PRAYING BAND.

The Hartland Praying Band completed their organization and elected officers on the 15th instant as follows: F. M. Boyd, president; Harry Gardener, vice-president; A. J. Ward, secretary; Aaron Craig, treasurer; Handy Nevers, organist; Bert Cox, assistant organist. The other members are: James Rogers, Wm. Tilley, Frank Clark, Ziba Orser, Charles H. Perkins and Charles Carr. The brethren took the 10.30 service at Lower Brighton on Sunday the 18th instant and held a cottage meeting at Upper Brighton on the 20th and held a meeting Sunday morning, 25th; at Waterville.

DEATH OF A MISSIONARY.

A cablegram on March 6th brought the sad intelligence of the death in Korea of Rev. Robert Sharpe. Mrs. Sharpe (nee Miss Alice Hammond) was a member of our church at Port Maitland, N. S. THE HIGHWAY extends sincere sympathy to Sister Sharpe in her sad affliction, which is particularly so, being in a far off land.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS.

Sister Ethel Estey gave an excellent address on Korea before a large and appreciative audience at Hartland on the evening of the 19th instant. Sister Estey is to go to New Jersey in April to meet a large number of engagements to speak on missions in Korea.

Many are wishing for THE HIGHWAY to be published weekly.

Have you renewed your subscription for THE HIGHWAY?

Do the pastors mention THE HIGHWAY to their congregations as frequently as they should?

Do the pastors who receive extra copies of THE HIGHWAY distribute them? If not, please notify us, as we frequently run short of extra copies.

HOLINESS IS AT THE FRONT.

The people are hungry for the fulness of the blessing.

The best opportunities that we as a people ever had are now before us.

Ministers and Churches.

Dr. Sanders baptized one convert on February 11th, and assisted the other missionaries of our little band organized the first Reformed Baptist church in Africa, with charter members. He also administered the ordinance of the Lord's supper for the first time to the new converts from heathendom.

Sister Keirstead writes, that so far the South African climate agrees with her and Brother Keirstead, even the hottest weather.

The special meetings at Hartland closed on the 11th instant, having been continued nine weeks. Fully hundred people claimed to be greatly blessed during the services.

The interest in the Fort Fairfield church is good. The meetings are largely attended and are constant seasons of blessing. Fort Fairfield was once headquarters for infidelity, but it is quite a thing of the past.

Rev. H. H. Cosman was called away to Rhode Island on Saturday by the illness of his daughter-in-law Mrs. Lawson Cosman. — Yarnon Light.

We are glad to note the grand victory at Marysville. Brother Traflet baptized seventeen on the 25th instant. Brother and Sister Pierce remain until April 1st.

Licentiate W. J. Hamilton has tendered his resignation as pastor of Meductic circuit. Brother Hamilton has proved himself a good pastor and we hope he will decide to remain another year.

All enjoy reading the notes regarding the ministers and churches. We not send us a few notes occasionally.

Every one of our ministers should help make THE HIGHWAY a good paper by short crisp articles on subject of salvation.

Beloved "Quit you like men." us be child like, but not childish whether we are young or old middle aged, study to know what is to be a living sacrifice.

"WE NEVER KNOW."

The Rev. Mark Guy Pearse said that many years ago he sat with the late Rev. Charles Spurgeon on the platform at Spurgeon's Tabernacle and in an interval during the meeting he whispered to Mr. Spurgeon: "When I was a young fellow in London used to sit right over there, and he you preach, and you will never know how much good you did me." I can not forget, says Mr. Pearse, the bright light that came into his face as he turned to me, and said: "You did 'Yes," replied Pearse, "and I am glad to have the chance of telling you of it. You used to wind me up like an eight-day clock; I was bound to go right for a week after hearing you." He put out his hand and took that of Mr. Pearse and the tears brimmed to his eyes as he said: "God bless you! I never knew that." Northwestern Christian Advocate.

WHAT PROHIBITION DOES.

Geauga county, Ohio, has no saloons, and the following is the result. At the recent session of the grand jury of that county there was not a criminal case reported, and the county jail was without a prisoner. Or would be perfectly safe in offering reward of $100 or $1000 for a similar record in any county in the United States that supports saloons.

There is always a kind of man who makes easy jests at the small beginnings of great enterprises. Sidney Smith laughed at "consecrated colblers" going out to convert the world with a few pounds laid on a green covered table in a small village in Northamptonshire. But most great things begin small.—Alexander MacLaren.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

YOUTH'S CONSECRATION HYMN.

Just as I am, Thine own to be,
Friend of the young, who lovest me,
To make a covenant with Thee,
O Savior Christ, I come.

In the glad morning of my day,
My life to give, my vows to pay,
With no reserve, and no delay—
With all my heart I come.

I would live ever in the light,
I would work ever for the right,
I would serve Thee with all my might—
Gladly to Thee I come.

Just as I am, young, strong and free—
To be the best that I can be,
For truth and righteousness and Thee,
For my whole life—I come.

For Thy best truth to win renown,
And then receive the victor's crown,
And at Thy feet to lay it down,
O Lord of all—I come.

—Selected.

Dear Highway,—As I saw two letters written by little girls, I thought I would write one too. I am a little girl ten years old. I have two sisters one thirteen and the other seven years old, and they both belong to Christ. I am saved and love Jesus and I mean to follow him. He is a precious friend to me, we could not do without him, he died on the cross for us. I suppose you will want my name soon, it is Ada Julia Hamilton my father is a minister and he has written to the HIGHWAY. I go to school and am in the third book, and I think my teacher lovely. We have sixteen pupils in school, my sisters are in the fourth book and the first primer and they like their teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Kierstead wished us to write to them and I won't forget, he is a great friend of ours and we miss them very much. This is a long letter as I require one sheet of writing paper on both sides but I will write longer the next time if you give me permission. I will stop now, from your friend in Christ.

STELLA'S ACCOUNT

Stella Vinton had been down town all alone for the first time in her life to make some purchases for her mother. She had walked down, and was riding home; Mrs. Vinton had told her that she might have five cents for herself if there was any change left; but she had been obliged to spend every cent, and was naturally just a little disappointed.

She sat in the car with her fare in her hand, waiting for the conductor to come for it. He came along presently, and she held it out toward him, but he did not see it, and went on to the front of the car. Then he stepped off the front platform, and, waiting a moment, jumped on the rear again.

"He has forgotten me. He is not coming for my fare. I shall have to give it to him when I get out," she thought.

No, I wouldn't; it is his place to come for it," the tempter suggested.

That would be cheating. You have had your ride, and ought to pay for it," whispered conscience.

Of course; but it is not my place to make the conductor take it," she kept on saying to herself, to justify her in keeping the coin that she very well knew belonged to the railroad company.

"It is everybody's business to be honest!"

"Ma promised me five cents, too."

"But she would not like you to get it in this way."

"She need never know. I would not tell her."

"But you would know, and Jesus would know, and you profess to be a Christian!"

"So I do; and so I will be. I won't cheat."

Just then the conductor called out Baker street, and Stella arose to leave the car. As she did so she put the five cents into the conductor's hand.

"Thank you," he said, smiling.

Stella went home and told her mother of her temptatoin. Mrs. Vinton opened her purse, and taking out twenty-five cents put it into Stella's hand.

"This is for my honest little girl," she said, kissing her. So Stella had double reason to be glad she had gained the victory.—Round Table.

LITTLE JAPS.

Here is a thing which every visitor to Japan at once notices—their love for children.

An American woman who became acquainted with a Japanese mother noticed that she allowed her little children to ramble through the streets at will, and one day spoke of it.

"Why," said the Japanese lady, "what harm can come of it? Our children never quarrel, and no grown-person would harm a child."

"But," said the American lady, "the child might get lost."

"That would make no trouble," was the smiling reply. And then she showed how in little children's apparel there were inserted cards containing their names and addresses, and explaining that should they stray, any person finding them would first give them a good meal and then bring them home.—Christian Guardian.

BY A. F. TANNER.

2nd Cor, 5th ch.

Thou was in thy Son Oh God
When to this world He came,
Reconciling to thyself,
A people for His name.

Thou didst lay on Him our sins,
He bore them on the tree,
And paid the debt due to us,
In pain and agony.

Through His precious blood we now
Are reconciled to thee,
From the curse of sin and death,
Thy grace hath made us free.

Created new in Christ our Lord,
Old things have passed away,
And by thy spirit we shall live
The new life day by day.

For us thou didst make Him to be,
Sin, who knew no sin;
He is our righteousness oh God,
And we are one with thee.

The Lord helps me to live up to my shout.

If we do not live up to our shouts,
we had better not shout.—L. G. Kimball.
