Some of the nut-bearing trees can be safely transplanted, especially if they have once been changed in the nursery row. Their growth, however, will be much more satisfactory if left, with due protection, where the seeds were originally dropped.

Don't forget that stock need salt as much in winter as in summer, and that they should have it regularly.

The kind of willow for a hedge is the golden willow. This makes a good hedge, and does not sprout from the roots.

Don't force your hens to scratch a frozen manure pile for a living these cold days. Give them plenty of warm food in the morning and grain at night.

HINTS ABOUT APPLES .- The buy ers all want red apples; they say they sell best. This fancy for color has given Baldwins a boom as they handle and ship well. There is another advantage for the fruit-the tree is hard and a constant bearer. On account of its market value, and the hardiness of the tree and strong bearing propensity, in an orchard of 100 trees would plant 75 Baldwins. Too many varieties of fruit are a nuis ance. They make an endless amount of work; and many kinds, while they have a value for home use, are unsuited for keeping or shipping. They do not pay. The Esopus Spitzenburgh is the daintiest flavored apple that grows. The Spitzenburgh wants protection and a virgin soil. The latter requirement can be made up in part by the use of ashes, and the former by planting wind breaks of evergreens. I treated a stunted Fameuse apple tree twenty years ago with a wheel barrow load of leached ashes, and that tree shows the benefit of it to this day .- F. D. Curtis.

DEPTH OF COAL DEPOSITS.-Pottsville in Pennsylvania is now said to possess the deepest coal mine in America. Through its shaft, 9,576 feet in depth, 200 cars, holding four tons each, are lifted every day. The time occupied for lifting a full car through the whole length of the shaft is only a little more than a minute." A gentleman who has recently descended this shaft speaks of it as follows: a person of weak nerves should not brave the ordeal by descending the Pittsville shaft. The machinery works as smoothly as hotel elevator, but the speed is so terrific that one seems falling through the air. The knees, after a few sec- fully made !" onds, become weak and tremulous, the ears ring as the drums of these organs are forced inward by the air pressure, and the eyes shut involuntarily as the beams of the shaft seem to dash upward only a foot or two away. As one leaves the light of not depends much whether it applies to the upper day the transition to, darkness is fantastic. The light does not pass into gloom in the same fasion as our day merges into night, but there is a kind of phosphorescent glow, gradually becoming dimmer and dimmer. Half way down you pass, with a roar and sudden crash, the ascending cer; and at last, after what seems several minutes, but is out a fraction of that time, the platform begins to slow up, halts at a gate, and through it you step into a crowd of creatures with the shapes of men, but the blackened faces, the glaring eyes and wild physiognomies of fiends." -Minneapolis Mills.

> "A judge, when asked why he had allowed a totally unnecessary female witness to appear and testify, said, "I know that it was not necessary; but I saw that she had a new bonnet and was striving to show it.

"Yes," said the sober-faced man, "we tried everything for her. We had allopaths and homeopaths and water cures and all sorts of cures, and they she lingered for a week or two, until death at last brought relief to her suffering ?" said the man who interrupts. " No ; she got well immediately."

A young man in a train was making fun of a lady's hat to an elderly gentleman in the seat with him. "Yes," said his seat mate, "that's my wife, and I told her if she wore that bonnet that some fool would make fun of it." That young man slid out.
