GOOD WORDS FOR THE HIGHWAY.

A brother writes:-I am very much pleased with your management of THE HIGHWAY. It is without exception; the best, and most scriptural paper published. The brother who wrote the above is not, what is generally called an enthusiast, nor given to making rash statements, such a statement made by some persons. We would pass by, but coming from whom it does, we stop and consider the words, "best, and most scriptural." It teaches the whole Gospel.

MUST PRACTICE WHAT HE PREACHED.

In a temperance sermon a preacher spoke against excessive tea drinking; the next morning his wife passed him a cup of hot water and milk, saying no more tea my boy; you must practice what you preach. She continues to stand by her decision, but there is a strong contrast in color of the contents of the cups on the opposite sides of the table. We know this is true we are personally acquainted with the preacher. Ed.

The reports brought in were for the most part encouraging, the pastors were well spoken of as faithful and preaching the word without cutting off any corners to suit any particular persons. A very encouraging letter was read from the newly organized church at Fort Fairfield, Maine, which reported a membership of sixty-eight, also the presence of the spirit of the Master in the hearts of pastor and people. They have organized a Sabbath school and by the report we would judge it was well organized with a good staff of officers and teachers.

On motion of the Quarterly Meeting, the above church was admitted into full fellowship, as one of the churches of
