LITERARY NOTES.

The case for Finland against Russia is effectively put in the September Forum by Eugene Lindendorf, who narrates in detail the recent autocratic action of Russia with respect to Finnish government, religion and education.

No more inspiring writers on foreign missions can be found than those who contribute to The Missionary Review of the World. The October number is one flowing with articles by missionary experts at home and abroad. D. Pierson opens with a discussion of "Some Home Problems of Foreign Missions." These are many and important, and the author has made a careful study of them for many years. Two brief papers on Islam follow. There is a thoughtful and thorough paper on "Christian Forces at Work in the Turkish Empire." China, Japan, Africa, Greece, and India have also a place in this number and there are Eritorials, and Items of Recent Intelligence. Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Company, 39 Lafayette Place, New York. $2 50 a year.

The October Canadian Magazine is, somewhat of a Royal Visit. "The Significance of the Royal Visit;" "The Duke and Duchess of York at Home," and "Presentation at Court," are illustrated. The sportsman will find good reading in "The Game Laws of Ontario and Quebec" and "Wild-geese Shooting in New Brunswick." "Commercial Education at Universities," advises the universities to bring their teaching to bear on the subjects in which business men should be trained. The various departments now-a-days has been extended to journalistic circles as well as commercial. It is shown by the recent purchase of The Canadian Home Journal by Mr. Hugh C. McLean, publisher of The Ladies' Magazine, Toronto. The Journal, which was established many years ago, will be discontinued as a distinct publication, and will be merged into The Ladies' Magazine, which has already won a place for itself as the popular home paper for Canadian women.

The girl who believes that she would make a good physician will be interested in The Youth's Companion of October 31st. To that issue Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi will contribute an article,—"She Would Be a Doctor,"—in which she describes a girl who had made up her mind to study medicine, and achieved success in her chosen career.

In the October number of the Methodist Magazine Sir John Bourne completes his series of papers on "Builders of Nova Scotia," with portraits. "The Sacred Rhine" has numerous engravings of that picturesque river. Other articles are, "Sir Henry Fawcett, the Blind Postmaster of England," "The Romance of the Killing Time," "The Churchmanship of John Wesley," etc. Portraits and pictures illustrate the chief topic of the month, the death of President McKinley. The November and December numbers of this magazine will be sent free to new subscribers for 1902.

Toronto: William Briggs. $2.00 a year: $1.00 for six months.

The Century for October covers an unusual range of topics and appeals to a variety of tastes. "The Men of New Japan" is very interesting. The new woman is depicted and in the role of parliamentarian in "Madame President and Her Constituents." A noted aeronaut argues the practicability of crossing the Atlantic in a balloon, and incidentally criticises severely recent attempts at air navigation. To the automobile and the bicycle is due "The Abandoned Farm Found." The stories of the number include "An Angel's Monk," "Trent's Trust," and "Bred in the Bone." The editorial pages include a paper upon "The Desperate Plight of New York City."

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists Toronto. 50c and $1.00; all druggists.

The Ladies' Home Journal for October is, perhaps, the best number of this magazine ever issued. The literary features include "How the Leopard Got His Spots," the first instalment of "A Gentleman of the Blue Grass," the last of "Miss Alcott's Letter to her 'Lurie,'" and the closing chapters of "Aileen." "Some Things the President Does Not Do," and Mr. Bok's advice to a young man about to marry are important features. The regular editorial departments are supplemented by nine new ones of great interest. The illustrations and art features are superb. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a number.

Ralph Connor's new story which is the serial feature of The Westminster this year, displays some characteristic marks of Black Rock, and "The Sky Pilot," and leads its author into new fields. Its scenes are in the Ottawa and Quebec districts and then shift to the West. The characters are remarkably well drawn, the writing is strong and the story throbs with life. It is a good story. The magazine numbers of The Westminster, containing "The Man from Glengarry," in full, may be had for one year for one dollar. These monthly numbers are religious but not sectarian. They contain never less than sixty-four pages, well printed, abundantly illustrated, and bearing an article cover design. The best writers in all the churches contributing to these Monthly Magazine numbers. Any person in Canada or the United States sending one dollar to The Westminster, Toronto, before October 5th, will receive three magazine numbers for one year from that date, and all the previous chapters of Ralph Connor's new story, "The Man from Glengarry," free.
