CORRESPONDENCE.

PAULPIETERSBURG, Natal, S A, A 1910.

Dear HIGHWAY,-This morning word came from the home of Samuel that an other child of Elida's had died, after a short sickness. She lost a boy about two months ago, so her heart was indeed sad Please remember to pray for this mother in her bereavement.

Early this morning Mr Kierstead start ed for our field across the Pongola again. evening. Tomorrow he will go across o Samuel's field teaching and preaching. H will be gone about a week, D V.

Mr Clowner will meet him over there to assist in teaching. His wife remains with me to help with sewing, etc, while study ing the language. They hope to secure a field of their own in the near future They are dear children of God whose whole hearts are in the work They unite preaches Holiness need not lack for food with us daily in prayer for you all at and raiment. The Lord has it in his Riverside for a grand time of victory.

Tuesday I went with Mr Kierstead to one of our outposts, about six miles from here, to class. Quite a number gathered as they heard the Inkosikise had arrived so we had a good time. After teaching some eight or ten women and children to there. Our church there has a good parsonage. The sea there abounds in fish while the island bears several kinds of natural fruit which greatly reduces the living so that in fact one can live almost entirely on what nature supplies directly. After the quartely meeting 1 went in a boat with Bro Cosn an several miles down along the island to a camp there to pick berries and catch fish. It was cer. tainly very delightful to me coming from He hopes to reach Solomon's home this far inland to be able to catch fish in any quantity desired from the teeming waters of the sea, and to dig the monster clams which bury themselves deep in the sands as the tide ebbs. I procured free of charge a quantity of these free products of nature, and brought home with me; as such things are not free here. I am much impressed with the fact that a minister who power to supply the need of his true ser. vants.

Dear HIGHWAY .--- I wish to write a few song the saints sang around the altar weys. The matter of livelihood is not a fire or fanaticism s seen. Chly sane and very serious question to a pastor residing scriptural preaching is allowed.

The harmony was beautiful. Methodist, Baptists, Presbyterians and many other denominations were all united in one. We never saw a more inteliigent, cultured, and at the same time enthusiastic lot of Holiness people.

The last Sunday was a great day. It began with a love feast lasting two hours. An offering of more than $1000.00 was then taken, with holy hilarity, to defray the expenses of the meeting. Three men gave $100 00 apiece. The saints shouted, tions and do what they can? sang and gave. A Methodist preacher who had come with his wife to the meet. ing, in his fine automobile, was at first disgusted. But conviction took hold of him. His wife was sweetly sanctified and at the last meeting he came and threw himself on the altar and cried out to God. He went home to preach holiness.

There was little or nothing said on the dress and jewelry question but some who professed holiness got light aud took off diamond rings and other adornments. At the closing service the altar was twice filled, and those who had resisted came in at the last hour. When the meeting was dismissed the crowd was loath to go but listened to the glorious

Sept 22nd 1910 Dear Friends:-Although not laboring among you at present I thought that perhaps some of the friends would like to know what we are doing. We have been very busy since Alliance in repairing the Hodgdon Church inside and out and were able to rededicate it free of debt. We have had some victory this month as I have had the privilege of baptising four and taking them with the church. The interest seems to be increasing as several have requested prayers in our services of late. I held services of late in a school house at the town limit and two have professed confession there and one re claimed from backsliding. The friends took us by surprise last evening when a large number met at the Parsonage and after spending the evening very pleasantly they bid us good night leaving us some $25.00 in goods and Cash as a gift given above the regular salary.
