A review, of what? Of less than a week of our Saviour's life; and yet all eternity is too short to tell the result. Central thought "Life through Death."

A little blind boy was asked if he loved Jesus. His tiny frame shook with emotion, as, turning his sightless eyes toward heaven, he said: "Ye dinna ken how I love him, or ye'd never ask. They ha'e nae made the right word yet to tell of half my love; but I'm just waitin', waitin', till I ha'e the new song put into my mouth, an' then I'll gang awa' and tell it to himself."

"But while we are 'waitin' to tell it to himself,' let us tell it to others, as the last two lessons have taught us; that all may learn to love him 'who died for us.'

Help for Parents, or for the Teacher of the Primary Class.

The Titles, Golden Texts, Memory Truths, and Lesson Hymns, with a very few questions on each, form a complete Review exercise in themselves.

Do not neglect to impress the thought that it is not enough to know about these things, unless we do what we have been taught. As last week, we had a rule for a happy Christmas, so to day we will give our Saviour's own rule, for a "Happy New Year."

"If ye know these things,

HAPPY ARE YE,

If ye do them."

Abridged from the Baptist Teacher.
