On Thursday an Extra Gazette was issued, containing the dispatch conveying the official communication of the happy event; and yesterday a Royal Salute was fired in office the princess Royal of the Princess Royal o honor of the birth of the Princess Royal of England. If such is not the fact we have been greatly misinformed; but as we have long since come to the determination, not to notice complaints of that nature, if the parties who think themselves aggrieved have not spirit sufficient to forward communications for insertion in our columns; we shall continue to pursue this course with reference to the village of Bathurst, unless, which we cannot understand is the case, our enemies, and they can only be such we hope

The Chronicle people, having exhausted with interest. their means of direct attacks against the head of the Executive, have fallen foul of the Provincial Geologist, because he happens to have been selected by His Excellency to fill that office, and does not belong to the faction, who seem to think they have an exclusive right to all offices of emolument or usefulness in the colony; whether its members possess capacity to fill them or not.

They have consequently been waging a scurrilous warfare against Dr. Gesner, in consequence of his having in his possession some bones of an extraordinary character; which he believes, and we think correctly, have been found in this country. Had Dr GESNER said he discovered them himself, and had he attempted to palm off an imposition upon the public, there might have been some cause for this hue and cry which only goes to prove the ignorance and limited knowledge of the subject, which these people possess. Do they mean to deny that this Province in common with other parts of the world, has undergone great convulsions and changes? Do they mean to deny that the hones of an elephant,-the inhabitant of a warm climate, with even its flesh in a high state of preservation, have been found enveloped in ice in the frozen regions of Siberia? Or 10 come nearer home.—Do they know that the thigh bone of some strange animal, supposed to have been an elephant, of enormous size, was not long since found in Cape Bristie, was not long since found in Cape Bristie.

Let any one who is sceptical on this point, visit Dr. Gesner's collection, which he is always happy to open to the inspection of any individual, who is so disposed; and they will see there more extraordinary evidences of the catastrophes of former ages, than any which is included in the discovery of the remains of some monster, which probably roamed thro' this land.

What did the faction ever do for science, literature or the arts in this Province: what did they ever do for the moral and intellectual improvement of the country? that they should attack a man who will not come here to have his abilities tested: and who could not have now proposed is peculiar to Cauada. R. JACKSON begs leave to tender his sincere acknowledgements to the respectable travelling community in this Province and elsewhere, and more particularly to the Gentle-men of Fredericton and its immediate vicinity, for the kind and liberal support they have af-forded him during the time he has conducted his present Establishment in this place.

Mr. J. would not wish to make a parade about the principles upon which his Hotel is founded; but it is well known that he by refusing accommodation to any person that may present him-self, unless he hears the impress of respectabilty, deprives himself of a great amount of profit. The grand governing principle of "JACKSON'S HOTEL" is "the accommodation of respectable persons," and the Proprietor flatters himself that this is fully carried out in the detail.

As it is Mr. J.'s contemplation to close his BARTLETT, whose labours have already to commence another here, he hopes to receive the patronage of a Community so well acquainted as this is with him; but should he still contains the patronage of the Public in his present.
