Our Brethren in Sweden.

We have much pleasure in complying with the very modest request of Rev. K. O'Broady, by the insertion of his letter in another column. He has for the past ten years been laboring in connection with the Baptist Theological Seminary at Stockholm in Sweden, and it is pretty evident by the contents of said letter that his labor has not been in vain. We have often been pained to learn of the disabilities our brethren in that northern nation of Europe have had to endure for Christ's sake, and have since been rejoiced at the large success that has followed the preaching of the gospel there. This effort on behalf of which Mr. B. is now on a visit to the United States, to secure a permanent Fund for the support of their Institution must commend itself to every one, and will, we doubt not, meet with large encouragement in the sad of all the valuable commodities they have sent to the Centennial Exhibition. Our worthy brother in a private note remarks, "All that you thus kindly do for us will be done as unto God, because we seek nothing by these our efforts but the building up of His Kingdom and the salvation of May God speed their work!

LOCAL NEWS.

Melancholly and Fatal Accident.

The uncertainty of life has been very strikingly shown of late, in several instances, by our citizens being taken off without a moment's warning. Another case occured early on Sunday morning last in our harbour. It appears that on Saturday Obed Smith, the bow oarsman of the Fishermen crew, and his brother Mark Smith came to Halifax from Sambro in their boat—a large forecastle whaleraccompanied by two smaller boats, in one of which was Jas. Tough and his wife, and in the other John Tough and William Quirk. They made some purchases in town, and prepared to return home in the evening, but as there was no wind they were obliged to wait until about three o'clock on Sunday Morning, when a slight breeze sprang up, which, with the tide going out, enabled them to make a start. James Tough's boat being very full Mrs Tough went with the Smiths, in the boat which was larger and had a cabin under the forecastle deck. The large boat felt the wind more than the smaller ones and kept some little distance ahead. When a little below George's Island Mark called Obed Smith to come on deck and he climbed on to the forecastle deck and saw a large steamer bearing down on them. He saw that it would be impossible to get his boat out of the way in time, as the wind was so light, and he shouted out "stop that steamer," and rushing to the cabin he seized a brand of fire from the stove there and went on deck with it, waving it over his head to attract the attention of those on board the steamer; then, seeing the steamer was right on them, he ran forward and tried to fend off from her with his hands, but was too late, as the steamer struck the boat on the quarter, breaking her into three pieces. The masts fell and the mainsail covered Mark Smith near the helm, so that, he was unable to do anything to save himself ere the boat sunk. Obed Smith got clear of the wreck and was heard to call out, "Save me, I cannot swim." Life buoys were thrown from the steamer, but he must have gone to the bottom almost instantly.

Mrs. Tough was thrown overboard by the force of the collision, and with great presence of mind seized some floating boards and managed to keep herself house of Rev. Mr. Moore, Roman Cathoafloat until rescued by John Tough and lic Priest, locked the front door and Wm. Quirk, who came up in their whaler. A boat was lowered from the steamer—the Nova Scotian, Capt. Richardson, from Baltimore, -and Mrs. open a closet near the altar, from which Tough taken on board and brought to they took silver candle-sticks, and the city. The steamer was in charge of various other articles, and broke them Thomas Holland the pilot, a brother of up. They then left the church and of freestone. Jerry Holland the trainer of the Centennial Fishermen Crew.

Mrs. Tough says she was thrown overboard by the force of the collision, and heard no cries from the two men. She seized a piece of wood with her hands which, with the help of her clothes, floated her. Her husband came up a few minutes after in the other boat. Capt. Richardson reports that there were two men on the look-out forward with the first officer. At 3 30 one of the men on the look out cried out there was a boat ahead, close under the starboard near the three-mile house overtook a bow, and a boat under sail with no lights | countryman named William Woods from up was seen about 20 fathoms distant. Rawdon, who was stopping to speak to a The ship was going at the rate of four truckman named Graves. They asked knots, and orders were given to reverse the engines and get the helm hard astar-board It was impossible to check her way immediately, although the engines were being reversed full speed astern. Life buoys were thrown over and a boat was lowered from the steamer in charge of the first officer in a few one of the roughs struck Woods a violent person saved (Mrs. Tough,) who was rescued by another boat which was following. She was taken on board the steamer, and attended by the ship's doctor.

moon was going down. Smith and his father. She had on board at the time of the accident three barrels of flour, eight barrels of salt, a chaldron of coal and twelve flat loads of stone ballast.

A number of boats were at the scene of the accident on Sunday and Monday searching for the bodies. The boat was found and buoyed on Sunday.

The city was much moved with sorrow on Sunday at the sad intelligence. The testimonial to the crew, of which Obadiah Smith was bow oarsman was to be presented to them to-morrow.

The New Railway Depot on North Street had the rails down sufficiently for a ballast train to run on them on Saturday last. As the new Passenger Depot is not quite finished, a temporary passenger station is being erected on the northern part of the new grounds which will be used on and after the 16th Inst. until the Depot is ready. Freight trains commenced running to the North Street Depot on Monday last. A system of cartage has been adopted by which Mr. Fishwick will carry all freight from the depot to the door of the parties for whom it is addressed at fixed rates.

INCORRIGIBLE .- Amongst the "drunks" before the Police Court, on Wednesday last, was Ben Christmas, who was arrested on Tuesday night, ringing the bells of houses on Pleasant Street, and making a noise in the street. He informed the Court where he obtained the liquor. The rum-seller was not an Indian. Should he not be punished as well as poor Ben?

SACRILEGE AND ROBBERY .- On Wednesday afternoon two men went to the carried off the key. They then went to St. Joseph's Church and effected an entrance through the back door, broke went to a house in North Street, from which they stole an overcoat The affair was reported to the police on Thursday, and on enquiry it was found that two notorious characters, named Hughes and McClure, had been seen about the chapel and in North Street. They traced them to the colored settlement, Africville, and then to Dutch Village, where they found them and brought them into town. It was further discovered that on the same (Wednesday) night these two men Woods to give them a lift in his waggon. The truckman knew them and warned Woods against them. Woods, however, allowed them to get into the waggon, and drove on. Salmon fishing in the close season and with gill nets in fresh water is a pretty dangerous and expensive business to engage in, as one Michael Hannan found by sad experience yesterday. W. H. Rogers, Esq., fishery officer having fined him twenty-five dollars and ten dollars costs, this with the loss of his net, worth fifteen dollars. would swell the total to about sixty dollars. This should teach poachers a wholesome lesson and have a salutary effect on law breakers.—Sen-

A small consignment of salmon ar rived in Halifax on Friday last to Mr. G. W. Stuart, of the Colonial Market, and were promptly seized by Mr. L. P. Fairbanks. The Citizen says they were caught and forwarded by Mr. J. McM. Faulkner of Tatamagouche, who evidently was not aware of the law as the case was plainly marked 'Fresh Salmon' on the outside. The fish were very fat and heavy with spawn.

A horse ran away with Mrs. Joseph Marsh, of Five Islands, on Thursday last, and she was thrown from the waggon. She never recovered consciousness, but died the following morning.

SEE WHAT THE CLERGY SAY:-Rev. R. H. Craig, Princetown, N. J. says—"Last summer when I was in Canada I caught a bad cold in my throat. It became so bad that often in the middle of my sermon my throat and tongue would become so dry that I could hardly speak. My tongue was covered with a white parched crust, and my throat was much nflamed. An old lady of my congregation advised me to use the "Shoshonees Remedy," which she was then using. The first dose relieved me, and in a few days my throat was nearly well. I discontinued the use of it, but my throat not being entirely well, became worse again. I procured another supply and I am happy to say that my throat is entirely well, and the white crust has disappeared. I wish that every minister who suffers from sore throat would try the "Great Shoshonees Remedy."

Rev. GEO. W. GROUT, Stirling, Ont., says—"Mrs. George Francis was severely afficted with kidney disease, and had been under the care of three physicians without any beneficial result. She has since taken four bottles of the "Shoshonees," and now enjoys the best of health."

Rev. T. C. Brown, Brooklyn, Ont., says-" My wife was very low with lung disease, and given up by her physician. bought a bottle of the "Shoshonees Remedy," and at the end of two days she was much better. By continuing ed stock of the Remedy she was perfectly restored." Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box. Sept. 20.
