

Cities.	Per cent. over 20 years, unable to write.	Per cent. over 20 years.	Per cent. over 20 years, unable to read.	Per cent. over 20 years.
Halifax, N. S.	19.3	3.0	4.8	1.8
St. John, N. B.	18.1	4.4	6.6	2.2
Quebec	17.1	14.7	10.5	3.2
Montreal	16.7	13.9	10.6	3.2
Toronto	18.6	2.0	3.2	3.2

These results reveal the fact that Halifax stands first in the proportion of its population at school, whilst Toronto stands first in the number of its people who are able to read and write. Montreal is the lowest, Quebec being nearly the same, in the number of its population at school, and in their ability to read—about one tenth of the people being in that unfortunate condition, that they cannot read—whilst Montreal has 13, and Quebec has 14 in every 100 who cannot write.

Here is food for reflection, which our governments would do well to take in and digest, so as to be prepared to adopt such measures as may appear severally necessary under the circumstances.

THE TEMPERANCE CRUSADE like all great moral movements has a very simple basis and one which can hardly be called in question as efficient ground on which to operate. Here it is:

First, That intemperance is the great evil of the times.

Second, That it is especially a great evil in this town or city.

Third, That it can be eradicated by this method if persistently adhered to.

Whilst prohibition is held to be the ultimatum, yet it is admitted that this cannot be expected till the moral sentiment of the people is raised and strengthened to render such a law effective. As woman is the principal sufferer it is not to be wondered at that women should be ready to do whatever may offer a chance of removing the dreadful evil.

Henry Ward Beecher has given his approval of the crusade in his usual vigorous and scathing language.

He says, "There is no evil that cries aloud in more voices to Heaven for suppression than intemperance. —While it is peculiarly deleterious in individuals, it is murrain and blight in families. It has defied legislation, and moral force has not overcome it, but now, in the providence of God, there has risen this cyclone of influence."

"Is a woman to stand still in an everlasting waiting? Her first sphere is home undoubtedly, but when she feels that her domestic relations are affected has she no right to move? Has she no right to combine and exert her power? Is there any other than the ruin evit that so spreads nets for her husband's and son's feet? If Dante had lived in the present day he would picture a pure, proud woman tempted into wedlock with a libidinous, drunken knave, who has a right to her society, her table, her couch. She must live in the presence of a total hog. No greater suffering can be conceived. Has such a woman no right to rebel? May vipers crawl in and out of their homes and nobody be allowed to tread on them? He added that he was not attempting to speak critically of the movement or saying in what channels it may run; he was only contending that no popular movement ever had a greater or more righteous cause, and it deserves prayer and countenance. It is a great pity that the force of this women's movement cannot be economized. If this movement could be transferred to the churches it would gain a perpetuity. As to the right of women to pray down a man's business, Mr. Beecher thought it was natural that there should be a difference of opinion, but if a man was running from a burning building only a fool would remind him to turn out his ties as the dancing masters teach. So the women may carry their point by indiscretions here and there, but such things are inseparable from any great movement.

THE LATE DEAN BULLOCK.—But few men have been better known in Halifax for the last 25 years than the Rev. William Bullock, dean of St. Luke's. Devoted to the interests of the Church of England, he was much respected by all classes in the community, for his genial spirit, and his readiness to exchange a kind word and do a kind act to any with whom he came in contact. He was most diligent in visiting the parishioners of St. Luke's, especially if any were sick and desired his ministrations. He had just completed his 78th year, and had been upwards of 51 years in the ministry of the Church of England. Previous to this he was a midshipman in the British Navy, and was always pleased to be regarded as a British sailor. He had been failing for only a few weeks and died on Saturday last.

The appointment by the Dominion Government of three barristers reported in our columns last week as a Court for trying Disputed Elections to the Dominion Parliament in this province, has elicited much discussion in the public press. The neglect of the Local Government to appoint three Judges of the Supreme Court for this purpose is charged upon the administration as a dereliction of duty. The Government organs defend the appointment by stating that the disputed elections to the Dominion Parliament was not a matter which the Local Government should have anything to do with.

It is contended that for such important functions as deciding upon the validity of an election to Parliament partizan barristers are not fully competent. In all the other provinces the Courts for this purpose are composed of Judges. The Toronto Globe has expressed a strong opinion on the subject.

INVESTIGATION.

The persistence of the Presbyterian body has induced the government to appoint a commission to visit Antigonish, and take evidence in the case of the three magistrates in that locality, Messrs. Archibald McGillivray, Hugh McLellan, and Angus McIsaac, charged by the Pictou Presbytery with misconduct in connection with the Chigniqui riot last summer. Mr. J. W. Johnston is the Commissioner appointed by the Local Government, and Mr. W. A. Johnston is to act as counsel for the Presbytery.

The investigation closed on Saturday night. Eight of the rioters were bound over to appear for trial in the Supreme Court.

A telegram from Antigonish to the Chronicle says:—

On Saturday night a window in the photographic saloon of Mr. Robertson, a witness, was smashed. Jonathan Gass, another witness, was pursued on the street on the same night by a party connected with the riot.

We have been obliged to lay aside several articles already in type to admit the Address of the Committee of Convention in another column.

Just as we go to press we have some additional "good news," which we must reserve for our next.

The next Quarterly Meeting will be held with the Baptist church at Three Rivers commencing Friday the 20th of March, 1874. Preaching at 7 o'clock, P. M. As there is a certain subject under consideration, and is to be discussed there and then, it is desirable that all our ministering brethren on the Island and delegates from our churches should be there.

JOHN SHAW.

Three Rivers, Feb. 2nd, 1874.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

I acknowledge the following acknowledgments made during the past winter by the people here at our own residence, Victoria, Dec. 3rd. One hundred dollars, fifty of which was in cash. A few weeks later at the residence of Captain Joseph Harris, Margaretville, sixty-seven dollars nearly all cash, this is not counted in the minister's salary. For this and many other expressions of kindness from the people here, I would offer my sincere thanks.

J. A. MOORE.
Victoria, March 2nd, 1874.

Dear Bro. Selden,—Allow me through your valuable paper, to thank our friends of this Church and congregation for the friendly visit which they made us on the evening of Jan. 29th. After an excellent tea provided by the ladies of this place; good music, and speeches, the hour came to separate when they left with us the amount of about forty dollars.

Yours truly,
W. L. PARKER.

SHIPBUILDING it appears will be carried on in N. S. this summer with more than usual activity. Our country exchanges in every direction speak of keels being laid and preparations made for new vessels and ships of large size.

Crime is not allowed to go scot-free in Annapolis county. The Farmer reports the number of commitments for last year as five for larceny, one for bigamy and one for assault, whilst thirteen were incarcerated for the misfortune of being in debt.

A CENTENARIAN.—Jerry Johnston, an old resident of Liverpool, N. S., has just died, aged 105. During the war of 1812 Jerry, with others, made their escape in a boat down Chesapeake Bay, and were received on board the British fleet under Admiral Cochrane and taken to Halifax.

The Cape Breton Times reports the death of a man named Jerry Fielding from alcoholic stimulants and exposure to the weather.

THE EAST INDIA REMEDY is the only thing upon record that positively cures CONSUMPTION and BRONCHITIS. Dr. GATES, Dear Sir.—I suffered two years with Asthma—I suffered day and night I purchased every remedy that I could hear tell of, but all to little or no purpose; the more I took of doctor's medicines, such as powders, &c., the worse I got, and they left me so weak that I could scarcely walk. I expected to suffer the rest of my days; but, thanks to Gates' Life of Man Bitters and Syrup, I am completely recovered my health, strength, and spirits. My friends, my physician, and myself, are confident that it is owing solely to the use of your wonderful Life of Man Bitters and Syrup that this happy result has come to pass; and I shall ever gratefully acknowledge it; and am now and will be at all times ready to state any further particulars to satisfy the public that my assertions are true in every respect.
