

in thousands, throwing away their arms when overtaken by our cavalry. Their loss is very great.

The cavalry is now on its march to Belbeis, and the Indian contingent is on its way to Zagazig, to be followed this evening by the Highland Brigade. The canal is cut in some places, but the Railway is intact.

From prisoners taken at Tel-el-Kebir it is learned that Arabi threatened to destroy every town he might be compelled to surrender to the British. They state that he had undermined a portion of the city of Cairo, and that the work of destruction would begin with the blowing up of the citadel, followed by the massacre of the European population, whose departure from the city he forbade, in order that they may be sacrificed as victims of his vengeance when it appears to him that further resistance to the British is useless.

Other accounts are given, which confirm the above, and give details of the marvellous patience in preparation as well as of promptness in execution of the plan laid down by General Wolsley.

The despatches of the following days will accord with the results of Wednesday's victory. The humanity of the British towards the wounded Egyptians seems to have greatly surprised them. They expected instant death, whereas they received great consideration and kindness.

On Thursday, Butros Bey, Reouff Pasha, Ali Pasha Roobi arrived at Alexandria, and proceeded to the palace where they presented the Khedive, on the part of the inhabitants of Cairo, with an address pledging loyalty and submission. Butros Bey told the Khedive that the rebel force at Tel-el-Kebir, at the time of the British attack, consisted of 30,000 regulars, 7,000 Bedouins and 3,000 volunteers.

It is stated that on Friday Arabi Pasha surrendered to General McPherson saying, "I am Arabi Pasha; this is Toulo Pasha."

The taking of Tel-el-Kebir caused great joy at Alexandria. There were extensive demonstrations organizing for the purpose. The Italians and Greeks took the initiative, but persons of all nationalities participated.

General Wood received a despatch from General Wolsley, stating that Tel-el-Kebir was captured after a twenty minutes' assault. Three thousand prisoners were taken, the enemy flying and the cavalry pursuing them.

Half the Egyptians opposed to the attack were rabble, Arabi Pasha's troops were evidently delighted at the prospect of an end to the war.

After the engagement at Tel-el-Kebir Arabi fled to Cairo and told the Council that the troops had deserted him, upon which a mission was sent to the Khedive with two letters from Arabi, one expressing his devotion, and the other warning him not to allow the English to enter Cairo, as the same results might follow as happened at Alexandria. The Khedive refused to receive the letters. Arabi was taken before the Khedive. He presented a bathos picture of groveling servility. He swore he had not been aware that he was fighting against the Khedive. The Khedive remained standing while Arabi was in his presence. When Arabi had concluded the Khedive ordered his removal.

British casualties on Wednesday's battle were killed nine officers and 45 men, wounded 22 officers and 330 men. The enemy's loss is estimated at 1,500 killed and wounded.

The English troops entered Cairo on Friday.

Gen. Wolsley in reply to a deputation of chiefs from Tel-el-Kebir, who asked that the country be spared the humiliation of further advance of the British, said he would occupy Cairo that night and that in a few hours he would despatch a first train there with troops.

The Khedive has learned that the commander at Damietta refuses to surrender. He has five thousand British troops.

The Times says that if the lives of Arabi and his immediate followers are spared these men must be put once for all out of the way of further harm. They cannot be permitted to retire to Constantinople to become the centre of intrigues to overthrow the authority of the Khedive.

Fort Assan surrendered on Saturday morning to Gen. Wood. The commandant and twelve officers came forward to surrender. Gen. Wood immediately inquired for the Italian naval lieutenant Paolucci, who is supposed to have espoused Arabi Pasha's cause. After some delay Paolucci was brought forward, wearing the uniform of the Egyptian officers, and was immediately placed under arrest.

On Saturday, Lord Dufferin informed the Porte that military operations of the British in Egypt had ceased, and that England is about to withdraw a portion of her troops.

The following decree proposed at a Council of Ministers at Alexandria on Sunday has been signed by the Khedive. Article one—The Egyptian army is dissolved. Article two—Officers guilty of rebellion will be prosecuted and punished according to military law.

Riaz Pasha, Minister of the Interior, states capital punishment is awarded to leaders of revolt.

The total surrender consists of 6,000 men, 70 horses, 15,000 Remington rifles, and 50 field guns.

The British troops were everywhere well received.

Suleiman Bey, who is supposed to have instigated the burning of Alexandria, has been captured.

The Times says: "The punishment for the crime of rebellion is death, and without vindictiveness it may be said that never was that punishment more richly earned than by Arabi and his chiefs."

Shillaber, in a Boston letter, says: "At the Oceanic House, Isles of Shoals, I am informed, the bill of one retired Boston banker, who occupied a suite of five rooms from May to September, amounted to the respectable sum of plus $8,000, which was duly honored, and the regret expressed that it could not be made more to a longer stay."

During a thunder storm on Friday night the lightning struck Lone and Fleming's oil works, at Kingsland and Meserve Avenues, Brooklyn, and Donaldson's oil works, on Kingsland, near Meeker Avenue, setting both on fire. The former establishment was burned, and the oil burned all night. At Donaldson's an explosion of naphtha occurred, killing two men. The flames spread along Newton Creek for nearly a quarter of a mile, and several oil barges and lighters were destroyed. The loss of the different firms is estimated at $250,000.

Hotel keepers in Ireland are complaining that tourists are being kept out of the island, and that their business is ruined. In vain the Irish newspapers assert that there is no danger to be apprehended by visitors; the parties most concerned evidently think otherwise.

The honest opinion of other nations on the course taken by England, in the present war in Egypt, is not to be despised. The following is from the Home Circle, the popular monthly of the American Baptist Publication Society, Philadelphia, "Editorial Notes" on current events:

"Arabi's cry of 'Egypt for the Egyptians' is a watchword that appeals strongly to our American sympathy with Home Rule; but this sympathy is somewhat reduced when we remember that the Arabians whom Arabi represents are in no proper sense Egyptians, any more than the Turks are. It is one of the methods of divine retribution to make an invading people a subject people; and a claim to race supremacy can be maintained only by proving it in battle.

England has assumed the role of Protector to the feeble Khedive, and has stood for the peace of the land and the prevention of bloodshed through insurrection. Whatever may be the ultimate international complications, no blame can be attached to England for opposing her feet to the forts of Arabi Pasha. Her summary action in closing the Suez Canal, without apparent occasion for it, has the appearance of unwarranted assumption, and a disregard of the ethics and the diplomacy of international relations.

A CHOICE MUSICAL AND LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT is to be given in the North Baptist Vestry, Gottingen Street tomorrow (Thursday) evening, by Mrs. Annie H. Christopher, of Boston, assisted by the Choir—see further notice in the daily papers.

Rev. Dr. McNair, formerly a Presbyterian minister in Charlottetown, P. E. I., who is now a medical practitioner in Leith, Scotland, preached in the Granville Street Baptist Church yesterday. Since his residence in this country, which will be remembered by a number of his hearers, he has been connected with the Baptist denomination. Dr. McNair's text was Hebrews 11th chap. 4th verse, and from the subject of Cain and Abel he preached the characteristics of acceptable worship. The first was an acknowledgment of sin which Abel made in his sin-offering of the lamb slain, whereas Cain's offering was merely an acknowledgment of thanks to God. The second necessary characteristic was faith in the necessity of an atonement, and the efficacy of the great atonement of Christ. The need of the conformity of the life with the worship was further well argued. The concluding part of the sermon showed that Abel was a tiller of the ground as well as Cain, but kept sheep for the purpose of sacrifice, and thus was indicated the difference of character between the two brothers—Abel seeking first the kingdom of God, and Cain providing for the needs of this world only.—Chronicle, Monday.

An Extraordinary Offer.

There are a number of persons out of employment in every county, yet energetic men willing to work do not need to be. Those willing to work can make from $100 to $500 a month clear, working for us in a pleasant and permanent business. The amount our agents make varies, some make as high as $500 a month while others as low as $100, all depending on the energy of the Agent. We have an article of great merit. It should be sold to every house-owner, and pays over $100 per cent profit. Each sale is from $3.50 to $10.00. One agent in Pennsylvania sold $2 in two days, and cleared $64.00. An agent in New York made $45.00 in one day. Any man with energy enough to work a full day, and will do this during the year can make from 2,000 to $6,000 a year. We only want one man in each county, and to him will give the exclusive sale as long as he continues to work faithfully for us. There is no competition, and nothing like our invention made. Parties having from $200 to $1,000 to invest, can obtain a General Agency for ten counties or a state. Any one can make an investment of from $25 to $1,000 without the least risk of loss, as our Circulars will show that those investing $25 can after a 30 days trial return the goods unsold to us and get their money back, if they do not clear at least $100. They show that a General Agent who will take ten counties and invest $216 00 can, after a trial of 90 days return all goods unsold to us, and have money returned to them if they fail to clear at least $750 in that time. There are many persons having money to invest, who could not give the business personal attention—such can employ sub-agents without leaving home—making a small amount yearly out of a very small investment. We are not paying salaries, but want men willing to work and obtain as they pay the profits of their energy. Men not willing to work on our terms will not work on any. Those meaning business will receive our large descriptive circular, and extraordinary offer by enclosing a three cent stamp, with their address. The first to comply with our terms will secure the county or counties they may wish to work.
