MARBLE WORKS.

In the death of E. L. Blackadar this community has lost a valued member, and the Westport Church a generous and constant supporter. Bro. B. was a native of Yarmouth Co., but removed to Westport—some four years ago. By industry and integrity in business, and by a blameless deportment he won the respect of all, and the warm friendship of many. He remained a member of the Hebron Church, but prayed and labored unremittingly for the advancement of religion in this place. A true friend helper of the pastor—ready for every good word and work, he was especially interested in the Sunday School and its work. He gave to the preparation of the weekly lesson most of the leisure moments which a toyle life allowed him. His heart was in this work and we know it was not in vain. The members of the large class of young ladies who enjoyed his instruction, will not soon forget the earnestness and the power with which he enforced the truths which belong to salvation and the Christian life. Bro. B. was a man of more than ordinary intelligence and mental activity. A man growing in grace and knowledge, and one who we hoped was destined to do much work for the Lord and for His church. His death at the early age of 60, is one of those mysteries which we cannot fathom now. May "the Father of Mercy and the God of all comfort" sustain the young widow and her fatherless boy.

R. McC. B.

At Debert River, Londonderry, Aug. 10, Ella K., daughter of Robert and Elizabeth McCully, aged 14 years. She had been in failing health for more than a year. During her illness she was much exercised with regard to her personal interest in Christ, but finally came to a joyful assurance of salvation. Then death was disarmed of its terror. She felt that if her Saviour lived her soul was safe in His keeping. She became anxious for the conversion of her young companions, and desired that whoever preached her funeral sermon should especially admonish them to give their hearts to God in their youth. Her funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Samuel Thompson, at that time on a visit to the place. M. P. F.

At Smith Cove, Nov. 4th, 1884, Liddia, beloved wife of John Woodman, Jr., in the twenty-fifth year of her age. Sister Woodman was a consistent member of the Hillgrove Baptist church, a faithful wife and loving mother. She died in peace, leaving her sorrowing husband and four young children to the mercy of a covenant-keeping God.

At Hantsport, Oct. 31st, of diphtheria, David Judson, infant son of Thomas and Sarah Sutherland, aged 1 year and 29 days. And into the gates that were golden, And over the fadeless plain, And close by the wonderful River of Life, He planted the flower again.

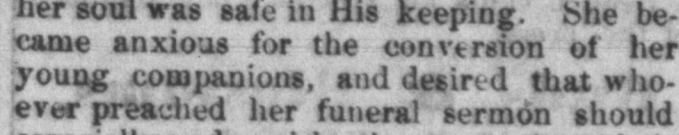

And there in a deathless splendor, It blooms and brightens to-day; And there in an endless, marvelous light, It will bloom and brighten away.

On Wednesday, Thomas McCarthy aged 74 years.

At Hantsport, Oct. 31, of diphtheria, David Judson, infant son of Thomas and Sarah Sutherland, aged 1 year and 29 days.

At Wentworth, on 16th Nov., Truman L., only and beloved child of Earnest and Nellie Higgings, aged 11 months.
