2

TTO.

CHRISTIAN MESSENCER. THE

. .

Sunday Reading.

Christ's Jewels.

"They shall be mine, saith the Lord hests, in that day when I make up my wels "-Mal. iii. 17.

Precious stones are cut and polished By the lapidary's skill; Cruel knife and rasping friction, Work on each the master's will.

Not until the sparkling facets With an equal lustre glow, Does the artist choose a setting For the gem perfected so.

Se when Christ makes up his jewels, Choosing gems of every hue; Pearls and diamonds, rubies, sapphires, Showing flawless through and through.

Could I be the least among them, Smallest gem that love could see ; And his eye detect the brightness-That would be enough for me.

Now I wait the royal pleasure, And when troubles come to me. Smile to think he may be working On the gem, though small it be.

All I ask is strength to bear it, Faith and patience to be still ; Held by him no knife can hurt me, Loving him, no trials kill.

For the Christian Messenger. Letter from Rev. John Brown. Dear Editor .-Some few years ago when in Nova nah'd Jesus' praise, it did so in this declaration. Look truth, we answer.

exclaim, " Him-elf He cannot save." its truth.

many proofs of His power. You re- negro replied, "Very well, then take the other, is she whom he loves bestmember some of these; and we ask, the boys, and give my duty to my his mother. He wishes to speak: Shall it be said of Him, who, when His massa, and tell him I beg pardon for all was the only son of my mother, and foes sought to cast Him down headlong my faults," at the same time handing she was a widow. Sickness marked from a mountain top, deliberately walked them into the boat, and then, stepping me for its own. I grew gradually through their milst, and went His way? back on the deck of the sinking ship, worse. Physicians said there was no -of Him who in awful majesty trod watched the boat move off with its pre- hope. I took farewell of my loved, my the surging de-p. and with a word cious load, and in a few minutes sank to widowed mother. I received her last hushed the tempest into a calm ?---of a watery grave, to rise no more till the kiss, I heard her sobbing prayer, I Him who in a moment smote a fig-tree sea shall give up her dead. " He saved ceased to hear her prayer as I ceased into perpetual barrenness ?-shall it be said of Him, "Himself He cannot Here was self-sacrifice of a high order, save?-of Him who restored vigour to and illustrates in some measure the love the cripple, rosy health to the leper,and self-sacrifice of the Son of God, speech to the dumb,-hearing to the who died not for friends, but for enedeaf,-sight to the blind,-life to the mies; and herein " God comm-ndeth dead, -shall it be said of HIM, " Him-His love toward us, in that while we self He cannot save?"-of Him who were yet sinners, Christ died for us!' ted thousands with a few loaves,-who "He saved others, Himself He could hurled demons from thrones they had not save." Let us look long usurped in the human frame,-II. At the declaration touching others, who with a sentence brought a band of Jesus "saved others." Is this true? enemies in helples-ness and terror to It is affirmed by the same parties who the ground,-who as He looked on high, declared " Himself he cannot save." saw twe've legions of angels " harken-1. Yes it is true, I fancy I hear one ing to the voice of His word,' and ready in the motley crowd exclaim. I look for His command to haste to the rescue, whence the voice comes. There stands -who claimed all the possessions, the a man with uplifted arm. " This very perfections, the prerogatives of Deity hand," he says, " was long a burden to as His own, by de slaring, " All things me. It hung by my side as a dead that the Father hath are mine," shall it be said of Him, "Himself He cannot save?" We ask again, is the saying true? And what is our answer? Yes it is true, - but not in the sense in which these men utter it,-yet true it is in a high and glorious sense, "Himself He cannot save." Why cannot He? 1. Because He is resolved to complete He saved others for He has saved me." Jesus has saved, - is saving, others He the work He came to execute. That work began soon as He appeared a Babe in Bethlehem. It has been advancing wi'h every word He has since spoken, white as snow covered my body. My with every prayer He has since offered, neighbours shunned me. My own fam--with every tear He has since shed, ily hid themselves from me. The peo--with every sorrow He has since en. ple called me a leper. Nine others dured. "He came not to be ministered were in as bad a plight as myself, but secutor, but the grace of our Lord Jesus Some people's censure is praise. unto, but to mini-ter." His whole life the crucified Nazarene came to our help. has been a life of giving. Should He | He cured us all. They soon forgot His now cease? now shiver the timbers on kindness, I never could. I returned to which He is stretched? now dislocate thank Him at the time, and now I am the nails fastening His hands and feet? come to thank Him again, and to say it Should He now "come down from the is quite true, " He saved others, for He cro-s," -- it will be sounded through the has saved me." universe, "He began a work He was 3. In that crowd there is another, but not able to finish !" But of Jesus with a radiant countenance. He looks never shall this be said. Until Heaven as none around him look. His eye and Earth and Hell echo with his tri- sparkles with a peculiar lustre. He umphant shout, "It is finished," it shall gazes intently on Jesus; and as he continue to be true, "Himself He cangazes, see what tears roll down his not save." Why not. cheeks !- He tries to speak, but emotion 2 Because of the Covenant into well nigh chokes his utterance. At last which He had entered with the Father. be speaks, "I den't know much, but That covenant He regards as "ordered this I do knew-once I was blind, but Him be glory for ever and ever, Amen." in all things and sure." It refers to a now I'see. Yes I do SEE. I see you, revenue of glory to Jehovah that can -I see the green earth,-the lovely be gathered only as the words of the lake,-the beautiful flowers,-the blue prophet are fulfilled : "He was wounded sky,-the orb of day,-but better than for our transgressions, &c." Until all, and best of all, I see the "Sun of renewal. It is free, "without money "mercy and truth have met together, Righteousness," I see Him, in the and without price." It is ready,and righteousness and peace have kissed light of whose countenance my sightless "finished,"-everlasting. If He has each other." "Himself He cannot eyeballs became orbs of vision. I was saved others, has He saved you? O save " will be grandly true. known as " Poor blind Bartimeus." One if not, then let Him. Let Him now be 3. Because the love He cherishes for day when sitting by the wayside begg- your Saviour. Then, from this moment fixed on Him. Look at His friends ! sinful men Of that love some of us ing, I heard a crowd coming and asked you will go through the world singing, have heard from our very childhood. what it meant, and they told me that not only with your lips, but with your "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." I life :-exchange glances which mean, Aha! to make "Himself of no reputation." longed to be near Him, and I tremulously shouted, "Jesus thou Son of done good to many, but see ! in this less ways, and at countless times was Asked me to be brought to Him. Beemergency, though "he saved others. His love put to the test; but nothing Himself ! e cannot save !" If ever | could shake the "steadfastness " with my hearers, the wrath of man hosan- which Jesus "set His face towards Jerusalem." He has already pressed through the "agony" of the garden,

I. At the declaration specially touch- where "His sweat was as it were great ing Christ Himself: "Himself He drops of blood falling down to the cannot save." We enquire, is this ground." He has reached "the place true? If any a k why we doubt its that is called Calvary" Nothing,-no shame-no taunt-no reproach-no suf

1. Because enemies make the state | fering can induce Him to shrink. His ment. They have already uttered more sublime, loving resolve is immoveable. than one talsehood about the Lord It is that love, and not the nails that Jesus. The lips that speak one lie | hold Him to the bleeding tree. Because often acquire fatal fluency in manufac- He loves with a love unparalleled, a turing more. Besides, it is well known | "love that passeth knowledge," " Himthat we frequently cherish an instinctive | self He cannot save." Hannah More aversion towards those whom we have in a letter to her sister tells of a capinjured. "A lying tongue hateth those | tain who one day went out of his own that are afficted by it." Whatever ship to dine on board another; while therefore, it says respecting the object there, a storm arose, which made such I roamed about, a torture to myself, of its hate, is to be received with cau- a wreck of his own ship that it was tion. But surely, now that Jesus is impossible for him to return. He had dying, no falsehoods will be uttered ! left his two little hoys on board, one Alas! Alas! men are found in our fallen | four, the other five years old, under the world, who think they can afford to care of a black servant. The people joke and lie even, when surrounded by struggled to get out of the sinking ship me, and in my right mind, to assure the shadow of death ! What else are into a large bost, the poor black and the you that " He saved others, for He saved these men doing when of Jesus they two boys were last on board, when me." about getting into the boat with the

2. Because Jesus has already given you, quick !" Without hesitation the see some of his youthful comrades; on tween two friends I groped my way. I stood before Him, He asked me what I wished Him to do. I told Him, and He said " Receive thy sight," and I saw at once, and have seen ever since. It is true-" He saved others, for He has saved me."

> 4. A fourth exclaims : " Hear my testimony." I know a poor woman, who for eighteen years was bound of Satan. She applied to Him who hangs on the middle cross, and He " loosed her from her infirmity." She is always talking about His power and kindness. People wonder at her. I do not. A demon had once possession of myself. My dwelling was among the tombs. I shouted and foamed, so that people when they saw me, fled ; others tried to bind me with chains, but I snapped their fetters. and a terror to all. But Jesus saw me. He had compassion. He addressed the demon in tones Divine : the demon heard-shrieked, and fled, and here I am, in garments my benefactor gave

5. In the same crowd stands an inter-We ask, Is the saying true? We doubt boys, the master of the boat shouted, esting young man. The bloom of health "No room for the three, the boys or is on his cheek. On one side I fancy I others, himself he could not save." to live. I was laid out. Friends came to the funeral, and were bearing me away. As the procession neared the gate of my native city, a stranger stopped it. He touched the bier, and though a corpse to all beside, I was to Him, a "young man," and He said "Young man, I say unto thee, arise" I heard His voice of music, Drath struggled to keep me but in vain. The Prince of Life prevailed, and I obeyed His call, and He " delivered me to my mother." She is here, and knows that all I say is true. Jesus saved others for He saved me." 6. Another cross becomes an object of interest. The culprit nailed to it begins to speak. " I die," he says, " I deserve to die. I am not only a transgressor against God, but I have broken my thing. Instead of my grasping any- country's laws. Yet 1 do not fear to thing with it, I had when I moved, die. 'He whom my soul loveth" is at carefully to lift it,-but now how I love my side. I have asked Him not to to look at it ! Many a good day's work forget me. He says He will not.] it has done since. He whose hands are have a place in His royal, tender heart. nailed to that middle cross, restored it This is all I ask-all I need-and 1 whole as the other. As I gaze on Him, have it. " Underneath are the everlast-I gratefully exclaim "Yes it is true, ing arms." I feel their blessed embrace. 2. " And not you only," cries a second. is mighty to save, for He has saved ME." "For months,-for years, I was the What numbers Jesus has saved since subject of a loathsome disease, scales then ! Amid a tide of confluent voices, one clarion in its tones, cries out. "Do'nt forget me." Who art thou ? " I was known both by Heaven and Hell as the "chief of sinners, a blasphemer, a per-Christ was great toward me, and He met me as I was going to Damascus to imprison and slay His followers; and sinner, blasphemer, and persecutor though I was,-in answer to my cry. He pardoned me, and made me a new man. "He saved others, for He saved me," and through me, He by His grace has "saved many others." The great multitude before the throne, with one united and harmonious voice "as the sound of many waters," cry, " He saved us all," " Unto Him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in His own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and His Father; to "He saved others,"-is saving still, -is saving now. Still He loves to save. Accept the salvation. It is full, meet. ing all our necessities; pardon, and

JANUARY 16, 1884.

JA

The (

Bi

Lesso

LIV

COMM

GOLD

D

in the lift you

M. Th T. No

W. Ch T. Ch

F. Cb

S. Sho S. Be

ANAI

QUES

has the

The to the tor

pared 1

and to pared 1

use ou

that is mit of

Is Sata

of evil

resist l

in this

God ?

hands

Whom

does

CXXXVI

Vs.

erer al

is mea

any rig

law of pent;

Believ

He sa

else do

Suppe

Vs.

Vs.

is the

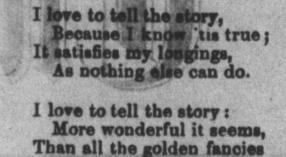

II. Du

III. Be IV. K

Hand-shaking Christians.

It has been well, said 'the social element is the genius of Christianity.' It is uphill work to love Christ and not love those also who love Him. A love that binds people to Christ and which does not bind them to each other, may do for angels, but it is not the kind of love men want down here. It is to be suspected. There is a good deal of it if we are to believe what people say. But it counts for precious little during the six days tussle with the world, the flesh and the devil.

. Every one that loveth is born of God.' The other side of this statement is just as true. 'The lack,' says Dr. Wm. M. Taylor, 'of brotherhood among believers themselves, has paralyzed the church in front of the skepticism and immorality of the world; but when we go b ck in simple faith to the one great fact of our redemption, we shall both be brought into closer fellowship with each other and stimulated to more tender regard for the salvation of men.' Some time age the Presbyterian put this whole thing in this nut shell : Shake hands with somebody as you go out of church. The more of it the better, if it is expre-sive of real feeling and interest. There may be a great deal of the spirit of the gospel put into a hearty shake of the hand.' There is no place in the moral vine-yard where there is a better opportunity to exercise this Christian grace than right here on Sunday and in the weekly prayer-meetings.

Of all our golden dreams. I love to tell the story, It did so much for me, And that is just the reason I tell it now to thee."

"He saved others, Himself He would not save."

How to make your Churches Prosperous.

Through church channels your religi ous and philanthropic activities ought to find exercise. The church is weakened in two ways. First, because so many of her members do nothing. The men and women, even in our best churches, who do the work are few indeed. There are to many in the rear with the baggage, too many in the ambulances, too many are in the hospital some, like the great warrior of Homeric song, are sulking in their tents. It is sad to think how much of a pastor's time is taken up in coddling and com, forting, soothing and stimulating, i quieting and quickening the complaining saints. When he ought to be after the unconverted, he is well nigh distracted with the inconsistencies of those who should be by his side in aggressive work. But the church is weakened second, because some working members think they must work in outside organizations. They will give more time and money to a masonic lodge in a month than they will give to the church in a year. The result is that they have neither time, money, nor energy for church work. By a very natural law, they soon lose interest for church work. I am not denouncing outside organizations. I am simply stating facts. Others must work in halls, tents, and hippodromes. They get the idea that no aggressive work can be done in their church. They seldom attend the prayer-meetings. When they do, they spend their time in berating the faithful brethren and sisters for their coldness, and in telling of the glorious meetings they have attended e sewhere. What shall be done with such people? Doubtless they have in God's providence, their uses ; but they are sore tests of one's faith. Christ made no mi-take in organizing his church. With all her faults she is the most perfect organization on his footstool. Do not slight her claims, The more is your zeal for souls, the more ought your devotion to be to your church. Why fly to outside organizations for work or pleasure? All Christian needs should be tound in a well organized spiritual church. If the church be not such, try to make it such. You will find a few kindred souls. Begin with these; others will fall into line. I have met so-called " higherlife" people who boasted of their indifterence to the claims of the church of which they were members. "You belong to such a church, do you not?" " Oh, yes, but I never go there; I have had new light; I have come into pertect trust." Indeed ! One would think that such perfect trust would show itself in greater devotion to Christ's church and in a deeper sense of obligation to keep one's covenant vows. Not so. The higher the life, the lighter the oblig. tion ; the higher the life, the weaker the loyalty. May God save the churches from this sort of higher life! Its tendency is distraction, disintegration, death. It gives certain persons a roving commission to go about disturbing their peaceful neighbor. It makes a great army of noisy, self-righteous, worthless church members who "despise the church of God." The line of demarcation between the church and the world must be deep and broad. Too often has it been nearly effaced. The best evidence of religion is religion. The strongest argument for Christianity is Christianity itself. Heaven.-Lady's Dollar Newspaper. Christians who have the name, but not the character of Christ, do more to injure Christianity than all the infidels in the world. Unchristian Christianity not infidelity, is the church's worst foe. A consistent life is an irresistible argument .- The Home Circle.

Scotia I read with very much pleasure and profit, and I may say found great help in the study of the subject of Baptism -a work entitled "Kind Questions," by Rev. A. M. Stalker; certainly one of, if not the best work I have seen on the subject. The price I believe was 25 or 30 cents.

On hearing a few weeks ago that the learned and genial writer was to preach at North Bradley, about ten miles distant, and having been invited by the pastor, Rev. I. Han-on, himself also powerful writer and able de ender and advocate of the Bapist faith, to come I was not slow to make my way there. I found Mr. Stalker to be just what his book would lead one to suppose, full o kindness, gentleness and love. He is above the middle stature, past three score and ten, hair almost white, a com manding presence, with a slight tremo in his voice, which was so emooth and kindly. He preached from the words-"He saved others, Himself He cannot save," and seldom have I telt my heart laid hold of, and my attention so rivetted as when listening to the venerable preacher. Having enjoyed it so much I thought possibly your readers might derive some pleasure also from as much of it as I am able to send. I can only send words, the man, the manner, the voice, the tones which made those words to live and breathe, I cannot send.

With affectionate remembrances. Yours sincerely, JOHN BROWN.

Unintended Testimony. BEING THE SUBSTANCE OF A SERMON BY REV. A. M. STALKER, FORMERLY OF SOUTHFORT, AT NORTH

BLADLEY, WILTS. G. B. "He saved others. Himself He cannot save."-MATT. XXVII. 42.

They unwittingly exalt when they intend to degrade. They mean a stigma and a brand, where they leave a crown. They intend that as the darkest shame, which proves a tribute of the brightest glory, of this many illustrations might be given. The toes of the Lord Jesus furnish one of the most cogent and striking. On a memorable occasion, thinking with one fell sweep to lay His sublimest professions in the dust,-with curled lip they exclaimed, " This man receiveth sinners !" Never perhaps did Jesus endorse any of their sayings more readily, and more cordially than He did this. It was the richest, the grandest eulogy which either earth or hell could pronounce on the Son of God. To "receive sinners" was His work-His joy-His glory. The text shews them again unconsciously doing Him homage. His wonderful career is about closing. On the cross He hangs n apparent utter helplessness. The crowd surrounding Him is dense, Numerous groups are there. All eyes are They talk to each other in whispers, in sighs, in tears. His toes exult. They Love prompted the Lord Jesus to come, Aha! see what the Nazarene has come He emptied Himself of His glory betoi He has done wondertul things- | cause He was FULL of love. In count- | David have mercy on me." He stopped.

The Mother's Lesson.

A mother sitting in her parlor, overheard her child, whom a sister was dressing, say repeatedly, 'No I don't want to say my prayers.'

'Mother,' said the child, appearing at the parlor door.

'Good morning my child.' 'I am going to get my breakfast.' 'Stop a minute; I want you to come and see me first.'

The mother laid down her work on the next chair, as the boy ran towards her She took him up. He kneeled in her lap, and laid his face down upon ber shoulder, his cheek against her ear. The mother rocked the chair slowly backward and forward. ' Are you pretty well this morning ?' said she, in a kind and gentle tone.

'Yes, mother, I am very well.'

'I am glad you are well. I am very well too, and when I waked up this morning and found that I was well, I thanked God for taking care of me.'

"Did you ?' said the boy in a low tone -half a whisper. He paused after itconscience was at its work.

'Did you ever feel my pulse ?' asked his mother, after a minute of silence, at the same time taking the boy down and sitting him in her lap and placing his fingers on her wrist. ' No, but I have felt mine.'

"Well, don't you feel mine now-how it goes beating." 'Yes,' said the child.

"It it should stop beating I should die," 'Should you ?' 'Yes, I can't keep it beating.'

'Who can ?' "God !' A silence. "You have a pulse too which beats here in your bosom in your arm, and all over you, and I can" future to say, it nece will? Vs. ing Go and do we fin you ki Is the ence? Less son, d humili of livi The betwe > in the verses world wars, praye and e oarne and to

> > No God. submi as the array tian l way a Chris perfe the di fighti is see evil,

perso

he d

who f migh

whiel

Spirit

not n

and may grace

forgi

-ne

this |

(Luk

i. e.,

ward

your

to G

Only

hear

Lord

mind

world

1 Ki

weep

repe

tion

tion.

jollit

quer

over

your

Vs

Vs

"I love to tell the story

Of unseen things above ; Of Jesus and His glory Of Jesus and His love. by Japanese missionaries.

not keep it beating nor can you-nobody can but God. If he should not take care of you, who could !' 'I don't know, said the child, with a look of anxiety, and another pause ensued.' 'So when I waked this morning I thought I'd ask God to take care of me and all of us.'

"Did you ask him to take care of me ?" ' No.'

'Why not?

'Because I thought you would ask yourself.'

A long pause ensued-the deep and thoughtful expression of his countenance showed that his heart was reached.

'Don't you think you had better ask him yourself ?'

'Yes,' said the boy readily. He kneeled again in his mother's lap and uttered in his simple and broken language, a prayer for the protection of

The American Bible Society cannot supply the demand for Bibles, although making arrangements for issuing 2,000,. 000 next year.

It is the crushed grape that gives out the blood-red wine. It is the suffering Many Coreans are being converted soul that breaths the sweetest melodies -Gail Hamilton.