REV. JOSEPH McLeod, D.D., .... EDITOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 25TH, 1901

To the ministers we venture to repeat the request that they will endeavour to bring to Conference lists of renewals and new subscriptions for the INTELLIGENCER. We hope they will mention the matter to their congregations again next Sunday, and sixteen hymns, and eleven prayers, all inside of an hour"-we may be certain that the service has not been on a high level. Then, on the other hand, when the meeting falls into the hands of the long-winded folk, they generally leave it as the robbers did the traveler on his way to Jericho-stripped, wounded, and half dead. No more tactful, delicate service falls to the pastors lot than that involved in the church prayer meeting.

The University of Chicago is making a new departure in the line of 'personally conducted tours." One of the courses of its Divinity School is to be taken next winter in Palestine, under the direction of Professor Shailer Matthews, the/junior dean. A class, limited to twenty, will sail from New York in December, returning in April. The time spent in Palestine will be devoted to illustrative interpretation of the Land and the Book, with special courses in Biblical geography and the life of Christ. The tours planned for cover Judea, Samaria and Galilee, with the Decapolis, extending as far north as Damascus and Baalbek. It will hardly be a holiday tour. Original work in research and interpretation will be required, and credit given at the University the same as for the work of students in residence. The whole expense to each person is about $700. This announcement, following closely on the statement that the Uni versity is to establish its own branch schools in Europe for Americans residing there, the first of which, for girls, opens next autumn in Paris, puts this institution in the lead of others of its rank in America

This year's cotton crop is the largest ever produced in the Southern States. The price of cotton is higher than in any late year, so that the value of the crop is away ahead of any previous year. The 1899 yield was the largest previous to this year; but the value this year is $200,000,000 more than in that year. The whole yield is 10,383, 492 bales, valued at $494,567,549. * *

Another interesting thing is the zeal with which the church members and the new converts are giving themselves to the work of bringing in others. Every afternoon, when the prayer-meeting is over, bands of Chris-
