Wesleyan Ministers of Halifax and Dartmouth.

It has been intimated by one of our contemporaries that a Baptist Manifesto would appear on this subject this week. We beg to say that we believe nothing of the sort is contemplated. The following resolution, which is enough, was adopted at our late Convention.

1 Resouved, That the Convention tender its hearty congratulations to the friends of free education in New Brunswick, on the success which has crowned their zealous and united efforts, whereby the designs of the advocates of sectaring education at the public expense have been defeated.

2. Resolved, That in view of the avowed determination of certain organs of ultramontane opinions, in defiance of the will of the people to effect the overthrow of the non-sectarian school systems of the Maritime Provinces, as well as in view of the alleged fact that in some parts of Nova Scotia the School Law of that Province is openly disobeyed, a Committee be appointed, to watch the proceedings of the opponents of free education, and to take such steps as may tend to the exposure and removal of abuses.

Our brethren are well acquainted with the issues now before the country, and as there has been no new act on the part of our authorities calling for approval or condemnation, our readerwill not combine to uphold or defeat them, but will in each county go to the polls and give an intelligent manly vote in accordance with their wellknown principles.

Foreign Missions.

The following letter, addressed by Mrs. Churchill to the Mission Band connected with the Sunday School, Brussels Street, St. John, N. B., is so deeply interesting and excellent that we gladly defer the publication of extracts from other letters recently received, and copy this document from the Visitor, for the benefit of our Sunday Schools in this Province:

TO THE MISSION BAND.

My Dear Young Friends,-I am very much pleased to hear that you have established a Mission Band among you, and commenced to work for the poor heathen. We may well call them poor heathen, and you would think the name quite applicable if you could take a walk with me a few yards from our Bangkok home. You would there see that everything which we in civilized lands call comfort is absent. No pleasant house in which to live, only bamboo sheds, not at all to be enmpared with any of the outhouses in which our animals live at home, with no floors except the ground, and this, in the rainy season, which is now upon us and which continues six months, becomes miry, and in some huts we saw the water stand- subscription to the end of 1874 ing four and six inches deep. And all around these houses the place is swampy and the water never dries up for these six months. It is full of frogs which crosk fearfully after every rain, and is very often covered with a green, slimy substance, and you can imagine how very badly, it smells, In passing these places, which we have to do most every time we go out anywhere, I breathe as seidom as possible; as we cannot talk to the people we have no occasion. to go into their houses yet. They have no nice soft beds to lie on when they are sick, only a kind of platform rai-ed up a foot or two above the ground, made of bamboo, which aprings a little when they lie on it, some have a straw mat spread over this, some have nothing. Then as to clothes, the children do not wear any till they are 8 or 10 years old, and the men have only a to this the women sometimes wear a narrew scarf over their shoulders. Their food con- and in the annual report. sists chiefly of rice, fish, and cheap fruits, which they eat out of a dish made of a large leaf folded up, using fingers for knives, Salary. forks, and spoons.

Now, don't you think they are Poor flict we must have sooner or later. Papal enough? But this is only physical poverty; Syllabus and Glebe House Pastoral indicate their mental and spiritual poverty is even the coming struggle. Let the question be worse than this. If they were only animals at once settled. To all tinkering and tam- we could not help pitying their dirty, unpering with the free, broad and generous comfortable, and suffering condition, for a system of Public Education there must be great many of them are sick, and many an end. The voice of the people must be have bad running sores on them, but when heard with a meaning that cannot be mis- we know they have minds to cultivate and souls that will live forever, our hearts are To this noble, beneficent Provincial Act drawn out in deepest sympathy for their floor when no European sees them, nice We carnestly advise that each Candidate | places to sleep, and good food to eat; but on the day of nomination, whatever his there are hundreds of thousands in this city party or his politics, be distinctively of Bangkok living in just the condition I have described. The higher classes, of whom there are few compared to the masses, have schools provided for them, and there is a chance at the heathen temple for all the boys to learn to read, but neither parents nor children care for learning, so a great many never go, and the girls are not taught anything, so you may know they have few thoughts, and their minds are very, very dark.

Then the story of Jesus, leaving his glorious home above, and coming down to earth to soffer, bleed, and die, to prepare a beautiful happy home for us by-andby, they have never heard; the simplest thing about God, heaven, and hell, which you were taught when very young children, they know nothing about. They think when they die they will be changed into a dog or snake, or some other animal, so they never kill anything, not even anis, for they think these were once people and may by again, and they may revenge themselves in some other state of existence. Of course there are some desperadoes who will take the life of anything, but these oftener kill men and children, than dogs or animals for food. Their fish they say they do not kill, they only take them out of the water and they die themselves. I have seen a large fish caught and tied to a boat, and left part in part out of the water till it would die.

These people have no Sabbath ; every day is alike, except some times in the year are more sacred than others; then more reople are seen at the temple, prostrating themselves before the idols and offering them gifts of flowers, strips of paper or cloth, cut in fanciful shapes, money, or food, or burning meense sticks, or wax candles before

Now, dear young friends, when you have so many things to make this life pleasant and happy, and are taught every Sunday how you may prepare for that far happier home after death, I want you to think often of these poor children and men and women, and pray often for them, too, that the Lord would incline their hearts to the missionary when he teachers them; for they are very careless people, and don't want to be any better then they are. am glad you are at work in your band to raise money to help send the gospel to them. Do all you can, dear children, and by-and-by when we got our mission realty these poor children to teach and take care of, and then, perhaps, you can raise money enough to support one all the time, and it will be your own little heathen child to name, support, and save, if the Lord blesses the means use i.

If you like to get letters from the missionaries, and write to me, ask me any happy to write again, for I love missions bands. Yours very truly, M. F. CHURCHILL. Bangkok, Siam, Aug. 28, 1874.

In a letter to Dr. Cramp, dated Aug. 3rd, Miss Enton says, " The Lord has sent us seven new pupils to-day. Our School now numbers nine. With the additional work, additional grace will be required. May He enable us to be faithful to each one !"
