AGRICULTURE.

MANGELS AND BEANS .- Mangel Wurzel is a crop that is increasing in favour immensely in Europe, under high cultivation. As we improve and enrich our fields, it will also become better known and appreciated with us. It appears that it does not succeed in stiff clays. Such lands are, in fact, unfitted for all kinds of root cultivation, strictly speaking The preparation of the land is critical and expensive, the results dubious, and the after-effects upon the succeeding crop unsatisfactory. On lighter clays root cultivation may, to a limited extent, be carried on to profit. But, in such soils the writer of an article in the Agricultural Gazette which suggests these present remarks of ours, points out the superiority of "HORSE BEANS" to Mangels. The bean (he says) revels in clay, and does not mind a sour bed. It yields, in straw and corn, dry matter equal in value to that contained in 20 tons of mangels, and it leaves the land in better condition for a cereal grain crop. It is cheaper grown and more readily turned into money. Now what are HORSE BEANS? The grain here referred to is not the semi-tropical crop known in America as "bush beans" or "pole beans," or "white beans," or "haricot," and a hundred other names, but a totally different plant, with stout woody stem, robust habit, easy cultivation, and of the highest nutritious qualities. It approaches in appearance and style, the "broad-Windsor beans," the "long pod beans" of gardens, but LATER. At Yarmouth, 2 hours 20 minutes | belongs to a species quite different even from these. It is the Faba Vulgaris, or, more strictly, the Faba equina, of botanists,-the Horse Bean of Scotch Farmers, originally believed to be native of Egypt, but known and grown and fed upon by the Britons, before they were visited by the Romans. I is a crop that is entirely unknown on the American Continent, except in the Province of Nova Scotia, where it has been grown by only a few persons. The solitary sample of Horse Beans at the Centennial Exhibition at Philadel phia, was from Annapolis, Nova Scotia. The reason of this is easily discovered. The plant will grow, but will not produce its grain, either in the United States or Ontario. It is essentially a maritime plant; it requires the comparatively cool moist air from the sea to keep it in health and vigour. Our readers will perceive that this is a crop peculiarly deserving of attention in this unlimited demand.

The gray Horse PEA is usually grown with the Bean in Scotland. We do not know whether any one is growing it this year, although a prize is offered for it at the Kentville Provincial Exhibition. We fear the Prize List has not been issued in time to induce competition .- N. S. Journal of Agri-INJURIES TO TREES should be repaired as soon as discovered. Limbs broken must be sawed off to make a smooth wound, and this covered with paint, varnish or wax. Barking by mice or rabbits often looks more serious than it really is. The majority of cases will recover if the wound is protected by a thick poultice of cow dung and clayey loam, bound on with a piece of course material. In very severe cases the tree may be saved by connecting the bark, above and below the wound, by means of twigs of the same tree; the ends are chamferred and inserted under the bark, above and below, to bridge cut surfaces is well done by the cowdung and loam plaster above mentioned, but it is not so neat or so easily applied time of day. as some other. Something for this use should always be in readiness. Either umber or other color; grafting wax, melted, but not too het, or shellac varnish, may be used.

you see his barn larger than his house, it shows that he will have large profits and small afflictions.

When you see him driving his work instead of his work driving him, it shows that he will never be driven from good resolutions, and that he will certainly work his way to prosperity.

When you always see his wood-house a sufficiency for three months or more, it shows that' he will be more than a ninety days' wonder, in farming operations, and that he is not sleeping in his house after a drunken frolic.

When he has a house separate from the main building, on purpose for ashes, and an iron or tin vessel to transport them, it shows that he never built his dwelling to be a funeral pile for his family, and perhaps himself.

When his sled is housed in summer and his implements covered both in winter and summer, it plainly shows that he will have a good house over his head in the summer of early life and winter of old age.

When cattle are properly shielded and fed in winter, it evidences that he is acting according to Scripture, which says that " a merciful man regardeth the life of his beast."

When he is seen subscribing for a newspaper and paying in advance, it shows that he is speeding like a book respecting the latest improvements in agriculture, and that he never gets his walking papers to the land of poverty.

SCIENCE.

A pamphlet founded on statistics tabulated by a leading scottish insurance company shows that publicans are the lowest in the scale of vitality, the rate of mortality among them being "just about fifty per cent. above the average of the general male population." An extra premium is charged upon their lives.

A natural bridge, far more wonderful than that in Virginia, has recently been discovered in Elliott county, Kentucky. It is all solid stone and forms a magnificent arch 162 feet long and 15 feet wide at the top, the river, the little Chaney, rolling over 100 feet below. Fifty yards above the bridge is a waterfall sixty feet high, and the view from the bridge is said to be extremely beau-

DIMONAD RHEUMATIC CURE.

In its history, this invaluable Medicine occupies the most honourable position possible for any remedy to attain. A few years since it was known only to the friends and neighbors and patients of the proprietors, and always sought for by them whenever troubled with Rheumatism, and in this way came to the notice of physicians generally, and through their favorable expression, and its acknow ledged value as a Rheumatic Remedy, the demand for it became so frequent and urgent as to oblige its proprietors to increase their facilities for its manufacture. Its reputation rapidly extended, and soon orders, letters of enquiry, letters of thanks, and certificates of praise were daily received from all sections of the United States and Canada; and in this way on a basis of its merit alone-unaidded by "tricks of the trade" or special efforts—it has risen to its present envious position. Wherever introduced it has received the most flattering preference in the treatment of all rheumatic complaints. of stamp. tic medicine that can be employed: cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health.

AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing it from the elements of weakness.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take; while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
