

church met to vote upon the candidates, and determine who of them should be baptized. Of the one hundred and four it was voted to receive sixty. At half past eight we met around our beautiful baptismal pool, fed by springs and shaded by overhanging bamboos and banyans, and there buried these recruits from the host of Satan one by one into the likeness of their Saviour's grave, raising them up in the likeness of his resurrection. Notwithstanding the number of candidates and the presence of many spectators to whom the scene was wholly new, the entire procedure was quiet and orderly. The baptisms were administered half by one of our native preachers, and half by the writer.

Shortly after the baptisms we met again in the chapel, where brief and pungent sermons were preached to an overflowing house by brother Partridge and two native brethren. In the afternoon we met around the Lord's table; the new converts were welcomed into the church with appropriate words, and the right hand of fellowship from one of the ordained native brethren; after which we commemorated the Lord's Supper in company with almost two hundred Chinese Christians. This service was followed later in the afternoon by a meeting for bringing in contributions to the treasury, when almost every one brought his offering. This was the last general service of the week. The regular order of the week had been so far invaded by the blessed harvest work of the examinations, that it was necessary to detain the preachers during Monday for consultations about their station work; but Monday afternoon they too went away, as the bulk of the people had already done; and by Monday night our "compound" had resumed its wonted quiet.

The number of applicants for baptism at this communion was probably almost as large as the number during the whole of any previous year; the number baptized was three times as large as at any previous communion, and exceeded by ten the entire number baptized last year. This year there have been thus far one hundred and twenty persons baptized. Not less than one-third of those received last Sunday were from villages where a year ago Satan had undisputed sway. Five of them are the first fruits of Po Tai, a region where work was begun by Bible-women not more than eight months ago. Great interest was quickly awakened, and a preacher was sent. He and the Bible-women have had an abundance of willing people to instruct in the rudiments of the gospel, and it is beyond doubt that these five souls are only the first sheaves from the harvest of that region; and the harvest is already ripening.

WHAT IS NEEDED NOW.

Among all our needs in this Mission, (and they are many), there is none so imperative as the need of training, for some of our young men, who may thus be prepared to go out and preach in places like those mentioned above, where there are great opportunities. We do not ask for a theological seminary or a training school; all we ask is means with which to give some of our young men their rice while they are here studying for a few months before being sent out. We have in the churches a good number of young men who would make zealous and useful preachers, if they could be started with say eight or twelve months' study here with the missionary.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

MAHONE BAY.—Life and Death.—Dear Editor,—As the friends of Jesus are always pleased to hear of the glorious victories achieved by Him, you will doubtless feel glad to learn (as we who have witnessed, and rejoice) that "the hand of the Lord is with us," turning the hearts of sinners "from the power of sin and Satan unto God."

Some few weeks ago I began a series of meetings at New Cornwall, and had not laboured long before it was evident that "Jesus was passing by," and that "our time was the time of love." In His compassion for sinners, He said to them, "Live!" and some, who were "dead in trespasses and sins," have "heard the voice of the Son of God," and, by his converting power, have been made "alive" unto Him forevermore.

I have baptized and received into the church, ten persons, mostly all of whom are heads of families, and I expect to baptize more next Sabbath. The church is greatly revived, and the good work still goes on.

Truly, we need more of the grace of the Lord Jesus within our hearts. The tidings of "sinners coming home" should indeed be carried upon the wings of every hour; for Death, like a mighty war-chariot, as it rolls on, tramples many in the dust; and the cry of the sick and dying is heard in every land.

During the last few weeks, diphtheria has been raging in Bridgewater and in this place, causing many to mourn over the loss of loved ones departed. Mr. Alexander Sutherland, of Port Medway, who came to this place a short time ago with his family, was taken sick with this disease, and died suddenly, on Monday, the 22nd of October, in the 44th year of his age. Yesterday I buried his eldest son, Willard, who died with the same disease, aged 13 years. May God sustain the sorrowing widow and mother, and enable her, by grace divine, to "look to the hills from whence cometh our help." Several others in this village are now very low with the same sickness.

Last week, a lame man, named Benjamin Baker, of this place, wandered about in the woods, and has not been heard of since. A number of men have been searching for him ever since the sad news reached their ears, but they were not successful in finding him. No doubt by this time he has perished.

May the Lord prepare the dying for glory, and the living to magnify His holy name.

Yours very truly,
JOHN WILLIAMS.

Mahone Bay, Nov. 1st, 1877.

HEBRON, Oct. 30th.—Our second year of labor with the church in this place opens encouragingly. On Sunday, Oct. 14, one was received by baptism, and, on the 28th, five more. During the past year we had six baptismal seasons, though only nine in all were baptized. We are expecting a more abundant harvest this year.

Notwithstanding the hard times, our financial report for the past year was so encouraging that the church, at its annual meeting, added $50.00 to the salary expected for the past year. Thus encouraged by the mercies of God and the favour of the brethren, we desire to labour with greater diligence.

A. COHOON.

At one o'clock on Friday morning, at Montreal, the inhabitants of Alexander Street, in the heart of the city, were awakened by wild shrieks of a woman. A young girl daughter of a boarding house keeper, was seen standing at the second story window giving vent to frantic cries of fire. There was considerable delay in sounding the alarm, and it was fully 15 or 20 minutes before the fire brigade arrived; in the meantime Miss Burke had taken a leap for life, and falling some 20 feet below the sidewalk, sustained serious if not fatal injuries. On arrival of the firemen, they bravely entered the house at the risk of their lives. The dead body of a boarder named Christian Ramoussen (a Dane) was found in the closet door, of which it is supposed he mistook for an exit to the hall. In a further search, Mason Burke, aged 16 years, son of the owner of the House, was discovered in an almost lifeless state from the effects of smoke; he was taken out and has remained in a semi-unconscious state since, but it is hoped he will recover. The inmates of the first floor escaped without difficulty. Origin of the fire is supposed to have been by rats eating matches.

TURKEY.—The following are extracts from a review of the Asiatic campaign in the Times, on Friday last, from the pen of Capt. Norman, lately correspondent with Mukhtar's army, and expelled for unfeigned criticisms:—"Deviloyun Crest of Rang, two thousand feet higher than the surrounding plain, presents every facility for the most determined resistance. If Mukhtar can reach this in safety and throw 25,000 men into the very formidable works, that, under the able direction of his gallant Hungarian Chief of Staff, General Kohlman, have been recently constructed. Deviloyun should defy a frontal attack; and at this season a flank movement over the mountains 8000 or 9000 feet above the sea presents almost insurmountable difficulties. Referring to the reports from St. Petersburg of negotiations for the surrender of Kars, Captain Norman says, "I cannot credit the rumors that the Commandant has entered into negotiations for the surrender of that fortress. I am aware from personal observation that a very large supply of ammunition for both small arms and artillery were thrown into the place during July, August and September, and that Commissariat store houses were completely replenished. It was dangerously denuded of troops during the occupation of Aldja Dagh; if Mukhtar was enabled, subsequent to his defeat on the 14th of October, to leave the garrison of the same strength as he did in April, there should be no fear for its safety. If, however, he was unable to do so, it is more than probable that it will fall by coup de main, but it will not be starved into submission."

On Wednesday, Chevet Pasha advanced to retake Telische, he was defeated after several hours engagement at Ratornirz, and fled in great disorder.
