THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

for an hour and a half or thereabouts. they allowed them to go."

This would appear altogether insufficient as a cause for our beginning

With the immense and numerous colonial possessions of Great Britain in all parts of the world, it is not a matter of surprise that she should come into conflict with some of the neighbouring peoples and tribes from time to time. Whilst civilized nations have misunderstandings, jealousies, and disagreements, the great wonder is that we are not more frequently called to protect British subjects from injury and wrong from their half-civilized or tarbarian neighbours.

With our present military appliances it is not surprising that when we do come into hostilities with them there should be a great destruction of life and a speedy extinction of a large part of the opposing force. This has been remarkably the case in the present war with the Zulus of South Africa. They are the finest race of the African tribes, as the Afghans are the finest of the Asiatics, although the latter are the mere advanced nation of the two. Many of our readers will have a more intelligent idea of the place where England is now sending her troops by the thousand if they get their maps of South Africa and trace the country from its river boundaries. It is about half way between the Cape of Good Hope and the island of Madagascar on the Cape coast, having the Transvaal territory, formerly a Dutch Republic, on the north, and Natal and the ocean on the south and east. It is comparatively a small country, having a boundary on each of its four sides of not more than about 150 miles. Yet it has proportionally a larger population such a frightful war as has been recently raging there. The sanguinary laws and brutal customs of Cetowayo, and the constant alarm felt by the colonists of the neighbouring countries, are doubtless the real cause of the war. It would appear that the moral influence of England had been successful until recently in restraining the Zulus from making attacks on the Boers of Transvaal. It is argued by the opponents of the present movement that if we have succeeded, during a series of years, in thus curbing the warlike passions of Cetowayo and his forty thousand warriors, might we not have hoped that our friendly and pacific counsels would ultimately prove instrumental in reforming the Zulu code and in humanizing the character of the Zulu nation? Sir Bartle Frere gave them exactly thirty days to make up their minds whether they would consent to disband their army and to reform their penal laws. A few more days of grace have since been added, but if, at the expiration of that peried, they have not made their unconditional snbmission to the British Government, then he proposes to apply the force of British arms in compelling submission. One of our demands is that Cetewayo shall consent to the appointment of a British Resident in his country. The land for two miles round his station to be declared British territory, while the Zulus are to permit him to exercise "a questions in their great council.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or MARBLE & FREESTONE WORKS. other pains in any part of the body? If so use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is the most wonderful internal and external remedy known to medical science.

We caution all persons not to buy the extra lurge packs of dust and ashes now put up by certain parties and called condition powders. They are utterly worthless. Buy Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders if you buy any ; they are absolutely pure and immensely valuable Countless sufferers find the balm of relief, and the fountain of their health and strength, in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the most potent of all the alteratives to purify the system and cleanse the blood. It possesses invigorating qualities, so that it stimulates the faded vitalities and purges out the corruptions which mingle with the blood, promoting derangement and decay. We are assured by many intelligent physicians that this medicine cures beyond all others of its kind, and we can fortify this statement by our own experience. -Punxsatawney (Pa.) Argus.

ANOTHER COMMUNICATION from Mr. Geo. Sewell, dated Moncton, N. B., June 22, 1878.

J. H. Robinson, Esq.-Dear Sirwrote you in May last informing you of the wonderful cure your " Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lactophosphate of Lime" had made in my case, and, at the same time promising to write from time to time to let you know how I was getting along. I am much better in every way ; am stronger ; can walk a good long distance without gett ing tired. Sleep well-and eat a hearty meal. In fact I am a new man in every respect, and those who saw me three months ago and see me now, can hardly believe that I am the same person.
