DENOMINATIONAL NEWS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—I feel that I should acknowledge in this way the receipt of a very nice conon skin coat presented to me on the 6th inst. by the churches of this pastorate. I feel very grateful to them for this token regard.
J. CLEMENT WILSON.

WOODSTOCK.—I am enjoying myself here very much. It is not very difficult matter to get acquainted with the congregation of the Woodstock Church. The people are very kind and remarkably appreciative. The ordinance of baptism was administered Sunday evening.

MINISTERS—Licentiate Puddington in town Saturday. He is ministering to the Upper Gagetown Gentry store. The work is in some respects, encouraging.
Rev. Dr. Hartley is recovering from his recent illness. Our last word of him was to the effect that he is considerably improved.
Licentiate Wilson writes that he is enjoying the work in his new field of labor. At Victoria Corner he had some special meetings which were blessed to the help of a number of backslidden christians.
Rev. A. H. McLeod reports the work on Grand Manan moving on about as usual.

A MISSIONARY MARTYR.

Of the pioneer missionary, Dr. James Chalmers, who was murdered by the natives of New Guinea last spring, confirmation of which fact has at last reached London, had labored among the native races of the south more than thirty years. The Interior tells that "he was sent to New Guinea by the London Missionary Society from Samoa in 1877, with ten active Polynesian teachers; two missionaries and fifteen native assistants having preceded them. His particular work was always to extend the number of the stations, to open up new fields and to go where nobody else would dare to venture. He was a man of magnificent physique and indomitable courage. Time and time again he had escaped from the hands of cannibal tribes more by reason of his awe his presence inspired than for any other cause. Untiring, resourceful, perfectly acquainted with the traits of the native character as he was, his loss will be a great blow to the mission. Even where the British Government had hesitated to intrude, he had recently taken place, James Chalmers had entered alone and unarmed and discovered the authors of the outrage. His most acceptable disciples were the Samoans, themselves recent converts from a like barbarism. Schools had been established among many tribes before his death and religious customs were well observed in the older stations. But Mr. Chalmers was upon a tour to the south of Aird river with the mission member Niue, when a large party of natives enticed him and his assistants more. An exploring party some weeks later found evidence that they had met a violent death soon after landing. Thus another name is added to the long roll of the martyrs of the cross, and as always, the death of the sainted laborer will be avenged by sending more volunteers to preach the gospel of repentance and forgiveness to his murderers.

COMMON SENSE AND COMMON HONESTY.

Both these things are shown in the words of the notice which one of our Nova Scotian apple growers puts on every barrel of apples he sends out: "Not only I hereby guarantee the contents of this package to be the same from head to head and to be fairly represented by the face end, and I further authorize my consignees to return the money paid for fruit of my making which is proved not to be according to brand. Injury in transit fully excepted."
That man's apples bought the purchaser will gladly pay an extra price for a barrel of fruit which shows similar size and quality at top, bottom and middle of the barrel. But why will you report dealers act in this way? If reports are true the dishonest pack of some of them has done not a little to damage the market for our fruit. In apple making as in other things the man who is not "square" is more than a snave—he is a fool.
We sincerely hope that the new law relating to the packing and inspection of fruit will have the desired effect. It would be a splendid thing commercially, as well as morally, if the very fact of a barrel of apples having been packed in Nova Scotia should come to be a guarantee of the soundness, size and quality of the fruit from the top of the barrel to the bottom.

BABY BEAUTY.

You always think of a little baby as plump and chubby Scott's Emulsion gives just this plumpness: not too fat just enough for the dimples to come. Babies like it, too.

A NEW VERSE.—It is stated that the King and Queen have approved of the following verse being added to the National Anthem:
In perfect peace serene
Keep Thou O Gracious Queen,
With heaven's own sunshine fair
Rest on her everywhere;
Hear Thou O people's prayer,
God Save the Queen.

This is said to be the first time that the consort of the sovereign has thus been mentioned in the prayer for the ruler.

ABOUT REPORTS.

Some pastors seem to think that half a column should be given to announce (and give the particulars) that they were given a reception or donation; but breaen, it cannot be done. All ready want to know is the fact or facts. Their own imagination will supply the missing parts.—Rel. Telescope.

Her death was peaceful and triumphant. Her last words were: "In Father's house are many mansions. She was loved by all who knew her. Her life was cheerful and unselfish. ### BROWN.

—At Wilson's beach, Dec. 2 of pneumonia, Oliver Brown the 75th year of his age. A number years ago Bro. Brown became acquainted with the Lord, and until the day of his service. His quiet, christian life gave evidence of his fellowship with the Christ he loved and tried to serve. He leaves one son and two daughters, with a great many relatives.
J. J. PROSSER.

NEWMAN—At Wyan Beach, on the 15th inst., of paralysis, Clotilde, relict of the late Leonard Newman in the 69th year of her age. She followed her husband but a little more than three years, making the bereavement almost total. The large family, all of whom reside near home, have the sympathy of the whole village. She will be much missed in her home, which for years she has been sole to leave.

BROWN—At Wyan Beach, Dec. 8th pneumonia, Calvin Brown, in the 6th year of his age. Mr. Brown, though being the end of a long and useful life, was a sturdy man in excellent health until overcome by a sudden severe attack of pneumonia, brought on by over-exposure in the chill wind while waiting for the arrival of his friend from Eastport in a boat, in which he had his life endangered. He will be much missed in his home where the memory of his kind ness and care will ever be cherished by an affectionate wife and two loving sons. He leaves a long list of relatives and friends who sought every opportunity of expressing their sympathy with the immediate relatives.

A. J. PROSSER.
HOPKINS—At Barrington, N. S., on Sept. 9th, after a lingering illness, Archibald Hopkins passed to that life which is beyond. He left to mourn their loss a widow, a daughter, two sons and an exceptionally large circle of relatives and friends. His remains were interred in Hill Cemetery, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Gosline. Bro. Hopkins was born in 1829. In early life he became a christian, and from the time of his conversion he was a faithful and consistent follower of his Saviour. He was interested in all christian work. No one was more regular in attendance at, nor more interested in, public worship. He was not a man of many words, but in the social service, which he rarely missed, he seldom failed to witness, and his testimony did us good. He is much missed and it will be hard to fill his place. His home was a "mini-temple" and the "prophet's chamber" was always ready. He was generous in act, wise in counsel, and of large sympathy. In Nov., 1900, he suffered a paralytic stroke. For months he was confined to his room. When the summer came, by the aid of helpers, he was able to be wheeled around. His departure came very suddenly. After several hours of refreshing sleep, without any warning the end came. During all his confinement he was patient and sunny. The last months of his life revealed to all the sterling christian integrity of his heart. He trusted God in life. God was with him in death. He will be held in loving remembrance and "the memory of the just is blessed."

BOOKS FOR SALE.

On receipt of $1.25 I will send, post paid, either of these books, "An Introduction of the Life of Jesus" or "The Method of Jesus." Their author is Rev. Alfred Williams Anthony, Professor of New Testament, Exegesis and Criticism, Cobb Divinity School, Lewiston, Me. The first named book answers well the question, what do we know of Christ apart from the Bible, and is an excellent book for scholars and students of the Bible. The second named book that I ever read. A few of the many subjects treated are "The Abounding Life," "Creative Acts," "Victory over Self and Circumstances," "Character the Portal to Vision," "Progressive Revelation."
Another helpful book is called "New Wine Skins." It is really a bound volume of the lectures delivered before the Maine Ministers Institute during 1900. Many subjects are skillfully treated. "Sociology," "Philosophical and Biblical Interpretation Problems," "Ministers Personality and Methods," "Methods of Evangelization," "And Opportunities before the church of today." A very clear lecture on the Historical Setting of the New Testament Taught. This book retails for $1.50. I have a few copies of the three books which I will be glad to mail to any one on receipt of price.
