The union meetings still continue at Hartland with unabating interest. The christain people have been greatly encoured and helped, and quite a number have been reclaimed, and converted. A well attended prayer meeting is held daily from two to three o'clock, and general praise preaching and testimony meeting every evening from 7.15 to 9.30. Rev'ds. G. Ayers, Methodist, A. J. Prosser, Free Baptist, and S. A. Baker, Reformed Baptist, preaching alternately. Rev. J Perry attends and assists in the services quite frequently.

About 25 persons have been forward for prayer thus far, during the union meetings at Hartland, and most of them have claimed to be converted, or restored. A large number of the christian people have been greatly helped.

We expect Rev E. A. Allaby to return from the lumber camps on the Tobique River next week, and he will miles away, where live ten persons who house. We received private letters from Brother and Sister Saunders(our missionaries) in answer to inquiries we made as to building materials, and location of mission station etc. They have not as yet procured a suitable building location, but are making every effort to locate in a central and healthy, and otherwise desirable place. They are brave, cheerful and aggressive. Let us also be courageous, cheerful, and generous in our gifts to support them.

It is reported that Brother and Sister Sanders, father and mother of Dr. Sanders, our missionary, are going to South Africa in April, and will locate near the mission station. Another son Dr. Judson Sanders and his wife, have offered themselves to our missionary board as missionaries for the same field. As I had the day before finished two dresses for the other two girls, I thought she would also like to have hers to put on in the morning before meeting. It did not take me long to cut it out in the pattern of mother hubbard and I was only one hour and fifteen minutes making it complete. She was much surprised and greatly pleased to find it ready for her when she came the next morning. This girl has quite a story. From her first appearance in our meetings she seemed to literaly drink in every word and expressed her desire to follow Jesus, soon after. Her elder sister was greatly opposed and, as she stopping with this sister she was sup posed to obey her. But she wanted to believe so left her sister's kraal and re-Rev. H. C. NORTH HEAD, N. B. Jan. 28th,

Dear Highway:—The present time finds us engaged in special work here, having begun this week. The services to pray for us. We enjoyed very much our stay at Calais during the quarterly whose kindness we shall never forget. The meetings are good from beginning to end. The devil has tried his best in different ways to destroy the church at that place—but we were glad to find some that were standing true, and determined to go through on the line of Holiness. Bro. McMillan who works hard during the day, finds time and strength to help them every Sunday evening. We thought as we listened to our brother preach that he should be out in the work, and we trust that the time will soon come when head of another, of two girls who were he may be. Personally we thank God for his blessing to us. We praise him for salvation from sin.

Yours in work, H. C. ARCHER.

BEALS, Me., Jan. 25, 1904. Dear Highway-We thought a few notes from us might be of interest at this time. We have been enduring the many severe recent storms of snow which have interfered to quite an extent with our regular services. Roads Quite a number of people came to our have been blocked in all directions, and business generally has received a stagnation. attack of lagrippe which nearly put us under the weather. And then we have been endu ring a lame ankle for the past month, which impedes our locomotion considerably. There has been much sickness also among our people timetime we had the opportunity of talk- and some, to all appearances, are nearing the border land where they will have to say good bye to earthly friends. And so the providences of God are moving strangely to us and what the future holds for us we cannot tell. But, bless God, it is a beautiful thing to be ready for any change that may come.

We are very glad to hear of the encouragng reports from other places, particularly from Nova Scotia. We trust that work at Amherst and Westchester may be leaders who will wisely care for the flock. Irresponsible and self constituted evangelists and all presumptive leaders who profit by two women with her and these have aging time in the year on this Millville the difficulties which sometimes develop in holiness work, should be received with a wide margin, if received at all. As Reformed Baptists we should remember that it is not every one who professes sanctification that has the real article, the essential of which is perfect love that fills the heart and controls the tongue. We fear that the holiness movement, in a number of places, has often suf fered a serious check in its progress by allowing unwise teachers to assume control of new churches. We trust that Bro. Grass may be given great wisdom in the bring of these dear people at Amherst out into a large place of full salvation experience. May God hope he may be aided soon by some of our older brethren, and that their labors may formed Baptist Holiness Church.

We have been cheered and blessed recently by a short visit from Mr. John Good and wife, enroute from Boston to Moncton.

We still praise God for full Salvation, and in all the trying experiences of life we find ing a monument over the grave of our God faithful to all His promises. Bless His name forever.

Besides these interesting and excellent addresses, there were recitations and music furnished by the Sunday school scholars, which was greatly appreciated. The solos, duets, trios, quartette and choruses were well rendered, especially the quartette, "Nearer My God to Thee," sung by Miss Alma Hartley, Mrs. W. B. Mrs. Hale's Sunday school class of 14 young ladies, presented her with a teacher's Bible at the close of the Sunday school last Sunday, as a slight indication of the esteem with which she was held both as a Christian friend and teacher.

The Grafton Literary Society, and the W. C. T. U. presented Sister Hale with appreciative addresses.

All the readers of the HIGHWAY will regret that Sister Hale, and in fact that the family are to move away, as it will take them away from the church, Sunday School, Missionary and Camp Meetings.
