THE S. S. CONVENTION AT MONCTON.

The Sunday School Convention of the Maritime Provinces, to be held at Moncton, N. B., on Saturday next and three following days, promises to be a very interesting and successful gather-The programme, which we published a few weeks since, is a very good one, and, we understand, the Executive Committee have been fortunate enough to secure the promised attendance of many prominent clergymen and lay workers, from the principal centres in these Provinces, to assist in carrying it into effect. Delegates recently returned from the "Raikes Centennial" will be present and report. The time chosen too, for this Convention is very opportune. Without pre-arrangement, of course, our delegates will be in session earnestly discussing modes of work in the interest of the Sunday School at the very time which has been set apart for special prayer, for this institution, throughout the world. We trust that our Sunday Schools generally, may be represented at this gathering, in order that all our Schools may become acquainted with the best modes, and any real improvements which the most favored enjoy; and that the diffusion of earnest zeal and enthusiasm in the great work may become wide-

The passing of the Burials Bill in the British Parliament is not relished by many of the Church Clergy. Here is a specimen of the bitter hostility to the measure. The following protest was published Sunday week in the church of Avebury by the Rev. Bryan King to used bus dash ent deci

"In the Name of the Father, &c. Whereas by a recent Act of the secular Legislature our churchyards, which have been solemnly consecrated to the service of our Lord Jesus Christ through His Church, have been thrown open to the ministrations of men, women, and even children of every form of schism and misbelief, I, Bryan King, vicar of Avebury, do hereby publish this my solemn protest against the aforesaid Act of the Legislature, as an Act by which the sin of sacrilege is legalized, and by which the sacred rights with which I have been put in trust by the Church are unrighteously invaded."

and incidents connected with the childhood of a missionary's daughter. It is evidently not so much the design of the writer to portray her own life, as to give to other young people some such impressions of the "various races of Burmah as one has who was born among them. Heathenism, Civilization, Christianity, are words of deep meaning to the author of this book.

The book will be found useful in Mission Circles, as well as in the family and in Sunday-School libraries, and will make an excellent holiday gift.

At the conclusion of a council, held by Mtesa, his chiefs, and the missionaries, the king announced: "We shall now have nothing more to do with either the Arab's religion or with the white man's religion, but we shall return to the religion of our fathers." The reaction seems to have been caused by the revival of an old superstition concerning Mokassa, the god of Lake Nyauza, whose spirit or Lubare is supposed to become incarnate. At present, it is said to be incarnate in an old woman who lives on the borders of the lake, and is expected to cure the king of a malady of two years' standing. The missionaries believe that many look upon this system of witch-craft with distrust; and, though at present at a stand-still, they wait in hope, hearing the voice of the Master,-" Lo, I am with you alway."

INDIA .- From Mr. Clough, of Ongole, we have the word: " News has just come in to-day from one of the native preachers, that about eighty miles to the north-east, near the Kristna River, there are four hundred people who want to come to Ongole and be baptized. This is new ground, twenty- lings in the same place on Wednesday five miles beyond our former outposts in that direction. The work is extending so rapidly that, with our present resources, we almost fear to encourage its extension any further. Indeed, we would not dure to, except that we trust implicitly that you will send us all the help we have asked for. . . . History is making fast here; and, every day almost, something new and unexpected is sprung upon us. To keep up with the demands of the hour, we have to move on, and at no slow pace."

South SEA ISLANDS .- The Missionary Herald tells as that on the day on which the "Morning Star" sailed from Honolulu on her eighth trip to Micronesia, three vessels left the same port in quest of laborers, expecting to find them among the Micronesian Islands. The sad event called forth a note of condolence from the veteran missionary, Dr. Dean, which elicited the following reply from the king.
