The General Conference (tri ennial) of Free Baptists of the United States will meet at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia, on Monday of next week.

The "Away from Rome' movement in Europe continues. Those who have transferred their membership from the Roman Catholic to the Protestant communion are numbered admit that mind precedes matter.

GEOLOGY AND GENESIS.

Somehow men seem to delight in seeing difficulties where none exist. Genesis has been demolished, according to some, still it abides as parc of that Book which remains as the most popular Book of our times.

One of the most eminent scientists of our age, Alfred Russel Wallace, says there is "a world of spirit to which the world of matter is altogether what Genesis claims, and declares. It begins in the Unseen : " In the beginning "-- it does not say when, "God created the heavens and the earth.' That's the great thought of the creative story of Genesis. Its purpose is to declare God, because of man's relation to Him. The form is popular, practical, meeting the needs of all the ages. What is the common sense view Here is a lock-the world, and here is a key-the Book of Revelation. We try the key, and it fits the lock; for the Maker of the one, as to essential fact, is the Maker of the other. No other key fits the lock, according to Mr. Wallace. Science has not the key. "Creation is a composite process. It begins in the spiritual world, and term inates in the material."....." The Bible shows God creative; geology shows us the world being created. Where scripture stops, there science first begins" (Prof. Gray Emslie.) The most eminent sons of science may be met and bills paid, and still no power for good. A church that has nothing but money power is of little permanent use either to God or man. It may parchase elegant equipments and have all that wealth can buy, but the gift of God can not be bought with money. Nothing has ever been more destructive to the spiritual interests of a congregation than when wealthy people arrogantly make their influence

Nor does the strength of a church lie even in the activity of the people. It would seem as if great activity should carry everything before it, and that if all are really energetic, success is assured. But this does not follow. subordinate." That is just exactly It is gratifying to a pastor to have a working church busily employed in carrying out this or that scheme, nor can he labor to advantage if he must work single-handed and carry all burdens. But a wise old minister once remarked, "There is such a thing as a session being too active." There is a greater force to be used than the show of much serving in the work of the Lord. We must not be misled by mistaken notions about activity. horse that is running away is more active than one that is quietly doing his work, but he often carries disaster with him. The activity of a locomotive is only desirable when it is on the open track and has the right of way. Otherwise it is an engine of destruction.

What, then, is the real strength of any congregation? Wherein does it lie? In the character of the pastor, officers and people. Everything depends on this. Numbers, wealth and activity have value in a church only when behind them all is a high Christian character. This leads to unity of purpose. A united people carry weight with them like a compact army. They move as one man. Difficulties vanish in the line of their march. Happy are the people who can think alike and do the Lord's work without contention Happy is the pastor who is placed in charge of such a united people ! In their union there is the power which no divided people can have. A venerable lawyer of wide experience and observation said : "I am surprised that the church does not realize her power. I have noticed that when the Christian people of this country set themselves unitedly against anything, it goes down. Nothing can stand against their united assault." Here is testimony for united action in the church in general. But it is true also of every branch of the church and of every individual congregation. Let the people stand together and all possible things can be accomplished.

It always was the case, from the days of the apostles till now, that there have been times in the history of the most Coming To Quebec. of Christian churches when there were certain members who made a practice vast deal of trouble from such ones. They were schismatics, and hence they were division-breeders. They often undertook to manage the whole church according to their own conceited notions of right or expediency. In his letter to the Romans Paul says; "Now, I beseech you, brethren, mark them which are causing the divisions and occasions of stumbling, contrary to the doctrine which ye learned, and turn disturbers of the peace and prosperity of the church should be gotten rid of. Rev. Dr. J. B. Gambrell of Dallas, Texas, in an article in the Baptist Standard of that city, says: "A strong church in a city, some two thousand miles from Dallas, had in it a hopeless schism. It was hopeless, because five men of intelligence, respectability and influence were banded together on every question in opposition to the general policy of the church. Their attitude was that of constant antagonism, and they always stood together. They could affect quite a number of others, and kept up in the church for years a rankling, enervating strife. On one occasion the pastor of the church, before the preaching, called the church to order and said 'Brethren, we all know brethren so and so," (naming these five brethren). 'They are men of respectability. Their outward deportment is good. We have but one complaint against them in this church, and that is, they are schismatics. As we well know they have stood together for years against whatever this church has attempted to is not profitable to them, and it is exceedingly hurtful to the church. think they ought to have letters of dismission, terminating their connection with this church, but giving them permission to join any other church of like faith and order." A brother so moved, and it was done. The fussing brethren were tendered their certificates of membership, and the pastor remained with that church nearly fifty years. That was a slick and commendable way of getting rid of those disturbing elements, who were hinderers of the good pastor and a curse to the church. Some would say that they should have been excluded from the church. Other churches would be much more honored by God if they would cast out those who are always

THE TRUE STRENGTH OF A CHURCH.

Wherein consists the strength of church? Answering this question, the Presbyterian says : It is not in the number of its members. Names added pressed the belief that we are just on strength to a church. There have there was no increase of power. They have gathered in and added to their

Still more does strength lie in the holy living of the people. Let those who are anxious to report large acces. sions to their communion remember that ten good members bring more power to a church than a hundred half hearted ones. The quality of the members received is always of more importance than the number. A single person soundly converted and admitted to a church has sometimes brought into it such a blessing that all hearts were filled with joy, and the effect was felt for years to come. A keen and observant man said : "I am not a member of any church, and am sorry to say I do not often attend. But I am a friend of churches, and pay
