His father wanted his service in the office. ## The Crowned Production of a Great Physician.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Crowned Production of a Great Physician. Paine's Celery Compound was the crowning production of America's most eminent physician—Professor E. E. Phelps, M. D.

Such a physician could only give what was worthy of his great and elevated character to suffering humanity. His best hours were devoted to the perfecting of what is now known in millions of homes in Britain, Europe and on this continent as Paine's Celery Compound, nature's food medicine for the nerves, brain and blood.

After our long winter and late spring, a host of people of every age have been left in a weak, languid and depressed condition of health. The nerves are unstrung, the body is emaciated, the blood is stagnant and impure, digests ion is faulty and constipation is doing its deadly work.

Your safety, health and future physical happiness demand the immediate use of Paine's Celery Compound, whose marvellous virtues are recognized by our ablest physicians, many of whom make personal use of it in their homes. Dr. A. W. K. Newton, writing to the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound, says:

"The formula of Paine's Celery Compound led me to give it a personal trial, and I was much pleased with the result. I prescribe it for men and women who have no appetite, cannot sleep, and for the weak and run-down. For this condition, and for disorders of the blood and nerves, it has no equal. It is the best possible remedy to keep up one's strength and energy during the spring and summer months."

Two warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

Old Materials Profitably Used.

DIAMOND DYES

Are the Favorites of all Mill and Rug Makers.

Mrs. P. L. Stanhope, of Victoria, B. C., writes thus: "I recently discovered that I had sufficient old materials such as flannel, cloth, yarns and discarded underwear stored away from which I could make a couple of fair-sized rugs for the floor. I sent to Wells & Richards Co., Montreal, for two of their handsome rug designs. After they were received, I washed my old materials and colored them with Diamond Dyes to match the shades on the rug patterns. I hooked the two rugs, and they are so handsome that all my friends admire them. The Diamond Dyes are, I think, the best and most reliable for home dyeing. I certainly recommend them to all who make mats and rugs."

LITERARY NOTES.

The Homiletic Review for May has, as usual with that standard Review, some strong and timely articles. The opening paper is on "The Progress of Scientific Thought During the Nineteenth Century." "A Word on Preaching from the Standpoint of the Student in the Seminary" is a unique lecture to the students of Hartford Theological Seminary. There are several sermons. The Review embraces in its range of subjects all the topics of current interest, and its writers are representatives in the various denominations.

An interesting paper on Mohammedan slavery will be found in the May Forum under the title of "Uncle Sam's Legacy of Slaves." The author shows how deeply it is rooted in the traditions of the people, and recommends a method of gradual abolition.

Governor Roosevelt's face and figure form the frontispiece of St. Nicholas for May, the first article being from his pen—"What We can Expect of the American boy." He distinguishes between moral and physical courage, and maintains that both are necessary to a complete character. "Dub-o Links" describes a novelty in artistic amusements; and "The Enchanted Adjutant Bird" Tador Jenks tells a fairy-story of a bird that had the good sense to refuse to be turned into a man. "A Poet's Kindness" is illustrated in an anecdote of John G. Whittier. A usual St. Nicholas abounds in verses and pictures.

Ex-President Cleveland, in the forthcoming College Man's Number of the Saturday Evening Post, May 24th, discusses the oft-asked question: Does a College Education Pay? and makes out a strong case in favor of giving a young man the advantages of a university training. Among the other contributors to this special double number are the Presidents of general Universities.

In the Review of Reviews for May, there is comment on Admiral Dewey's candidacy, on the government of Puerto Rico; on the proposed government of Alaska, and on the developments of the month in financial and industrial circles. Other topics treated in are the rush to Cape Nome, fox-breeding in Alaska, the epidemic of strikes, the opening of the Paris fair, &c.

In McClure's Magazine for May, Professor Simon Newcomb will write of the total solar eclipse that is to occur on May 28, telling where and what degree it will be visible and what astronomers hope to learn from it. He will also give an account of the important things that have been learned from previous eclipses. The article will be fully illustrated.

Portraits of twelve of the leading officers of the Ecumenical Conference in New York form the frontispiece to the Missionary Review of the World for May, and Dr. Pierson's address before the Conference on "The Superintending Providence of God in Missions" is the opening article. There is a sketch of "Count Zinzendorf, the Founder of Modern Missions," the remarkable Moravian statesman, bishop, poet, preacher, and missionary. "The Reign of Terror on the Congo" is graphically described. The Horrors of the Famine in India are told by two young missionaries in the afflicted district. Many articles arrest attention and awaken interest.

Published monthly by Funk & Wagnell Co., 30 Lafayette Place, New York. $2 50 a year.

AMONG EXCHANGES.

WHAT IT SHOULD DO.

The Church should stand before sinners, big as well as little, as Elijah stood before the royal sinner, King David.—Morning Star.

NO USE TO ANY.

A horse going at full speed doesn't need to fight the flies. The Christians that are standing still are the ones that are pestered with trouble.—Free Baptist.

WHIP THE OTHER FELLOW.

A preacher in Hartford, Conn., in addressing a ministerial meeting, advocated establishing the whipping-post for the punishing of drunkards. Would it not be better and more human to establish the whipping-post for the punishment of the men who engage in the drunkard-making business, and especially for the punishment of the preachers who fail to inveigh against the legalized rum traffic? Whipping drunkards for getting drunk is too much like "kicking a man when he is down" to suit our sense of fair play. No one feels like whipping a cripple for slipping down on a banana peeling carelessly thrown on the sidewalk. It is the fellow who threw the peeling there who should be punished. So it is the fellows who "for filthy lucre's sake" run the drunkards and entrap the boys and make them fail to cry out against the monstrous legalized traffic, who are to blame for the drunkenness, and not the poor victims of their greed and delinquency.—Rel. Times op.
