Educational.

Miss Louisa Howard, of Burlington, has provided for the establishment of five $1,000 scholarships in the University of Vermont.

About half of the school population of Spain are now in elementary schools. At this rate that traditional ignorance of Spain must disappear in a generation are two.

Cultivate the physical exclusively, and you have an athlete or a savage; the moral only, and you have an enthusiast or a maniac; the intellect only, and you have a diseased oddity,-it may be a monster. It is only by wisely training all of them together that the complete man can be found .- Smiles,

Every good teacher recognizes the fact that his work is half done when he has induced a pupil to take a personal interest in his studies. One of the best educators we have ever known used to say that he felt satisfied when his boys after leaving the class-room would cluster in knots and talk over the questions raised but not settled during recitation until they got red in the face. The power of a teacher, therefore, depends not so much on the extent of his learning as on his ability to fire the minds of his pupils with this zeal for knowledge. He needs what we call, for lack of a better term ficient in this quality, no matter how thoroughly he may be fitted in all other respects for his work, he will be as a teacher.

A BAD BEGINNING .- When I see a youth beginning the tobacco habit, he seems to me to be riveting to his leg a clog which he will in after-life drag along painfully, regretting bitterly the folly of his young, thoughtless days, when he so toolishly encumbered his future, and looking, perhaps, with no kindly eye upon those, his older friends or relatives, who ought to have warned him in his inexperience of the folly he was about to commit. Thousands of Christian men and women, who know all this and more of the evils of the tobacco habit, have never warned their young friends against it .- Independent.

GIVE YOUR BOY A TRADE. - One man with a trade is worth a thousand without one. A return to the old plan of apprenticing boys to trades is being advocated. The host of young men in every large city who apply for employment, and fail to get it, for the reason that they cannot truthfully affirm that they are educated or especially fitted for any particular business, constitute a potent argument in favor of reform. Under the apprenticeship system we should have fewer ignorant mechanics and incompetent business men. A trade is half a man's fortune.

Make Allowance.

Do not fail to make allowance for the effects of their ill-health upon those of your friends who are invalids. No matter how much self control and sweetness of temper they may have, or may have had when they were well, it furnace to the mould when his foot business. is almost inevitable for them to seem, and probably to become a little irritable now and then, and at any rate, to show less interest than you expect them to feel in what interests others. The uncomfortable consciousness of being shut out from many of their wonted activities, the knowledge that they necessarily are causing others extra thought and labor, the strain of long endurance of discomfort, the shocks that things which ordinarily would seem to be mere trifles, now indict upon their sensative nerves, and their frequent and natural forgetfulness, to some degree, of matters external and concentration of attention upon their inner selves and the future | till the return home of the Marquis of -all these combine to render them quite unlike their former selves. Bear with them patiently and lovingly, and help them to cultivate that sweet and blessed state of mind which, without undue neglect of this world, while they are yet in it, is entered chiefly upon the world to come, and is the peace of Christ which this world can neither give nor take away .- Congregationalist.
