CATARRH PHILANTHROPY.

Which means, do good as well as get good. This is how it operates.—Pearl Lake Mill, Que., August, 1906.—"Enclosed find $6.00, send six outfits to friends" as follows—A short time ago I wrote for an outfit for Mr. Liberge, he would not now part with it for twice its value. I secured one in Montreal, having been informed of your remedy by my father.—It has acted wonderfully in Nasal Catarrh of long standing. Signed,

THOS. SISSONS.

Mr. Sissons says a great deal more but when a man sends for six outfits of Catarrhzone that means more than a bushel of words. Such action stands for conviction that he has discovered a remedy of superlative value. Druggists all sell Catarrhzone, ask them to show it to you, ask them to let you try it. We will send it to you for $1.00 or a sample for ten cents. N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., Hartford, Conn.

AGREEING WITH A LUNATIC.

An Episcopal clergyman, visiting a lunatic in an American asylum, was instructed by his guide that it would be best to agree with the patient in whatever he said, and so he did, with a surprising result. The lunatic said: 'I suppose you know that the President has been impeached for stealing? to which a faint Yes responded. What a pity, he continued, 'hat the Washington Monument was blown up by dynamite.' 'Yes, an awful pity,' was the reply. 'And aren't you glad the Queen of England is dead, so that her son will have a chance to be King?' 'Oh, certainly,' said the clergyman, 'it was full time for her to die.' The lunatic looked at him piercingly. 'Aren't you a clergyman?' 'Why, yes; certainly.' 'Well, sir, you are the biggest liar I ever saw.'

LITERARY NOTES.

Music, Song, and Story is the descriptive title of a forthcoming new magazine to be ready early in December with a holiday issue dated January, 1907. It will attempt to answer every demand for home reading and entertainment, and in addition to the ordinary contents of an illustrated literary magazine will provide 16 pages of new sheet music with every issue. It is to be published monthly at 10 cents a copy or $1 a year from 74 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

The December number of The Homiletic Review is a worthy conclusion of the last of the two volumes of that periodical. During the year The Review has had among its contributors many of the ablest thinkers, preachers, and writers of the English-speaking world. Many preachers will be interested in what Dr. Cunningham Gilkie has to say on "Effective Pulpit Presentation of the Parable of the Prodigal." It is an eminently fresh treatment of what would seem to be anything but a fresh subject. The paper entitled "End-of-the-Century Hope," furnishes an antidote to the pessimism that seems to have so much of rational grounds in present moral and spiritual conditions.

Among the representative sermons is one on "The Place of Worship" by Rev. Thomas Spurgeon, preached at the re-opening of the Metropolitan Tabernacle. It has in it much that reminds one of the elder Spurgeon. The prospectus for 1907 promises the best that the Review has ever offered its readers. Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Co., 30 Lafayette Place, New York. $3.00 a year.

The St. Nicholas' holiday number has a cover resplendent in five colors. The frontispiece, in black and white, illustrates seasonal verses "The Shepherds in Judea;" and other timely matters are "Christmas on the Mayflower," "The Tale of a Christmas Pony," "Instructions to Santa Claus." In "The Sorcery of Hal the Wheelwright," she tells how a bicycle came to be made in the time of Henry V., and of the troubles it brought to its inventor. A stirring story is that of the rescue of shipwrecked sailors on the shores of L. ke Superior. Everything in the magazine this month is illustrated.

From the standpoint of illustrations, The Canadian Magazine surpasses itself in its Christmas Number. This is an age of pictures, and the quality of those presented in this issue are exceptionally good. The reproductions of characteristic bits of "Canada's Scenic Splendours" are done in colours most effectively. The list of contents is just as commendable. There are special poems, short stories, all bright and characteristic. There is an interesting article on The Bank of Montreal, its foundation, its early history, &c. "The Young Idea in Japan," "Mrs. Kruger at Home," are interesting. The colored cover represents "Johnny Canuck's Christmas." As a souvenir to send abroad the special issue of Canada's Magazine is very suitable.

The Christmas (December) Century has an appropriate colored cover; and the frontispiece is one of a group of full-page and minor decorations, richly printed in color and tint, illustrating the great ode "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity." Special attention has been paid to color printing in The Century of late years, but it is believed that nothing else that has been done in the magazine quite equals in richness of effect the results that have been attained in this number. An essay by Charles Dudley Warner on "The Pursuit of Happiness" has a timely interest as probably one of the latest things ever produced by the genial satirist who passed away last month. Besides the fiction there are "The Struggle on the Peking Wall," describing a critical moment in the fortunes of the besieged legation; "With the Peking Relief Column," "Significant knowledge of the Bible," "Paths of Hope for the Negro," and "What More Than Wages?" Poems grave and gay and timely editorials round out perhaps the most beautiful number of The Century ever published.

In the New Hebrides the past year has seen 1,102 islanders won from cannibalism to Christianity. A single missionary received two hundred adults into church-membership.

DOWIE'S ELASPHEMOS CLAIM.

Dr. J. Alexander Dowie has been exploiting himself and his claims in the city of London. An example of his opinion of himself and his authority is found in the following quotation from his utterances, as reported by the British Weekly:

If my ministry is from heaven, you must believe what I say, and you must do what I tell you. Does it follow? It does, just as surely as anything can venture to say, after nearly a quarter of a century of silent testimony, that I have a right to stand here and say, in Zion, you have to do what I tell you. Oh, the whole Church? What, the whole Church? Yes! The whole Church—Presbyterian, Congregational, Baptist, and Episcopalian. God has sent a man, and he has written his mission over twenty-three years. What more do you want? Well, doctor, this is the most daring thing we ever heard. Yes, and it is the most daring thing I have ever said, but is time it was said. And many of you believe it is time, I do not ask somebody else to say it for me. The time has come when I must say it myself. The words that rang out long ago concerning other prophets ring out today; "Touch not mine anointed ones, and do my prophets no harm." I tell you it is an awful thing to have a message from God. It is an awful thing to stand between the living and the dead, and it has been laid upon me. The time has come. I have entered upon the fourth year of this Christian in Catholic Church. I tell the Church universal—everywhere—you have to do what I tell you. Do you hear? You have to do what I tell you, because what I tell you is in accordance with that Word, and because I am the messenger of God's Covenant.

Commenting on this, the London Christian well says: It is blatant defiance of the words of the Lord Jesus which, said of himself, apply with tenfold force to mere human claimants: "If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true." The Church in general, may not be free from fault, and its individual members may often be poor examples of what is justly expected of the followers of Christ, but the Word of God has not been recalled, nor can Christ be represented by any self-appointed dictator, who speaks glibly of matters pertaining to himself and "other prophets." The assumption of such authority brings to mind the claims of the Pope, and gives significance to the word "Catholic" in the name of Dowie's church. He plainly seeks an organization centered in one man, who shall have absolute authority over the members of the institution. How utterly inconsistent with the teaching of Christ! "If any man shall desire to be first, the same shall be last of all and servant of all."

Dowie's declaration, "I am the messenger of God's covenant," is blasphemous. He thereby arrogates to himself the authority and honor due Christ only. With the Union Gospel News we say, "It is surprising that he can make claims utterly at variance with the spirit and words of Christ, and still defend himself, well-meaning people to defend him, and follow him." But then humanity is so constituted that the more brazen the charlatan and humbug, the more ready some people are to follow him.

Our 44 page book, sent free, "Treatment for Diseases and Cures of the Old Home."

If the blood is pure the whole body will be healthy. If the blood is impure the whole system becomes corrupted with its impurities. Burdock Blood Bitters transforms impure and watery blood into rich pure blood and builds up the health. Disease germs cannot lurk in this system when B.B.B. is used.

Miss Effie McDonald, Liscomb Mill, Guy Co., N.S., writes: "I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy for purifying the blood and curing sick headache. I had tried many remedies, but none of them did me much good. B.B.B. made me so well that I feel like a new woman and I am constantly recommending it to my friends."
