yet some of the earliest friends of the treaty now express themselves indifferent with regard to its fate, considering that concessions have been made by the United States to the fullest extent.

Mr. Sumner delivered a long speech in the Senate on Friday, concerning arbitration as a substitute for war between nations. The N.Y. Herald says it was a savage arraignment of the President, and the bitterness which is evidently provoked by a sense of personal provocation, will weaken

In the House of Commons, Mr. Gladstone promised Mr. Disraeli a satisfactory reply as soon as the American Congress adjourned.

A sensation was created in the House of Commons on Tuesday last by the bold proest of Tom Hughes against horse-racing, and the usual adjournment of Parliamen: for the Derby Races. Mr. Gladstone moved that the House adjourn until Thursday, Mr. Hughes pointed out the fact that the House only adjourned two hours on Ascension Day, for Divine Worship, and now proposed to adjourn 24 hours for the Derby. The English race-course, he said, had introduced the most corrupt and insidious system of gambling. While opposed to this species of anuscment, he believed in manly sports like International boat-races, and cricket; and thought they should be encouraged.

The adjournment was carried 212 to 58. Mr. Hughes was received with ironical cheers and laughter.

On Friday last we had a terrific storm of thunder and rain. The quantity of water that fell was something fearful. The drops were like fifty ordinary drops blended in one coming down for a short time with immense force.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.-The Truro Sun deserves credit for exposing the inhumanity of certain parties in bringing cattle and other live animal, to market by railway. There is no doubt but the quality of the food from such animals as are allowed to suffer for a length of time before being killed, is deteriorated ; but independently of such a utilitarian view, the wickedness of causing unneccessary suffering should be publicly condemned and its continuance prevented.

A HORSE THIEF SHOT .- Capt. S. P. Raymond's barn at Brookville, about fifteen miles from the town of Yarmouth, was broken into on the night of Tuesday last and his horse, carriage and harness stolen. In passing through the gate the shalts of the carriage were broken, and the thief disengaging it from the harness, went to the barn of the next neighbor, Capt. Gullison, and took another carriage. The thief, a colored man who has served a term in the Penitentiary, was traced to Pubnico and H Harris, Esq., M. D., to Miss Evelina A, arrested. The thief had a pistol with daughter of Joseph R. Raymond, Esq., of which he attempted to shoot the constable. who, eluding the shot, fired with a pistol at the prisoner, the ball lodging in the right breast. The prisoner was conveyed to Yarmouth, and lodged in jail. The wound inflicted on the prisoner is said not to be a very dangerous one. On Wednesday the stolen horse and carriage were found on the Argyle road without a driver.

It is often remarked by strangers visiting our State, that we show a larger proportion of good horses, than any other State in the Union. This, we tell them, is owing to two principal reasons : in the first place, we breed from the very best stock; and in the second place, our people use Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders which in our judgement, are of incalculable advantage.

He has since enjoyed good health, and for the last two years has not required medicine of any kind.

The surprise was complete ; for the trout swallowed all the gold fish, and then calmly turned over on its dorsal fin and died of indigestion.
