8, 1881.

wo children,-I er. "The best and two of the like larks, both ts!" says the ar; "I thought lap this Christbe hunting for e lumberman, stopped on the et, just opposite s hand on his k here, Brad e going to find en pretty soon, t to keep cool.

?" gasps the

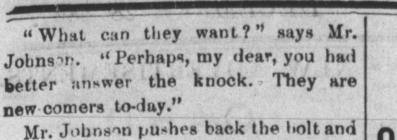

urton Todd is indow of the is friend's eye icture we saw the mother inhildren intent

be father lifts n, staggers a oss the street. d seizes him ches the foot ys decisively. that woman her. She's here a few to her."

s the father, his temples, y the wall. waiting long.

nocks at the od you are! sand times ! " ce. enjoyed my But I've been ther ought to this Christ.

DECEMBER 28, 1881

opens the door. The room is hung with profusion of Christmas greens, A bright fire blazes on the hearth. A table in the middle of the room is loaded with smoking viands. A smiling colored waiter, with napkin on arm, bows politely when the door is opened. "Ef you please, sah, dinnah is ready, in the coming year, to meet the growing sah ! " "Whose dinner ?" demands Mr. Johnson.

"Your dinnah, sah. De folk's dinnah 'n dis yer front room. It was ordered fo' dem."

"Where was it ordered ?" "Cope'and's, sah." "Who ordered it ?"

"Gen'l'm'n with gray ulcerated coat on, sah; I seen him kim up t' yer room 'bout 'n hour ago. I was to git it sly ready 'n' call you jes' half-past two." "Another of Todd's surprises," ex-claims Mr. Johnson. "Well, my dears, the dinner is here; and we should be very ungrateful not to partake of it with thanksgiving."

What a happy feast it is ! How the laughter and the tears chase each other round the table ! How swiftly the grief and misery and dread of the two desolate years that are gone, fly away into a faroff land !

By and by, when the cloth is removed, and they are seated around the open fire, Ruby says, musingly : " Papa, did you really and truly know Mr Todd when you were a boy ? "

"Certainly, my darling; why do you

OF THE

For 1882.

We propose making an enlargement

of the CHRISTIAN MESSENGER

demands of our already large and increasing list of subscribers. We shall be able by this means to introduce

other improvements, so as to supply

our patrons with a greater variety of

THE CHRISTIAN MESSEN.

GER is the oldest religious newspaper in the Maritime Provinces, and, we believe, with one exception, in the Dominion of Canada. It has done

good service in promoting the best interests of thousands of families, and in advancing the cause of truth and

To its Patrons THE CHRISTIAN

MESSENGER has been a practical

Christian Educator, a true Temperance

Lecturer, a Preacher of some of the best Sermons ever delivered. It has been a regular and intelligent Sabbath

School Teacher, a Home Missionary, a warm friend of Missions to the heathen,

and a faithful promoter of Lord's Day

Observance. The Farmer has been aided by it in making the soil more sound education in the community.

valuable reading matter.

Messenger

The Gospel according to Isaiab. A SERMON PREACHED BY REV. H. BOOL. (PUBLISHED BY REQUEST.) (Concluded)

"Ho every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price."-ISAIAH ly. 1.

We must be careful never to mistake the cause of our comfort. A round of religious observances, apart from Christ, will give us no more satisfaction than blind Samson found when grinding in the Philistine prison. A season of revival may leave us cold and dark for years. Again, an enlightened mind never rejoices in the hope of forgiveness that involves the dishonour of the divine law, and the destruction of God's government in the world. The joy of the gospel consists in the fict that the par lon it proclaims is righteous. It is glad tidings, because all its privileges come to us in perfect agreement with the glorious perfections of God's character,-glory to God in the highest, as well as good will towards men.

All who have really found Christ can bear witness to this happiness. It casts a halo of delight on all around, as though the joy of the heart, like the light of the sun, were reflected from every object. O sinner, sad and cheerless, listen to the invitation, and come to this feast. The whole universe waits to participate in the joy of your salva. tion. There is joy in heaven and on earth. "Ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills shall break forth before ed in the management of their children, you into singing, and all the trees of the and many times in preserving and field shall clap their hands." 3. Our text reminds us that there is a power in the gospel to nourish and strengthen the soul. Milk being the first food of children, the Apostle Peter says, "As new-born babes desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby; if so be that ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious." All the essential properties of food are contained in milk, and there is everything in the gospel calculated to feed the mind, and develop true manhood. What noble characters adorn the history of the Church of God in every age? These have been nourished by the truths of the gospel. They fed on it until they could say, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me.

treasury. Fifty bags of money were | but, ere he lays aside his pen, he must, placed before him. "What," said the missionary, "are you going to do with all this wealth ?" " It is for my gods," said the Rajah. Here was a man spending $100,000 per annum to keep his conscience right amid the darkness of idolatry. In countries most blessed with the light, m ny rich people are in the invitation to sinners to accept giving the whole of their wealth to the salvation; and these are the closing support of superstition, and spending | wor Is in the very last page of our Bibles, their lives in seclusion. It puts many professors of Christianity to shame to let him that heareth say come, and let attempt to calculate what has been given, what has been done, and what has been suffered, by people who have sought to gain the favour of God without the atonement of Christ. This is striking testimony to the great want of humanity. There are times when it is felt that reconciliation to God is so great a boon that it must be obtained at any price, and it is hard for proud man to believe that it can be had without cost. When Cæsar would make a present to a certain individual, the man refused, saying, "Tuis is too much for me to receive." The great commander replied, "You may think it too much to be received, but it is not too much for Cæsar to give." Whitfield, preaching at a fair, saw an auctioneer engaged selling his goods. Speaking of the invitations of the gospel, the great preacher said, "That man yonder, finds it difficult to bring the prople up to his price ; but my difficul y lies in bringing them down to mine." Salvation is the greatest blessing God can bestow, but we cannot get it without that sense of deep necessity that will make us glad to receive it without money or without price.

great price which has been paid for our redemption. It is without cost to us, because Jesus bought it with bitter tears, soul sorrow, and blood. "Ye are not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, but by the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lamb without blemish and without spot."

once more, give expression to the invit-tion of eternal mercy. For a period of about fifteen hund ed years God had been revealing His mind in Holy Scriptures. Patriarchs, prophets, and apostles, Christ and the courch, God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, all unite "The spirit and the bride say come, and him that is athirst come, and whosoever will let him take of the water of life freely."

What can I add more to urge you to accept the mercies so freely offered? Shall I bid you look into your own unsatisfied hearts, and observe their insatiable desires? Shall I remind you that the time is fast approaching when every source of earthly pleasure shall be dry, and your soul, unsatisfied and unsaved, shall go down to the deep, dark valley of death? Is it needful that I should call your attention, as Christ has done, to the agonizing cry that comes up from the pit of perdition, as the rich man calls in vain for a drop of water to cool his parched tongue? Looking above these considerations do but harden your hearts. I will refer you again to the cross of Jesus. The seven last utterances of the suffering Saviour are very instructive. One of these is appropriate to our subject : "Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the Scripture may be fulfilled, said I thirst." Penitent sinner, Christ thirsted on your behalf. He thirsted that we may never thirst. The invitations of God's Word Thirdly, we should never forget the are the echoes of Calvary. He is the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. From thence comes this blessed invitation, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters."

413

swers Ben. ttle, but bedd goes on. what your of your afeep interest ce your hus-

answers the intelligence y ? " nful news of on board." he full par-

rs. Johnson

, my dear t you could now, in the ne-and of al about it. before he story as it onsiderably xcuse me.

aws. The ie mother's she cries, the door ntly opens, not open it too sacred eat cry of yes of Mr. oftly down is hotel. ock of the planations ther and g for a few peace, the is to assert ask?" " I can't quite think," says the girl "that he is a real man. It seems to me as if he must be an angel."

While she speaks, the angel is knock ing at the door. They all fly to him ; the father hugs him; the mother kisses his hand ; the children clasp his knees. "Help! help!" shouts the hearty lumberman. "I did n't come here to be garroted."

Then, with much laughing and crying, they tell him Ruby's doubts concerning him.

"Well," he says, merrily, "I may be an angel, but, if so, I'm not aware of it Angels are not generally addicted to the lumber business. And you need n't make any speeches to me, for I have n't time to hear 'em. Fact is, this has been the very reddest of all my red-letter days; the merriest of my Christmasses; and you people have been the innocent. occasion of it all. And I'm not done with you yet. I'll have you all up to my lumber camp next summer; there's a nice cabin there, for you. Pine words 'll do you lots of goo i, madam. Great fishing there, Ben! You'll all come, went you? It's almost train time. Good-bye !" And before they have time to protest or to promise, Mr. Haliburton Todd is down the stairs, rushing away to the station of the Eastern Railroad.

"Ye're on oor Side"

At a public meeting in the west of Scotland, an endeavor was made to establish a temperance society by the people. Several had spoken earnestly in favour of the movement. The parish minister was present, but silent till near the close. He was a good man-an advocate of temperance, especially socalled; and could not see any necessity for teetotalism. After all be had spoken, he said a little in favor of temperance in general, denouncing drunkenness as great sin, but adding that he saw no need of any pledge or any association; that each one for himself or herself should be able to use the good gifts of God without abusing them. He had no that they will afford an opportunity for sooner sat down than a drunken weaver staggered to his feet in the body of the hall, exclaiming, "That's richt, sirthat's richt. Ye're on oor side." The minister rose on the instant, pale and under deep emotion, saying in tones of deep solemnity, " If I am on your side, sir, I am wrong." This was the turningpoint with him on that question. His temperance theory was scattered to the getting additions to our list, under either winds before the demonstrative power of stern experience; and the practical result was, that the association was formed, and the minister's name headed the list of its members.

productive. Parents have been assist-restoring their health. Ministers have found that the readers of the CHRIS-TIAN MESSENGER are some of the best, most useful and devoted members of their congregations.

THE CHRISTIAN MESSEN-GER is still all that it has been. The Proprietor now seeks to enlarge the sphere of its operations, and to extend its circulation among the thousands who, in many cases, are at present comparatively without religious reading, and in others where truth is but imperfectly presented, and where the Sacred Scriptures are not sufficiently made the test of church order and religious observances.

Alchoice and interesting will be one of the attractive features for the young people.

Some of our excellent philanthropic brethren who are desirons of giving the CHRISTIAN MESSENGER a very much enlarged circulation have expressed the wish that we should provide a

Monthly Paper

for persons who have not hitherto been on our list of subscribers for the weekly issue, but who might be induced to take a Monthly Number at 50 c's. a year. In compliance with this request and suggestion we purpose making the first issue for each month a CHRISTIAN MESSENGER MONTHLY, commencing with January, 1882. W. will therefore send this to any addresfor 50 cents a year, (3 copies to one

Apart from this royal feast human nature is weakness itself when considered in relation to man's duy to God. Even "the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall; but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their streng h, they shall mount up on wings as eagles, they shall rnn and not be weary, they shall walk an'l not faint."

II. Let us now pass on to notice the FREENESS of the invitation. These prowithout price.

At first sight it may appear strange are trusting in Jesus we are sealed by that any reference to money should be the Holy Sp.rit unto the day of r-dempmade in connection with a free invita- | tion. This eternal covenant has ever | General Post Office clean up to Bow tion. A brief consideration, however, been a subject of unbounde I co solution will show that this reference is male to heighten our conception of the freeness | David in his dying hour. "Although creeping, struggling vehicles line the of divine grace and marcy. In the first my house be not so with the Lord, yet pavement. Were these all moving in place, we are reminded of the cost of hath IIe made with me an everlasting toil and pain and wealth by which men seek to draw their happiness from the sure." It is in relation to this that the world. It is computed that. throughout civilization, there is more spent in strong thrills the Christian : "Who shall lay one side of the way to the other; were drink alone in four days than all the anything to the charge of God's elect? there a few policemen where they are mo ey given to mission purposes in a It is G d that justifieth, who is he that wanted, there would be no difficulty. whole year, about $7,000,000. This is condemneth? It is Christ that died, But the long, snake-like rows do not only one of the thousands of the means yea, rather. that is risen again, who is by which people are seeking carnal even at the right hand of God, who also joys, and, in every direction, they may i m keth intercession for us." be said to spend their money for that III. In conclusion listen to the EARwhich is not bread, and their labor for NESTNESS BY WHICH YOU ARE INVITED to that which satisfieth not. partake of these gospel mercies. Suppose we were to hear of something that would give us more satisfaction than all in the world besides, surely, like something good to bring. This is conthe merchantman in the parable, we trary to the gospel, and to this invitawould be ready to sell all that we have tion. Nee y sinners are invited to come and buy it. Behold, in the gospel we now, just as thay are. The first thing have the Pearl of great price. It is of required is f ith, which is really a recepinfinite value, and can be no more pur ti n of the blessings offered.

When David thirsted for water from the well at Bethlehem, at the seat of war, three mighty man broke through the hosts of the Philistines, drew the water, and brought it to David. He looked at it and said, "Is not this the blood of the men that went in jeopardy of their lives." This is an instance of what men will do for a king; but I will show you what the King of Kings has done for men. "God commended His love to us in that, while were yet sinner-, Christ died for us." He broke through the hosts of hell that he may bing to us the water of life.

This lea is us to observe, once more, that these merci s, which are without money and without price, will be as much our own as though we had paid for them at full value. Rapturous thought; Christ is my surety. He loved me and gave himself for me. Mention is madin this compter of an agreement. "I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David." visions are to be had without money and This agreement has been ratified by the blood of the Atonement, and when we to the believer. It was this that cheered to the Mansion House, five rows of covenant, ordered in all things and Apostle Paul speaks, in language that Correspondence.

For the Christian Messenger. The Road to Telugu-land.

SOUTHWARD, HO!

Lord Mayor's day-Nov. 9th-in London, is one of unusual excitement. Today the Lord Mayor's show, that august procession inaugurated of old, holds possession of the city, and for it the streets must be cleared of all traffic, no easy task in such a city. When the narrowness of the main thoroughfares, the constant cro-s-streams irom streets opening into these, and the vast number of vehicles of all kinds, are taken into con-ideration, the problem to be solved assumes a most serious a-pect. Then one must include the frequent stoppages cause i to the bedl m of wheels by the constantly increasing number of foot passengers on an occasion of such interest. 'On such a day, as a Londoner would say, "Cheap-i le is a sight." This s reet, forming, as it does, t e connecting link between Holborn and Cornhill, and in the heart of the business part of the city, is overflowing with traffic at any time. But t -day it is packed as tightly as a box of sardices. From the Church, from Bow Church clean down the same direction; were there no cross-streams of slow-going tru-ks from adjacent streets ; were none of the foot passengers under necessity to cross from move in the same direction; constant accessions pour in from all si les; every pedestrian on the right-hand side of the way has occasion to cross at the imminent peril of his bones to the left side, and vice versa ; policemen are few, Man, in the pride of his heart, tries and the difficulty great. Misery, which to keep away from God until he has loves company is a great leveller, and rejoices in seeing all here on an equality. The fine carriage of the rich keeps pace with the dirty barrow of the equally dirty street-hawker. At the Mansion House the jam becomes frightful. Barrows, cabs, dustday of the Jewish feast, he stood and in the same fix. A corner in wheels!

timidly, as " Is n't it

iswers his dinner, is Ruby." poor, forcinder. er. "Our we'll find he feast." t the door r's apart;

address for one dollar.)

The Christian Messenger weekly $2.00 paid in advance, or 3 copies to one address for $5.00.

These offers are made with the hope hundreds of good Christian people, who are ready for every good work, to cooperate with us in sending forth the words of light, life, and salvation into thousands of homes and families at present comparatively without such in formation. Will our friends favor us by kindly interesting themselves in of the above arrangements. price. CHRISTIAN MESSENGER OFFICE 69 & 71 Granville St.,

HALIFAX, N. S.

It is thought that Jesus had the words | carts, 'busses, heavy trucks, dog-carts, chased by a king than by a beggar; but it is offered without money and without of our text in mind when, on the last light trucks, traps, trams, barouches, all

Again, our text calls to mind the cried, saying, "If any man thirst let him Ladies poke fine bonnets out of carriage enormous expenditure on false religion. come unto me and drink." John, the windows, and scream faint screams of A missionary in India, on visiting the last of the inspired writers, had nearly amazement at the situation. Agile boys Rajah of Burdwan, found him in his finished the scroll of the divine record, dart about among the wheels and under