clusive right for twenty-five years for a line of single track railway, with necessary side tracks, switches, etc.

LIGHT WANTED: -There is great complaint, not without cause, of the gas that is being supplied to Halifax. It is a great shame that at the rate charged we should have so inferior an article, and that men and women should have their eye sight injured working by the dim twilight it gives. If the shareholders had to stand at a type-setter's case for a few nights they would perhaps be concerned to expend a little more in the effort to give what they are paid for rather than the inferior quality now provided.

Quite an improvement was made last week in the condition of our city streets by the removal of the accumulations of mud, so that we seem now in a fair way for entering on Spring operations, If we have no more ice or snow, the season may be regarded as two or three weeks forwarder than usual. The appearance of drift ice and icebergs in the ocean being so much earlier than common, it may be expected that we shall not have the drawbacks of cold winds off the arctic ice on the coast during the month of May which we frequently endure.

Our Police Court is doing good service when it lays a fine or imprisonment on young fellows charged with habitually standing at the corners of the streets. Too little attention is given to keeping the sidewalks clear, and giving a free passage to pedestrians. People often, if they have to speak to each other on the street, thoughtlessly stand just in the way of a whole stream of passers-by, and compel them to make a detour to get past, whereas by a little consideration they might get out of the way and prevent such things. The police might notice this occasionally, and by example and precept introduce improvements in in our street traffic.

On Thursday last in the House of Commons Sir Stafford Northcote made a motion to discuss the Government's Egyptian policy. He said that the honor of England was pledged to insure the safety of Gen. Gordon. Mr. Gladstone complained against the Opposition for constantly raising debates in regard to Egypt. 'The motion of Sir Stafford Northcote he said was mischievous. He believed that the object of the Opposition was to consume the time of Parliament in order to weaken the resources of the House in regard to the Franchise Bill. Sir Stafford Northcote's motion negatived. Mr. Gladstone in reply to a question put said that General Gordon is not under orders to remain at Khartoum. He could leave at any time if he felt so disposed. Gen. Gordon believed himself to be perfectly safe.

In connection with the report that the Pope intended to quit Rome it is mentioned that the inventory of the contents of the Vatican was recently made and copies handed to the ambassadors from all the powers.

The Times' Rome correspondent says: When the question in regard to the property of the propaganda was raised, the Queen intimated to the Pope that if the organ of the Vatican refrained from attacking the king, the utmost would be done to obtain a favorable decision from the Appellate Court. The Pope agreed. The King informed the premier and deputies of the compact, and the latter approved it. The Pope now thinks he has been trifled with as the premier inspired the
