

ain't that your boy?" the one suddenly exclaimed in an undertone.

"Guess I'll have to claim him," the other replied with a grim smile. "Why Tom, what does this mean?" he asked in surprise.

Tom looked around half-frightened, for he stood in awe of his father.

"Why, I didn't go to the excursion. I gave my ticket and lunch to a poor boy, and his little brother who had to sell peanuts all day, and never get anywhere, and I'm selling them for them until they

CUTICURA SOAP

The World's Greatest Skin Soap.

The World's Sweetest Toilet Soap.

Sale Greater Than the World's Product of Other Skin Soaps.

Sold Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, for annoying irritations, or too free or offensive perspiration, for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative, anti-septic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odours. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Thus it combines in one soap at one price the most effective skin and complexion soap, and the purest and sweetest toilet, bath and nursery soap ever compounded.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Casted Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. get back. I really didn't want to go so bad when I found that Ben wanted to go so badly and take Teddy," he said earnestly.

Judge Strong smiled.

"I don't believe that this is the boy who was so anxious to get off he could scarcely eat his breakfast this morning. You must come with me and have luncheon."

Tom hesitated a moment.

"I can't leave here, and, besides, Ben left his lunch and he'd think it wasn't good enough if I wouldn't eat any of it."

"Have it your own way, my boy. Here, Drummond, I know you like peanuts; we ought to patronize the boy a little."

Tom almost regretted that he had not gone with his father, when he opened the little package of lunch that Ben left—dry bread and a few cold potatoes—but he tried to eat it bravely.

"I know how it is to be poor," he thought.

That afternoon business became quite brisk, and when Ben and Teddy came back, all happy and excited over the day's pleasure, Tom was entirely sold out and waiting for them.

"Well, my boy, are you tired?" Judge Strong asked, putting his hand on Tom's curly head as he lay on the sofa in the library that evening.

Tom looked up with a bright smile.

"A little—but what a good time Ben and Teddy must have had."

"Do you think so?" and Judge Strong pushed the hair from Tom's face and stooped and kissed him, and Tom felt that he was repaid.—N. Y. Observer.

BLOWING BUBBLES.

Sammy was blowing bubbles.

"Oh, mamma! Do come and see how beautiful they are.

Mamma came and watched while the little boy blew a large bubble. He clasped his hands as it rose slowly in the air.

"See the colors in it!" he cried, "Red and purple and green and gold. Why, mamma, they are like flowers—or the birds. The colors are just as bright."

"Yes," said mamma, "there are many bright-colored things in the world."

"I think," said Sammy, "it is very good of God to make so many pretty things for us to look at."

He went on blowing, thinking each bubble brighter than the last. Soon he heard a voice at the door: "Let me blow!"

It was Willie, a little boy who lived next door.

"Yes," said Sammy, "we'll take turns."

But very soon he saw that Willie did not like to take only his turn, he wanted all.

At last Sammy went to his mother. "Mamma," he said, "I wish you'd tell Willie to go home. He wants to blow all the time."

"I am sorry," said mamma, "but don't you think you can bear with Willie a little? He has been ill a long, long time, and has forgotten that he ought to do his share of giving up."

"I don't think it is fair that I should do it all," said Sammy.

"That is true," said mamma. "But we all sometimes have to submit to what is not fair. Now listen, my child. You thing it is good of the Lord to make the bright things for us. It pleases you to see them. Just so it pleases God to see a little heart for his sake is willing to show loving patience to others."

"I think I'll do it," said Sammy with a smile. "I've had two good times this morning," he afterwards said to mamma.

"First it was the pretty bright bubbles, and then it was being too good to Willie."—London Sunday-school Times.

MERRY, HAPPY BABIES.

There is no greater treasure on earth than a healthy, happy, merry baby. Anything therefore that will keep the little one in this condition is a priceless boon to mothers. Mrs. William Bull, Maple Creek, N. W. T., tells how she accomplished this end. She says: "I am happy to say that Baby's Own Tablets have done my baby girl a world of good. She was badly troubled with constipation and very cross and peevish, but since using the Tablets she is all right. I give her the Tablets once or twice a week, and she is now such a merry, happy little thing that there can be no doubt Baby's Own Tablets are just the thing for little ones."

Here is a lesson for other mothers who want a safe and certain medicine for the ailments from which their little ones suffer from time to time. These Tablets are sold under a guarantee to contain no opiate or harmful drug, and they are good for all children—from the newborn babe to the well grown child. Sold at 25 cents a box, or sent by mail by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE SUNSHINE OF RELIGION.

Our Lord when on earth was not a friend only for dark days. He could stand by the grave of Lazarus and weep with the sorrowing sisters, but he could also be present at the wedding at Cana of Galilee, an honored and welcome guest.

In our deep realization of the solemn mission of our Lord to this sinful world, we are apt to forget that he came as an image and expression and embodiment of the God of love. The morose Christian is not likely to be bidden to feasts where his presence is only a gloomy shadow and his countenance as a threatening cloud. We may be sure that even in this holy purity this was not the impression made by him whose "compassions are new every morning." There was sunshine about him, or the mothers would not have thronged around him with their little ones; the despised sufferers would not have looked trustfully to him for help; the outcast sinner would not have turned to him for pardon.

We seem to fancy that God made our eyes for tears, and that from some other power came their glad twinkle of merriment or their expression of innocent joy in the midst of social converse. Who wreathed the mouth with smiles that answer to smiles? Who made the dimples in the baby's face? Who lit the glad, loving light in the eyes as it begins to be aware of the tender care of its mother? Why will we not remember that joy is as much the gift of God as sorrow, and to be as freely accepted in his presence?—Churchman.

The World is Full of Pains. — The aches and pains that afflict humanity are many and constant, arising from a multitude of indistinguishable causes, but in the main owing to man's negligence in taking care of his health. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was the outcome of a universal cry for some specific which would speedily relieve pain, and it has filled its mission to a remarkable degree.

THE HACKING COUGH.

One of the meanest things to get rid of is a hacking cough. There is apparently no cause for it. No soreness, no irritation; first; but the involuntary effect of the muscles of the throat to get did of something is almost constant. Of course with many cough is a habit, but it is a bad habit, and should be stopped. When you realize this and try to stop it, you find you can't, for by that time there is an actual irritation, which will never get better without treatment.

It is a curious thing that nearly all treatment for cough actually makes the cough worse. Then, too, most medicine for cough have a bad effect on the stomach. This is especially true of so-called cough remedies that contain a narcotic. The true treatment for cough is one that heals the irritated surfaces. This is what Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam does. It protects the throat also while the healing process is going on. When this remedy was first compounded our old men were young boys, and all this time it has been doing a steady work of healing throats. The most obstinate hacking cough will quickly show the effects of the Balsam. People who have been trying for years to break up the mean little cough, will find a sure friend in this old-time soothing compound made from the barks and gums of trees. All druggists sell Adamson's Botanic Balsam. 25 cents.
