Religious Intelligencer.

Rev. JOSEPH McLeod, D.D., Editor.

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 6TH, 1901.

Every pastor an evangelist in his own field is a pressing need of the times.

A few genuine converts are worth infinitely more to the church than a crowd of professors.

The Presbyterians have more money invested in Theological Seminaries than any other three denominations in America.

It is telegraphed from the Capital that archbishop Duhamel of Ottawa has issued a pastoral to the priests in his arch-diocese instructing them to assist the census enumerators in every way.

Think of people between thirty-five and forty years of age, in London, who had never seen a Bible, nor ever entered a place of worship, nor offered a prayer.

The Methodists of Canada have not only contributed the million dollars asked for as a twentieth century offering to the work of the church, but have exceeded it by $60,000.

It is not well for the minister in charge of revival work to tell the people that this, or may be, the last week of the special meetings.

A deputation of the British Evangelical Alliance had an interview with the King of Portugal during his visit to London, at the time of the Queen's funeral.

In the fifty-first Psalm there occurs this clause in David's penitential prayer: "Cleanse me from my sin."

The Roman Catholic archbishop of New Zealand, in a recent sermon, declared that the morality of Roman Catholics in that part of the world is very much higher and more general than that of Protestants.

population, they contribute thirty-three per cent. to the number of prisoners in the jails; and that his own denomination (the Methodist) includes about ten and a half per cent. of the people, and is responsible for three and a half per cent of the criminal population.

Something similar as to the criminal population is found wherever there are accurate statistics.

REVIVAL AND INGATHERING.

In line with some things we wrote about revivals last week is an article in a recent number of the Canadian Baptist, some of which we reproduce here.

We believe this is becoming more and more true. It is character which tells more and more, and everything else is telling less and less.

Another consideration should powerfully affect thoughtful pastors and church members to lead them to a higher abiding church life.

Every church is not only shaping its own life but that of the future. Our churches, especially the non-spiritual element of them, should be deeply affected by considerations such as these.

Just then my wife came in to say that the flour was out; and my youngest boy (little Thad) put his curly head in at the door and shouted, "Pa, and my boots and pants are out too, and I want some more."

That reminds me, said the deacon, "that there are a great many little boys in the city who need clothes, and a great many homes are without flour and fuel."

He adds: "We cannot get along without the INTELLIGENCER now; it is like an old friend talking to us every week; God bless it, and send it into many homes."

SELF-IMMOLATORS.—News from St. Petersburg says that a search at Tensaspol revealed the bodies of twenty-eight persons who had been buried alive.

THE STEEL SYNDICATE. Last week there was considerable excitement caused by a statement that the big Steel Syndicate in the United States, recently formed, had purchased the Dominion Iron and Steel works at Sydney, C. B.

THE ROTHEBY LISTS. The Attorney General has not moved to discover and punish the guilty of the crime of fraudulently giving hundreds of names to the Kings Co., list of voters.

a cleansing from all of his sins, and he instantly receives such a cleansing, so that there is no sin in him and no tendency to commit sin; how can he determine that he will not need to repeat such a prayer to-morrow or next week?

WHAT THE DEACON SAID.

"What church do you attend?" was the question the deacon asked me, before he was seated, when he came into my room the other day.

"Oh yes," I answered, "I attend all the churches I can; I am not particular about my church; I like them all, and help to support all of them."

"But deacon," I said, "you are narrow and bigoted. All the churches are good, and are doing good work; we certainly ought to help them."

"I am much pleased with the INTELLIGENCER. It covers a wide field of thought and information."

WHAT HE THINKS.—A gentleman who for a number of years has paid five or six, or sometimes more, subscriptions besides his own, and who every year adds one or more new names, says of a new home to which he is sending the INTELLIGENCER this year—

There is still talk of negotiations between Lord Kitchener and Gen. Louis Botha looking to Botha's surrender. Kitchener demands unconditional surrender.

A NEW YORK MINISTER writes:—"I am much pleased with the INTELLIGENCER. It covers a wide field of thought and information."

THE LAST PROPOSAL. The Guardian tells us that it is probable a bill will be introduced into the Ontario Legislature, during the present session, for promoting what is called "the scientific treatment of dipsomaniacs."

"Strange!" he mused, what different motives take people to church. I have known lawyers to go to the church where they thought they could find the most clients; and if, as sometimes happened, their clients did not attend any church at all, why the lawyers went with them.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

A bill before the Connecticut Legislature last week proposed to abolish the death penalty, substituting life imprisonment. After a long debate the proposed change was rejected.

THE DUKE OF YORK.

The Duke of York and Cornwall, son of King Edward, will start for Australia soon. It is understood that he will reach Canada about the middle of September, landing on our Pacific Coast.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

The bill continuing the modus vivendi in the "French Shore" matter, passed the Newfoundland Legislature last week. The arrangement is not at all satisfactory to the peoples of Newfoundland, as was clearly enough expressed by their representatives.

EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES.

Germany has 21 universities, with 34,389 students and 2,777 teachers. The largest is the University of Berlin, with more than 5,000 students and a staff of 414 teachers.

Some time ago a writer in the Montreal Witness made a very clear and comprehensive statement of the history and position of the island of Anticosti.

THE GAMBLERS. Police Magistrate Richey, of St. John, fined the gambling Chinese $5.00 each—the lowest penalty could impose. He intimated that the Chinamen were not the only breakers of the law against gambling.

RUM PERMITS. A Parliamentary return presented to the House Thursday, in answer to an inquiry, shows that during the last year the Dominion government issued forty-eight permits to take intoxicating liquors into the Yukon Territory.

ROME SCORES. Mr. Costigan's coronation oath resolutions passed the House of Commons with a very large majority.

THE STEEL SYNDICATE. Last week there was considerable excitement caused by a statement that the big Steel Syndicate in the United States, recently formed, had purchased the Dominion Iron and Steel works at Sydney, C. B.
