When return home (Balasore) and get settled I will try to write a longer letter about my trip and what I saw in Puri A week ago Monday found me on my girls had been giving trouble, and I thought I would give her a chance, and put her into a Home in Calcutta. Since I returned I received a letter to the effect that she was crying all the time and did not wish to remain there. I cannot take her back into the Orphanage, so she will need to be satisfied in the Home ; which I hope she will be, and profit by it.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

The history of what was known as the Zoarite community, in Northeastern Ohio, adds another witness, says the Journal and Messenger, to the futility of all schemes for the removal of social and financial inequalities. Moved by an impulse which was not of heaven, the earliest Christians "had all things common." But they soon learned the folly of such a course, and abandoned it. Again and again, something of the same kind has been undertaken, but always with the same result, after sufficient time to prove the mistake. No doubt the Zoarites of Tuscarawas County were good people, having a noble purpose; but they made the mistake of supposing that the communistic idea could be fully realized in Christianity, and, after seventy years, they find it wholly inadequate to meet the demands of human nature. They have found it impossible to make saints of all those born to them, or received into their society, and now the community is breaking to pieces at the hands of its young men. Another year, it is said, will see the end of it. The Shakers, the Oneida Community in New York State, and other like societies, must ultimately go by the same road. THE DISCOURAGED PROPHET

Elijah was not a selfish man, nor was he a timid servant of the Lord. He stood nobly and heroically for the God of Israel, but when his labor seemed to be in vain, when his attempted revolution appeared to result only in greater power to the queen and the followers of Baal, and when exhausted by his physical exertion and the terrible nervous strain of recent events, he sank under the juniper tree, discouraged, and ready to die, but loved of God. couraged when the providence of God seems not to sustain them in his service. for a walk on the beach. The town has built a tidle walk along the beach and at intervals there are benches on which to rest. The European houses, about half a dozen in all, are built on a strip of sandy soil along the beach. One evening, while walking on the beach, I came to a number of large rough looking boats, which on inquiry, I learned are used to convey cargo to The ore contains about 3 per cent. of vessels which occasionally come here nickel and about an equal quantity of for rice. same motives, may get on for a time. But when the numbers increase, and when the original leaders are gone, and when other motives come in and obscure those of the founders, then come trouble and finally disruption and distress. What is thought, in the outset, to be promotive of liberty, is found to be the instrument of tyranny and none can abide the day of its coming.

AMONG EXCHANGES.

THE WORST THING.

One of the awful things about Christian Science, Dowieism and kindred humbugs is the permitting of children and helpless persons to die in agony without medical attendance. Last week a case was reported from Hamilton, O., of a child terribly burned, who died without help, whose parents refused to have a physician. Even if the child's life could not have been saved, much might have been done to prevent pain. The Humane Society finally heard of it, and an officer was sent with a physician. The foolish parents protested violently because the law would not allow their little one to die in such a horrible manner. There seems to be more people without common sense in the world than ever before.-Journal and Messenger.

SPUNK AND SPIRITUALITY.

Spunk and spirituality belong together. It is a question whethe spiritually -- the real thing, that is, and not the mush and milk article so much in vogue-can really exist without divinely-bestowed courage as one of its elements. The Book of the Acts is a record of the work of spirit-filled boldness of Peter and John" that "they took knowledge of them that Interior.

A LABOUR UNION.

A Christian labor union has been effected in Chicago, to which employers as well as employees are eligible. The object of this union of Christian Workmen is to secure the solution of all differences by the application of the principles of Christ. Strikes are ruled out and peaceable adjustment is to be the only method employed. The founders of the union are Christian men who believe the gospel of Christ furnishes the true spirit in which all difference between employer and employee should be approached.
