One of the first questions of the age is, undoubtedly, national education in its relation to the ministers of religion, or as they are called by Papists, and High Anglicans, priests. The Church of Rome has always asserted its right to control and to direct the education of the nations, and until recently this right was recognised by most Roman Catholic governments. But a mighty reaction from this tame submission to such a bondage has taken place in most of the leading Catholic Powers of the world. Italy no longer bows her neck Pope's right arm ; nor does Germany ; nor unhappy distracted Spain; nor even France. In these countries, where for many ages, by special concordats with Rome, the public schools were under control of the priests, national education is now regulated by the civil power, and priests have little if any right of direct interference. This is a tremendous gain to the cause of national liberty and progress, and a fatal blow to apsolutism and superstition.

Unfortunately, while Popish countries have generally advanced on this question, we in England have recently retrograded, and that, too, under the leadership of a professedly Liberal Government ! The official returns conclusively show what we have so repeatedly asserted, that the two ly all the pecuniary fruits of this blundering legislation, are Papists and Anglicans. We have the consolation of knowing that a it possible for the inculcation of the wor- mand. ship of the Virgin Mary, of purgatory, of confession to a priest, of penance, and of the real presence, to be paid for out of the public rates, and that hundreds of pounds are now actually paid annually out of such rates for the maintenance of schools in different parts of the country, we are assured, are in hearty sympathy with us in such desire, and would be glad to send us on New Subscribers, by ones, mill. or by tens, or by the hundred. We have frequent evidence of this, and commonly have a large accession to our list of Subscribers about the commencement of the New Year. We have sometimes had so many at such seasons that, as we did not know beforehand, and did not prepare for so many, have been unable to supply them from the to the yoke ; nor does Austria, so long the first of the year. Now, to remedy this difficulty, and as an inducement to parties to send on their names early, coal. we propose to any New Subscribers who send their subscription for the Christian Messenger for 1874, any time from this date, we will put their names on our list as soon as received by us, and make NO CHARGE FOR THE PAPERS SENT TO THEM DURING THE PRESENT

We appeal to the kind consideration of all our present Subscribers in this matter, and would be greatly obliged to them if they would make this known to their friends and neighbours without parties which have hitherto pocketed near- delay, so that as many as possible may have the full benefit. We shall thus be able from week to week to print professedly Liberal Government has made additional numbers to supply the de-

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East " and " The West." One is view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory.
