DECEMBER 21, 1881.

I moved on their works, and captured them. It's my selfishness ; I want to hear Thursby and Cary with those children's ears to-night, that's all. And if you will kindly write a little note, assuring the mother that I will not eat her children, the boy will call for it. And now, goodmorning. I shall see you next summer in the woods."

The rector presses his friend to tarry, but he pleads business, and hurries away.

Now he mysteriously disappears again. After a few hours we find him seated before the grate, in his cozy room at the Parker House; the telegram has to Cincinnati with the bad gone news that he is not coming ; the oratorio tickets have been purchased; dinner has been eaten ; there is time for rest, and he is writing a few letters to those nephews and nieces who know, by this time, to their great grief, that they will not see Uncle Hal to morrow.

Meantime the bours passed cheerily at the little room of the Johnsons, on Denison street; for, though the kindness of their unknown friend could not heal the hurt caused by the hardness of their greedy employer, it has helped them to bear it. Ben has brought from the rector an enthusiastic note about Mr. Todd, and the children have waited in delighted anticipation of the evening. Promptly, at half-past seven, the step of their friend is on the stair, and his knock at the door. "Come in, sir!" says Ben. It is a very different voice from that of the boy who was talking at Jackman & Company's entrance a few hours ago.

"This has been a day of great expectations here," says Ben's mother. "I do not know what could have been promised the children that would have pleased them more. Of music they have had a passionate love from infancy, and they have n't heard much lately." "Well, they shall have to night the best that Boston affords," says Mr. Todd. "Now, you must tell me your name, my boy. We want a good understanding before we start."

We propose making an enlargement of the CHRISTIAN MESSENGER in the coming year, to meet the growing demands of our already large and increasing list of subscribers. We shall be able by this means to introduce other improvements, so as to supply our patrons with a greater variety of valuable reading matter.

THE CHRISTIAN MESSEN GER is the oldest religious newspaper in the Maritime Provinces, and, we believe, with one exception, in the Dominion of Canada. It has done good service in promoting the best interests of thousands of families, and in advancing the cause of truth and wounded for our transgressions, and sound education in the community.

To its Patrons THE CHRISTIAN MESSENGER has been a practical Christian Educator, a true Temperance Lecturer, a Preacher of some of the best Sermons ever delivered. It has been a regular and intelligent Sabbath invitation, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, School Teacher, a Home Missionary, a warm friend of Missions to the heathen, and a faithful promoter of Lord's Day Observance. The Farmer has been aided by it in making the soil more productive. Parents have been assisted in the management of their children, and many times in preserving and restoring their health. Ministers have found that the readers of the CHRIS-TIAN MESSENGER are some of the best, most useful and devoted members of their congregations. THE CHRISTIAN MESSEN-GER is still all that it has been. The Proprietor now seeks to enlarge the sphere of its operations, and to extend its circulation among the thousands who, in many cases, are at present comparatively without religious read. ing, and in others where truth is but imperfectly presented, and where the Sacred Scriptures are not sufficiently made the test of church order and religious observances.

MESSENGER. CHRISTIAN THE Sermon.

The Gospel according to Isaiah. A SERMON PREACHED BY REV. H. BOOL.

(PUBLISHED BY REQUEST.)

"Ho every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price."-JSAIAH lv. 1.

In the fifty-third chapter of this book we have a wondrous description of the sufferings of Christ, together with a statement of the purposes for which he suffered. The succeeding chapter shows us the glory of the church, and its increase, as the result of the sorrows of Jesus ; and, in the chapter b fore us, we hear the general invitation. by which all who need his mercies are lovingly urged to come to him.

This is a very precious portion of God's holy word. It meets men in their wretchedness and sin, and bids them return. Mercy comes near, entreats us to accept the rich provisions of pardon and peace, purchased by him who "was bruised for our iniquities."

O. marvellous condescension, matchless love. Man wanders from Gol, tries to satisfy himself with the world, and when he returns weary, thirsty and hungry, the arms of divine mercy are open for his reception ; and this is the come ye to the waters," &c. I. I invite your attention to THE PROvision by which God satisfies the souls of men. The vast necessities of the human heart are powerfully expressed | with Him is plenteous r demption." Of by this one word—thirst. Our bodies, beites, on their approach to Marah, in the juity of us all. wilderness: "They plod moo lily along, people stagger with faintness. There is may think we see him, a solitary man he might hand to us the sweet wine of on the side of Mount Hermon. His soul gospel grace. The law was fulfilled in is needy. What is his desire, - the fam- the obedience of Christ. and sin slain ily, the throne, his kingdom restored to in his death. Thus he lived in sorrow peace? O, it takes infinitely more than these to satisfy his capacious soul. As he meditates, a wounded deer bounds past, hurrying on to the waters in the mourning."

valley beneath, where he may quench his thirst, and bathe his panting breast. This awakens D vid's tongue to tell, for himself and every one, the great needs of the soul. "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God ; my soul thirsteth for Go I, the living God."

Here, then, is what man needs-God nothing less can satisfy. For Him he was first created, and he is regenerated that he may become the temple of the Holy Ghost. God alone can meet our deep necessities. To have Him is the highest heaven; to be without Him is the deepest hell. Now, it is the purpose of God, by this portion of His word, to bring needy sinners to Himself. Mark the admonition con ained in the sixth and seventh verses : "Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call ye upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him, and to our God, for He will abundantly pardo ."

1. Here is abundance of pardoning mercy. This is the first thought, in our text, relating to the provision of divine grace. There is nothing in the world more plentiful than water, and we read that "with the Lord there is m-rcy, and the Redeemer it is said that "it hath ing constituted principally of water, the pleased the Father that in Him should greatest affliction ensues when subject, all fulness dwell." At the remembrance any length of time, to thirst. Dr. Kitto of our sins is it forgiveness that we thus describes what may be supposed to need? His blood atopes for all our have been the condition of the Israel. guilt. God hath laid on Him the in-Do we wish for peace of mind in no one speaking to his fellow. Many thinking of an offended God? "The could not speak if they would. Their chastisement of our peace was upon tongues are parched and rough, and Him, and with His stripes we are cling to the roofs of their mouths, their healed." The law exacts the penalty hps are black and shrivelled, their eye- from Him, and mercy smiles upon us. balls are red with heat, and sometimes Do we want an advocate, a friend at a dimness comes over them, while the court? He ever liveth to make intercession for us. Are we thirsting for companionship? He is a friend who sticketh closer than who would not have parted with a limb, a brother, and will stand by us at all times, and listen to all our complaints, All this is highly illustrative of that | with the full assurance of sympathy and spiritual thirst, which is felt, more or help. He clothes us with H s perfect less, by all who are living without God | righteousness, teaches us by His word. in the world. The immense capacity of and cheers us with His presence. He is the soul is a signifi ant fact. Man was a pilot to guide us, a captain to defend us, and a physician to heal us. He will be the strength of our life, our consolation in death, and our everlasting joy. It is like water to a thirsty one to realize these mercies, and all are invited to 2. The second consideration is the joy which the gospel gives. "Come, buy wine and milk." Wine was used at feasts, to raise the feelings and make The oravings of the soul may, for a glad the heart. O ten it was taken in excess; therefore the Apostle says, "be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the Spirit." True re ligion gives us an exhilaration, without harm joy. that never closes in sorrow The worldly man's joy, has too often Let us approach the sick-bed of the been connected with the wine-cup; and Windhorst's m xim. T e recent apman of the world. Fell disease has how frothy, and deceptive are all sinful pointment of Cardinal J robini to the pleasures-how cortain that the end Papal Secretaryship of State may help will be as bitter, as the intoxicat on is at to facilitate matters. He was the prepresent delightful, to fleshly appetites. late who co ducted the negotiations at his commind. Kind friends continue We should never touch the cup that with Prince Bismark at Vienna and to minister around him, but what is that inebilates; but, of all sinful pleasure, Berlin. we may say, "look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright, at the list it hiteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." That we may understand the real cause of the believer's joy, let us refer again to the fifty-third compter of Isaiah. Here Jesus is said to be a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief. Why was it, that every step that Chri t took in this world led him deeper and deeper into sorrow? What means that cup, which was put into his hands in the agonies of Gethsemane? and that heart-rending cry, when nailed to the cross, what did it mean? We reply, he so rowed that one or another color according to their penitent sinners may rej ice. There is only one thing in the way of perfect joy, in the heart of every one ; this is sin. Now the Saviour was bruised in putting away our guilt. He drank that we may rejoice: therefore, he is anointed "to comfort all that mourn, to give beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for

(Conclusion next week.)

For the Christian Messenger. Wood's Harbor Meeting House.

Dear Brother,-

I beg to acknowledge the receipt o " the following subscriptions towards rebuilding the Wood's Harbor Meeting House :---

	Barrington-	Cash		3 75
	Shelburne	. 66
	Ragged Islan	ds "
	Lockeport	"		90 30
	"	66	Materials.	A CARLES AND A C
	Osborne		66	4 00
	Yarmouth	"		57 62
	44			23 00
	Tusket-J.	A. H	Cash	2 00
	Liverpool		"	13 00
	"		Materials	29 00
	Milton, Que	en's-	-Cash	13 00
			Materials	36 50
	Bridgewater	-Ca	sh	1 00
			Materials	38 00
	Westpert-	Cash		47 55
	Freeport	- 66		27 80
	Digby	46		7 00
1	Hillsburgh			7 00
	Ohio	"		19 40
	Hebron	66		22 25
	"		Materials	13 00
	Halifax-C	ash.		52 00
	"		Materials	8 00
	Wolfville-	Cash
f	Canard	"		00 00
	Windsor	46
				1.

405

n up to whether op in on so, you'll ight?" vers the zo. You

Chese

iding

acard

and I know

on of see if

Music

ther's

emely

lowly;

give

Todd

course

it her stran.

emple-

it that

m not see; 1

1 know

ister ?"

thew's

ctor."

John, I

Todd,

hyphen

favorite

nat luck

erfectly.

fishing

we are

me his es next

Street."

But I r name.

will call t seven.

himself

aves sunmoment the room ds open, oom was a glazier pleasant the rear fashioned papered s with the iren and asks the et." rton Todd ain, nods he stairs. the next A man is to himself, stories, to gs of our him, he is ctor of St. gentleman

e two little

e minister. 911 d they live ison street,

"Ben, sir, is what my mother calls me." "Ben Johnson, eh? A first-class name, and a famous one. Correct !" laughs Mr. Todd. "And now, will the little lady tell me her name?" "Ruby, sir, is all there is of it," answers the maiden. "Well, Ruby," says Mr. Todd, "your name is like the boarder's coffee : it is good enough what there is of it, and there's enough of it, such as it is. Now, you want to know what to call me. My name's Uncle Hal. That's what a lot of boys and girls out West would have been calling me to morrow if I had n't missed the train ; and if you 'll just let me play, to-night, that I'm your uncle, I shall have a great deal better time." So they go off merrily.

topmost gallery. On either side of the great organ rise the ranks of the chorus, eight hundred singers; the orchestra is massed in front; the soloists are just entering, to take their places at the left of the conductor.

"There's Miss Cary !" cries Ruby, eagerly.

Mr. Todd points out to the children the other singers whom they do not know, and, while he is speaking, the click of Mr. Zerrahn's baton is heard, the musicians lift their instruments, and the glorious strains of the overture burst upon the ears of the wondering children. But no wise historian will try to tell about this evening's music, nor how Ruby and Ben enjoy it. More than once, in the rush of the great choruses, Ben finds himself catching his breath, and there is a rosy spot all the while on Ruby's cheek and a dazzling brightness in her eye. Mr. Todd watches them, momently; he listens, as he said, with their ears as well as his own, and finds his own pleasure trebled by their keen enjoyment. "Oh, Mamma," says Ben, as she tucks him into bed, "It seemed, some of the time, as if I was so full that I could n't hold another bit. When Miss Thurshy sang that song-you remember, Ruby, what was it?"

A choice and interesting

will be one of the attractive features for the young people.

Some of our excellent philanthropic Music Hall is packed from floor to brethren who are desirons of giving the CHRISTIAN MESSENGER a very much enlarged circulation have expressed the wish that we should provide a for persons who have not hitherto been on our list of subscribers for the weekly issue, but who might be induced to take a Monthly Number at 50 cis a year. In compliance with this request and suggestion we purpose making the first issue for each month a CHRISTIAN MESSENGER MONTHLY, commencing with January, 1882. W will therefore send this to any address for 50 cents a year, (3 copies to one address for one dollar.) The Christian Messenger weekly $2.00 paid in advance, or 3 copies to not one in all that vast multitude who would not have given all he possessed, for a draught of water."

Monthly Paper

made to enjoy God; hence there are breadths, and depths, and heights in the heart, which ten thousand worlds could never fill. Those who are most successful in the pursuit of the world, its weal h, its pleasures and its honors, participate. are never satisfied; but return from these streams much as the thi sty Israelites recoiled from the bitter waters, of which they could not drink.

while, be silenced in a guidy whirl of plea-ure; for a period the pursuit of nonour, or wealth, may call off our attention from mat ers of higher consideration, but the time will most surely come when every one like the prodigal, and remorse. will begin to be in want.

brought him down to the valley of the shadow of death. He is wealthy; and the means of earthly comfort are still anxious look, and what is the cause of the terror which is ma ifest when reference is made to the state of his soul? Alas! he is in a condition of spiritual poverty. He hungers, he thi sts, but having forsaken God, the fountain of living waters, he has hewn out to him self cisterns, broken cisterns, which can Hantsport " 16 64 Rev. J. A. McLean, Clyde..... 4 00 There has been some delay in getting he frame, but that and the bulk of the materials are now on hand, and 1 hope soon to see the house erected. I am very grateful to my brethren in the ministry and others who have kindly aided me in collecting, and the donors who have so generously responded to my call.

As I cannot spend more time away from my field, I will be very thankful for help from other churches and individu. als. As much more will be needed for the completion of the work.

Yours fraternally,

W. H. RICHAN.

P. S.-I have not given the names of individuals as the list is very long any person desires the publication of these, he will please communicate with W. H. R.

For the Christian Messenger.

Letter from Germany.

BERLIN, NOV. 28, 1881.

There is a partial lull in the Anti-Jewish movement in Germany, though the a imosity it excited i- still intense and is not likely to subside for a long time to come. The government seems at last to have discountenanced the the petitions against the Jews. The truth is, the movement was condemned by the common s nse of the world. The ever watchful Windhorst, the Catholic leader, seizes the occasion to remind the government that Prussian Catholics are still laboring under civil and religious disabilities. "No Jew baiting no Christian baiting. no Catholic baiting" was r was the rican trade, coast a year was ever ing that a g its name, somewhere had a home times, and , but in the wept away. ement now themselves y are poor ughly indehance to do a strategist ;

eem to have

"I know that my Redeemer liveth,' " answers Ruby.

"Yes; that's the one; -when she sang that I thought my heart would stop beating."

"But what I liked best," says Ruby, true to her old love, " was one Miss Cary sang about the Saviour, 'He was despised.'"

"It was all very beautiful, I know, my darlings," answerd the mother; "but you must forget it now, as soon as you can, for it is late."

one address for $5.00. These offers are made with the hope that they will afford an opportunity for hundreds of good Christian people, who are ready for every good work, to cooperate with us in sending forth the words of light, life, and salvation into thousands of homes and families at present comparatively without such in formation. Will our friends favor us by kindly interesting themselves in getting additions to our list, under either of the above arrangements.

OHRISTIAN MESSENGER OFFICE 69 & 71 Granville St., HALIFAX, N. S.

hold no water. " O death hath a most convincing tongue,

A potent oratory, that secures Most mute attention."

O, my soul, boist not that thou art rich and increased with goods, and hath need of nothing ; know this that. without | Christ, on t e testimony of his own word, "thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked."

Let us see where the believer looks for consolation in the time of trouble. King David was driven from his throne, his family, and the services of the tabernacle, by a dreadful rebellion. We the bitter cup of Jehovah's wrath that Something is about to happen, or it is feared that something may h ppen in or concerning the Grard Duchy of Luxemburg, about which France and Germany nearly came to blows in 1867.

It is well known that hair may be dyed blonde, rouge, auburn, black, or even green, without injuring its natural color. But what beats anything of the kind accomplished till now is that a German chemist has found out the means of giving to eyes any of the hues of the rainbow. Hs discovery is founded on this well-known physical law, that all objects on earth appear of property of reflecting certain special beams and absorbing the others. Now, let the eye be placed under such conditions that will reflect only rose-colored beams, it will appear rose-colored. What are these conditions? This is the