

BEST LEMONADE.

The best lemonade is made by boiling sugar and water together and adding the lemon juice after it is cold. Use one pound of sugar to each quart of water; add the juice of six lemons and the desired quantity of water at serving-time. Pineapple lemonade may be made by boiling together one quart of water, one pound of sugar, and the grated rind of one lemon, for five minutes. Strain; when cold, add the juice of six lemons, one pineapple pared and picked into very small particles, and either a quart of water or a quart of Apollinaris water.

BABY'S FUTURE

Something for Mothers to Think About

Lives of Suffering and Sorrow Averted

And Happiness and Prosperity Assured by

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills When All Else Fails.

Every child born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humours of the skin, scalp and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering, but because of the dreadful fear that the disfiguration is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence, it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest and most effective treatment available, viz., The Cuticura Treatment. Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, to cool the blood in the severer cases, are all that can be desired for the speedy relief and permanent cure of skin-tortured infants and children, and the comfort of worn-out parents.

Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands, for annoying irritations and weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Deposits: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co.; Sydney; Boston, 127 Columbus Ave. Foster Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors. HOME HINTS.

After handling onions or other malodorous substances, wash the hands with mustard water.

The whites of raw eggs are very nourishing. A good way to prepare the drink is to break the white into a jar, with what milk is desired, and shake the two thoroughly together. A pinch of salt should be added.

A good preparation that softens the hands is made as follows: Soak half a pound of oatmeal over night in a quart of warm water, strain and add one tablespoonful each of olive oil, rose water, cologne and glycerine.

For the treatment of scorched food take the kettle at once from the fire and set in a pan of cold water for a moment or two. This will greatly subtract from the disagreeable taste of the slightly burned food. Of course the really burned bits should be at once removed.

Lemon Syrup.—To two cups sugar add four cups water. Bring to boiling point and let boil thirteen minutes; then add two-thirds cup lemon juice. Cool and bottle. Dilute with cold or iced water, to suit individual tastes. Lemonade is at its best when made from lemon syrup.

UNCLE PHIL.

"Uncle Phil, did they have strikes when you were a boy?"

"Yes, I struck myself once."

"Tell me about it?"

"Well, I was hoeing corn and it was hot, and I struck."

"What did your father do?"

"Why, he did some striking too, and then I went back to work in a hurry."

"Did you have an eight-hour day, Uncle Phil?"

"Yes, eight hours in the forenoon and eight hours in the afternoon."

"You had Saturday afternoon off, didn't you?"

"We did. They sent us off to the wood pile and we cut wood as long as we could see."

"Did you have walking delegates?"

"Yes, we all walked."

"Didn't it make you tired?"

"It did when I went on an errand, but not when I went rabbit hunting."

"How did you get your wages raised?"

"I didn't have any to raise."

"Don't you think that wages ought to be higher?"

"Well, I have seen some sinners who I thought were getting all the wages they could stand."—The Advance.

HABITS.

Ned was watching grandpa put on his shoes. "Why do you turn 'em over to shake 'em before you put 'em on?" he asked.

"Did I?" said grandpa.

"Why, yes, you did; but I didn't see anything come out. I have to shake the sand out of my shoes 'most every morning."

Grandpa laughed. "I didn't notice that I shook my shoes, Ned; but I got in the habit of shaking my shoes every time before putting them on when I was in India."

"Why did you do it there?"

"To shake out the scorpions or centipedes or other vermin that might be hidden in them."

"But you don't need to do it here, for we don't have such things."

"I know, but I formed the habit, and now I do it without thinking."

"Habit is a queer thing, isn't it?" and Ned.

"It's a very strong thing," said grandpa, "remember that, my boy. A habit is a chain that grows stronger every day, and it seems as if a bad habit grows strong faster than a good one. If you want to have good habits when you are old, form them while you are young, and let them be growing strong all the while you live."—Mayvower.

THE BOY UNDERSTOOD.

An old schoolmaster said one day to a minister who had come to examine his school: "I believe the children know the catechism word for word."

"But do they understand it—that is the question?" said the minister.

The schoolmaster merely bowed respectfully in reply, and the examination began. A little boy repeated the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother," and he was requested to explain it.

Instead of trying to do so he said, almost in a whisper, his face covered with blushes:

"Yesterday I showed some strange gentleman over the hill. The sharp stones cut my feet, and the gentleman saw they were bleeding, and they gave me some money to buy me shoes. I gave the money to my mother, for she had no shoes, either, and I thought I could go barefoot better than she could."

HOW CAMELS FIGHT.

Nearly every animal has a peculiar style of fighting of its own, and the average man takes a keen interest in watching an exhibition of these peculiarities, says the New York American. A camel fight is rather curious. The brutes have a pair of teeth far back in the jaw, which rival those of a tiger, and an old male is extremely ferocious. Knowing, however, that these, their most terrible weapons, are useless in a front attack—for, vast as a camel's gape is, it cannot be stretched wide enough to bring them into action—they never try to grip the head or neck or any vital part of an antagonist.

All the strategy is directed to the object of seizing one of his legs below the knee, and thus overthrow him by pressure, then the hugh back teeth can be brought to bear upon his throat, and he is no better than a corpse. There are those who deny that the camel has any sense at all, and they appeal to everybody who knows the beast by experience. The camel's way of fighting is mean and awkward, but it is the one best suited to its anatomy.

HE FISHED FOR A COMPLIMENT.

A self-conscious and egotistical young clergyman was "supplying" the pulpit of a country church. After the service, he asked one of the deacons, a grizzled, plain-spoken man, what he thought of "this morning's effort."

"Waal," answered the old man, slowly, "I'll tell ye; I'll tell ye in a kind o' parable. It reminded me of Sim Pec's fust deer-hunt, when he was green. He followed the deer's tracks all right, but he followed 'em all day in the wrong direction."

A polish recommended for hard or stained-wood floors is made by cutting 8 ounces of yellow beeswax into small pieces, and adding to it two quarts of spirits of turpentine and one quart of Venetian turpentine. When the beeswax is dissolved, the mixture may be boiled for use. It should be applied with a piece of soft flannel.

THE HACKING COUGH.

One of the meanest things to get rid of is a hacking cough. There is apparently no cause for it. No soreness, no irritation at first; but the involuntary effect of the muscles of the throat to get rid of something is almost constant. Of course with many coughs is a habit, but it is a bad habit, and should be stopped. When you realize this and try to stop it, you find you can't, for by that time there is an actual irritation, which will never get better without treatment.

It is a curious thing that nearly all treatment for cough actually makes the cough worse. Then, too, most medicine for cough have a bad effect on the stomach. This is especially true of so-called cough remedies that contain a narcotic. The true treatment for cough is one that heals the irritated surfaces. This is what Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam does. It protects the throat also while the healing process is going on. When this remedy was first compounded our old men were young boys, and all this time it has been doing a steady work of healing throats. The most obstinate hacking cough will quickly show the effects of the Balsam. People who have been trying for years to break up the mean little cough, will find a sure friend in this old-time soothing compound made from the barks and gums of trees. All druggists sell Adamson's Botanic Balsam. 25 cents.

HAD OVER 500 BOILS.

This may seem an exaggeration to you, BUT IT IS TRUE.

All sufferers from Bad Blood should read about this miraculous cure by

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

CURED IN 1885.

Mr. David F. Mott wrote us from Spring Valley, Ont., in 1885. He said:—I suffered from impure blood and had over 500 boils, but since taking BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS I am entirely cured, and can recommend it to any person troubled with bad blood.

CONFIRMED IN 1901.

Mr. Mott writes us from 62 Broad St., Utica, N.Y., under date of Dec. 31st, 1901. He says:—Some time ago I received a letter from your firm, saying that some years ago you received a testimonial from me, stating that I had over 500 boils. Yes, sir, I had, and I must say that I have never had the re-appearance of one since I took the course of your BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. I thank God that I have had good health ever since, for I was a great sufferer. I wish B.B.B. a world of success, which it surely deserves.
